—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

BE GLAD that you are not in the Japanese or Chinese army fighting in Northern Manchuria, where Japan has just captured Tsitsihar, the Manchurian capital.

War is bad enough at best, but war with a temperature of 15 degrees below zero is difficult to imagine. The Japanese and Chinese have been fighting within the zone of Russian influence and that may start more news of an unpleasant kind, unless Russia is very wise.

WHEN THE League of Nations Council met privately yesterday, Japanese and Chinese delegates were absent. China attached great hopes to action by the league, but realizes now that the only league action will be conversation.

And, more discouraging, the Japanese appear to have demonstrated to the Chinese Gen. Mah that Japanese supremacy in Asia is real.

You will be pleased to learn from the Japanese Gen. Honjo, that the advance in which he has taken the Manchurian capital was made purely "from the standpoint of self-protection."

The President must begin to feel about conversations as the Lady of Shalott felt about shadows. She was getting tired of them.

Where can men begin when they take up "world problems?" Do they begin with Italy's fear of France, or French suspicions of Italy? Do they go to the East, and begin worrying about Japan, China, Russia?

Or might they, for a great and unusual change, discuss matters that interest the United States?

GRANDI EMPHASIZES especially the importance of reducing armaments and cutting down expense in keeping ready for war.

That should be done. But why do Europeans come to talk to us about it? Why do they not arrange those matters in Europe, where wars are planned and start?

Europe started the last war, and will start the next among white people. Why must we be dragged in?

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, arriving in Florida's sunshine, which is "his cure" every year, meets an Associated Press reporter cheerfully, and, asked how he feels, replies: "Read that," handing the reporter a poem beginning:

"We'll sing of the better things, my friend,
And we'll think of the better ways;
We'll trust tomorrow to heal our sorrow
As beauty has healed today's."

Mr. Rockefeller, well and strong at 94 years of age, plays a sure game of golf, never missing his ball, always making his short drives in a straight line, owes his health partly to Florida sunshine, partly to his own interior sunshine.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES JOSEPH TUNNEY announce the arrival of a son, their first child.

Mr. Tunney, as you know, was heavyweight champion of the world until he got about $2,000,000, "enough to guarantee economic security," as he called it, and retired from pugilism to attend to things more interesting and important.

Eugenists will watch with interest the career of the new Tunney. He ought to be a useful American citizen, having the greatest of all possessions, a very good and intelligent mother.

PROF. W. F. REID, British scientist who invented smokeless powder, among other things, is dead at 81. He died alone and hungry, having lived on bread and water for several months.

"When he is forsaken, withered and shaken,
What can an old man do but die?"

RABBIT RAISERS, thousands of them in the suburbs of Los Angeles, hundreds of thousands elsewhere, propose to make canned "chicken a la king" of rabbit meat, to increase income from rabbit fur.

The United States Food Administration sends a cold warning.—

ANY GOOD FRENCH cook will make chicken a la king out of rabbit meat with the greatest ease, and make it better than an average cook could make it of chicken.

A packing house for rabbits, properly managed, should be profitable and useful. The big General Foods and Standard Brands corporations might take an interest in that.

PROF. HENRY FAIRFIELD OSBORNE, head of the American Museum of Natural History, discovers a "definite plan" in evolution. He says that evolution is in itself a creative process, it is not made up of accidental "jumps" from one room of life to another.

That can be believed. When you see books in a library, small pamphlets, gigantic volumes, all sizes, shapes and kinds, you don't attribute the different forms to accident. You say:

SCHOOL PEEPERS' CHARGES GO TO JURY

RELIEF DRIVE SPURRED BY BIG GIFTS

Mellons Contribute $340,000 To Welfare; Westinghouse Air Brake Gives $60,000

A list of Welfare Fund donors appears on Page 21.

A gift today of $340,000 from the Mellons injected new enthusiasm into the Welfare Fund drive and redoubled efforts of workers to reach their quota of $5,981,184 by next Monday.

A. W. and R. B. Mellon contributed $300,000, while W. L. Mellon gave $40,000, according to announcement at the workers' luncheon in the William Penn Hotel.

The Westinghouse Airbrake Company gave $60,000, of which amount $10,000 was credited to its employes.

Today's total gifts amounted to $637,064.75, boosting the grand total to date to $3,047,972.21. The number of contributions today was 6,589, making a total to date of 29,057. This is more than $80,000 below last year's total at the end of the drive.

Joseph Dilworth, chairman of the joint campaign of the Welfare Fund and Allegheny County Emergency Association, previously had warned that Pittsburgh may be one of the few larger cities to fail in its emergency relief drive.

Attorney Harry I. Miller, of the Helping Hand and Surplus for the Needy Committee, asserted that the response of the well-to-do had been disappointing, except in a few instances.

WIFE SEES HOPE IN OWN STORY

Attorney I. Elmer Ecker, one of the counsel for Mrs. Laverna Culbertson, pretty Mt. Lebanon mother, held on a charge of manslaughter by a Coroner's jury yesterday in the shooting to death of her husband, today declared she would have been free today had she been allowed to testify in her own behalf, as he advised.

Ecker asserted that, in his opinion, the story told by Mrs. Culbertson to him in jail was so convincing as to the shooting having been accidental that the Coroner's jury would have absolved her.

She told him, Ecker said, that she didn't know the gun was loaded as she carried it from the automobile in the basement-garage

Rally Revives Family's Hopes For Armstrong

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, who was not expected to live through the night, looked up at his son, State Senator Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., from his bed today and declared:

"I'm going to walk out of here."

And there were other indications that the veteran political leader might beat the ravages of pneumonia and diabetes despite the pessimism of his physicians.

RALLIES SLIGHTLY

Dr. C. B. Schildecker and Dr. T. T. Sheppard visited the patient today, after which Dr. Schildecker made this statement:

"There is no change in Mr. Armstrong's condition this morning. He is still in a serious condition. He apparently rallied last night and improved somewhat. He is holding up better than you and I could. He is not in a coma condition."

The physicians reported Armstrong's temperature had dropped to 101, his pulse to 108 and his respiration to 40. They said the 63-year-old Commissioner was being restricted to a diet of orange juice, buttermilk and egg drinks.

CRISIS EXPECTED

The doctors refused to comment on the expected crisis, but Senator Armstrong had told friends it was expected this afternoon.

Shortly after noon Dr. Schildecker called in Dr. George L. Hoffman, specialist on diabetes, who announced, after examining Armstrong, that the patient was "a very, very sick man."

Meanwhile, interest in the veteran political leader's courageous fight grew. Telegrams poured into the Armstrong home at 919 Carson street with messages of hope. A foreigner who spoke broken English timidly approached the Armstrong home and left a potted plant for the Commissioner. The Rev. Father E. J. Moriarity, of St. John's Roman Catholic Church on the South Side, took the 519 pupils from St. John's School to the church, where they offered prayers for the recovery of Armstrong, an old friend of the priest's, although not of the same faith.

M'GOVERN CALLS

Visitors to the sick room were barred, but numerous persons prominent in political life visited the home. Armstrong's arch political foe, Commissioner Charles C. McGovern was there, among others.

Armstrong's daughter, Mrs. Frances Lemmon, said today that Senator James J. Davis telephones, long distance, daily to learn the condition of the man who helped elect him to the Senate. Also, there is a daily inquiry from W. L. Mellon's office.

The condition of the battle-scarred Republican has caused wide-spread concern among his neighbors and automobiles and street cars passing the Carson street home slowed to reduce noise to a minimum. Early today more than 100 automobile trucks which ordinarily are routed past the Armstrong home were rerouted over other South Side streets.

TOKIO NOTE WARNS RUSSIA

'Serious Consequences' Will Follow Intervention In Clash, Moscow Told

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service.

TOKIO, Nov. 19.—A warning against the sending of Soviet Russian troops into Northern Manchuria was dispatched to Moscow today by the Japanese government.

Ambassador Hirota at Moscow was instructed to inform Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, that the arrival of any Soviet forces in Manchuria would create a serious situation and would "likely result in serious consequences."

Following close upon the capture of Tsitsihar, which took Japanese troops into the zone of Russian influence in Northern Manchuria, the instructions to Ambassador Hirota were believed to have been occasioned by fears among Japanese government officials that Russia might take military action to protect the Chinese Eastern Railway.

RAILROAD NOT DAMAGED

The Japanese ambassador was told to inform Soviet officials, however, that the railroad had not been damaged by the heavy fighting which preceded the defeat of Mah Chan-Shan's Heilungkiang army, and that the Japanese military authorities were refraining from any activities which would interfere with Russian interests.

Foreign Minister Shidehara, in a formal note to the Soviet government, also asked that steps be taken to prevent the movement of hostile Chinese troops on the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The two Morgantown High School teachers who today await the jury verdict on the charges of misconduct between Miss Williams, 27, and Principal John Thomas West. Other indictments mean another trial on charges of his misconduct with Miss Garfield and a separate trial for each of the teachers. The jury now has the first case.

CONSPIRACY, DECLARES DEFENSE

Superintendent Called 'Character Assassin' by Attorney for Principal

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 19.—The case against Dr. John T. West, 50, principal of Morgantown High School, who is accused of misconduct with Esther Williams, 27-year-old teacher, went to the jury this afternoon.

Before they retired to deliberate the evidence, the jurymen listened to impassioned and acrimonious arguments from both state and defense attorneys.

Superintendent of Schools Charles E. McCorkle was branded a "character assassin," and Percy H. Smith, night janitor of Morgantown High School, "a man who crawled like a rat in a hole and stood on his head for an hour," as United States Senator Mansfield M. Neely opened his defense argument.

The evidence in the case, Neely said, has been "filthy and slimy," furnished by "spies and snoopers, the lowest, crawling, slimy employes."

McCorkle, Neely charged, is the perpetrator of a "foul conspiracy" to damage Dr. West's character and force him from the school where he has worked for 18 years.

"PEEPER" SCORED

It was Smith who testified on Tuesday that he had crawled beneath the flooring above West's office and, through a peephole in the ceiling, gazed upon an amorous—and negligently clad—meeting of the principal and teacher.

The trial is expected to reach the jury late today.

Scheme to Swindle Film Stars Revealed

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—A plot to swindle Lupe Velez and other screen stars by forgery of checks on their large bank accounts was on record today with the arrest of three men.

Fred L. Deliden, confessed forger, admitted he had plotted with Robert Kohler, 32, an actor, and Al S. Keller, financial adviser to several rich actors and actresses, to rob the stars, authorities said.

Yacht Overdue, Fear For New Yorkers

BLAST AVERTED BY POLICEMAN

A Negro policeman risked his life today as he grabbed a stick of sputtering dynamite in the doorway of Russell Stauch's barber shop, at 702 Fifth avenue, in the heart of McKeesport's business district.

Quickly he ripped out the fuse and tossed it away.

Police were investigating. It was said that Stauch had made enemies recently when he, along with some other barbers, reduced prices.

TAKES PINCHOT RAP TO HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Louis McGrew, who described himself as "a Pittsburgh labor leader," called on President Hoover and other officials of the government today in an effort to prefer charges against Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, for what McGrew considers misuse of federal-state road funds.

His complaint against Pinchot was first aired in McGrew's publication, The Labor World, which, he says, is backed "by the biggest businesses in the country."

He alleges the Governor has been forcing contractors to turn back part of their money into what he calls "slush funds."

Pershing Has Cold, Friends Not Alarmed

Kelly Parole O. K.'d By Pardon Board

Parole of Gilbert Kelly, convicted slayer of James F. Neal, Boggs & Buhl messenger, during a holdup 10 years ago, was approved by the State Pardon Board in Harrisburg yesterday, according to word received here. The Pardon Board previously had commuted his sentence and the Prison Board had recommended the parole which was approved yesterday. At the Western Penitentiary it was said Kelly's parole would become effective within a short time.

Mickey Rodgers Floored By Law for Slugging

Mickey Rodgers, 15 years ago as tough a fighter as ever stepped into a prize ring, lost a preliminary bout with the law today.

Mickey, 42, appeared before Magistrate John J. Sweeney in Mt. Washington Police Court this morning, charged with slugging Mike Wanick, 28, of 130 South Eleventh street, and robbing him of $302. He was held for court on a charge of larceny.

Wanick testified that Rodgers stopped him on the street at Muriel and South Thirteenth streets last night and asked him for a quarter. Wanick said he gave him a dollar and then accompanied him to a South Side speakeasy. They had a couple of drinks, Wanick said, and when he left, Rodgers followed him and slugged and robbed him.

Police testified they had been called to Rodgers' home, 918 Climax street, early today by Mickey's 75-year-old mother, Mrs. Sarah Rodgers, who said her son was drunk and she wished him arrested "for safety."

The officers at that time were looking for Rodgers on the robbery charge.

Arrested, they say, he took them to a cupboard in the kitchen where he had hidden $200 of Wanick's money.

This morning, he told Magistrate Sweeney that a couple of girls must have got the rest of the money.

Carol Beaten by Nicholas In Fight Over Marriage

By GEORGE BALINT
International News Service.

BUDAPEST, Nov. 19.—A blackened left eye and a swollen cheek decorated the face of King Carol II, of Rumania today, souvenirs of a fist fight with his younger brother, Prince Nicholas, over the latter's bride, the former Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, pretty Rumanian divorcee.

The battle took place in King Carol's private apartments in the royal palace at Bucharest last Saturday. Receiving by far the worst of the encounter, King Carol was forced to abandon his plan to open Parliament in state on Monday.

Despite the fact the brothers had not been on speaking terms since Prince Nicholas ran away with Mme. Deletj, thereby incurring the enmity of the entire royal family, he went to the palance to demand that the King keep a promise he made 18 months ago that he would sanction the marriage.

King Carol flatly refused. Prince Nicholas then announced his intention of quitting Rumania with his bride.

This drew a sharp rejoinder from Carol, who reminded Nicholas of his "duties" toward the royal house. Nicholas then lashed out at the King, throwing the Monarch's own love affairs with Mme. Zizi Lambrino and Magda Lupescu in his face and demanding to know just what example Carol had set in the matter of marital propriety.

Carol threatened to place Nicholas and his bride under arrest and the clash followed.

U. S. LAWMAKERS TO RETURN ARMED WITH SALES TAX FACTS

PARTY TO LEAVE CANADA FOR WASHINGTON

Members Anxious to Prepare For Congress Fight; Fete In Quebec Climaxes Tour

By CHARLES J. McGUIRK
International News Service

QUEBEC, Nov. 19.—Premier La Taschereau of the province of Quebec, and members of the provincial assembly cordially received a delegation of 75 members of the United States Congress in the assembly chamber today.

Visiting Canada under auspices of William Randolph Hearst to study operations of the Dominion's sales tax law, the party of senators and representatives was given a round of official entertainments.

Proceedings of the provincial assembly were halted when the group of visiting legislators entered the chamber. Members of the assembly mingled with their fellow lawmakers from the United States.

Then the distinguished visitors were escorted to one of the galleries reserved for them. From there they saw how the provincial legislature makes laws.

LUNCHEON FOR PARTY

The City of Quebec in conjunction with the Board of Trade and Kiwanis Club gave a luncheon for the delegation at which Canadian officials and members of the American Congress delivered addresses.

Good will between Canada and the United States was the theme of the speeches. Close co-operation between the English-speaking nations to help lead the world back to normal times in business was urged.

H. G. Carroll, lieutenant-governor of the province of Quebec, received the party at Spencerwood, his official residence.

While the visiting legislators informally discussed with public officials the Quebec operations of the sales tax during the afternoon they divided into small groups and consulted bankers, manufacturers and other business men on this form of taxation.

RETURN TONIGHT

Aboard a special train of the Canadian National Railways, government-owned and operated railway, the party will leave at midnight for the United States. Most of the lawmakers will go to Washington, where the train, handled in the United States by the Pennsylvania Railroad, will arrive tomorrow night.

Having investigated operations of the sales tax at close range in Canada since Sunday, members of the party expressed a desire to return immediately to the capitol to prepare for the impending struggle in Congress over proposals to levy additional taxes to extinguish a Treasury deficit.

These members of Congress, including Senators King (Dem.), of Utah; Thomas, (Dem.), and Gore (Dem.) of Oklahoma, and Austin (Rep.), of Vermont, and Representatives Greenwood and Canfield (Dems.) of Indiana, Estep (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, and Steagall (Dem.), of Alabama, will be armed with plenty of facts for the forthcoming battle over taxation.

'PEEPING' CASE GIVEN JURY

"Are we going to let our schools be used as houses of immorality?"

ATTACKS WEST

Preceding Neely, Assistant County Prosecutor John D. Downes, who delivered the opening argument, charged:

"Dr. West is not fighting to protect his good name, as his attorneys would have you believe, but to protect his $333.33 a month, which he hopes to receive for the rest of the year on his contract."

Referring to the "snooping" practices of the janitors, Downes continued:

"We may not like the means, but we cannot discount the evidence. The peculiar construction of the room make it impossible to gather facts in any other way. A public man does not need to sit behind closed doors."

The trial of Dr. West, for 18 years connected with the school, on the misdemeanor charge carrying a maximum penalty of $25 fine, has been replete with charges and counter charges.

He was indicted by the September grand jury on two counts of misconduct, one naming Miss Williams and the other Blanche Garfield, another teacher.

Indictments also were returned against the teachers.

Dr. West's present trial was on the first count, the allegations concerning only Miss Williams and the principal.

Introduction by the defense yesterday of alibi testimony by Miss Williams came as a surprise, previous commonwealth witnesses having testified to her admission that she had been in the principal's office last May 26, the date of the alleged misconduct. The admission, according to Supt. McCorkle's testimony for the commonwealth, came at a private hearing before the Morgantown Board of Education last July 2.

In establishing her alibi, Miss Williams testified that at the time chief "peeper" janitor, Percy H. Smith, said he saw her and the principal together, she had been in the company of another teacher, John Phillips, who escorted her to dinner and a movie in Fairmont, about 30 miles from here.

Phillips corroborated Miss Williams' testimony.

HIDDEN WIRES TRAP 'PEEPER'

SHELDON, Ill., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—An electrical device set to catch "Peeping Toms" who had been bothering Clayton Jones, movie theater owner, and his 24-year-old wife, resulted in the shooting early today of Russell Hickey, a railroad brakeman. Hickey was expected to die.

Outside of the bedroom window of his house, near the railroad tracks, Jones had placed a board which covered an electric wire and which, when stepped upon, caused a flashlight to shine in the face of the person outside the window.

Early this morning the light flared up, Mrs. Jones screamed, Jones grabbed his rifle and ran outside, where he caught Hickey. He told the police that he started to march Hickey to the jail but fired when the brakeman broke loose.

NO PAY TIME IN COUNCIL 'SOON'

City Council will fall in line "soon" with Mayor Charles H. Kline's enforced payless two weeks' work for all city officials and employes, according to President John S. Herron. Herron said:

"These things are contagious. We will take the matter up soon and, no doubt, will take action ourselves similar to that ordered by the Mayor."

The Kline program, inaugurated at the suggestion of Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, is a move to prevent a deficit from being carried on the payroll records into the 1932 budget.

Councilman John M. Phillips said:

"I am heartily in favor of it."

Councilman Harry A. Little declared:

Councilman Robert Garland asserted:

Councilman W. Y. English said:

"We will worry about that when the time comes."

Councilmen Charles Anderson, Clifford B. Connelley, M. J. Muldowney and Robert Alderdice are reported as being in favor of a payless two weeks.

MRS. PINCHOT'S NAME LEFT ON TICKET

G. O. P. Women Nominate Governor's Wife Despite Letter of Resignation

HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Without a dissenting vote, the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women today elected the entire slate of officers and directors submitted by its nominating committee. Included among the directors was the name of Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, who yesterday resigned in a letter attacking the council as no longer representative of the independent element of the party.

In presenting the slate, Mrs. Hannah M. Durham, Allentown, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the resignation of Miss Sara Soffel, Pittsburgh, as a member of the directorate and the recommendation of the nomination of Mrs. Clarence A. Beck, Easton, to fill this vacancy.

ACTION QUESTIONED

Mrs. Charles Dorrance, Jersey Shore, asked why the Soffel vacancy was being filled while that of Mrs. Pinchot was being left open.

Mrs. Durham replied that Miss Soffel was not up for re-election and that she had resigned because of the press of her duties as a judge of the Allegheny County courts. Mrs. Beck was being advanced as a nominee to fill the unexpired term of Judge Soffel.

The precedent for the postponement of action in the case of Mrs. Pinchot, the committee chairman continued, had been established last year by Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence, Pittsburgh, then chairman of the nominating committee. In that instance a candidate who had accepted withdrew on the eve of the election and her name remained on the ballot. She was elected and the vacancy was left unfilled.

BACK TWO RELIEF PLANS

The convention adopted unanimously the report of the resolutions committee and indorsed both the Hoover and Pinchot unemployment relief plans.

One resolution commended President Hoover for his "constructive efforts toward settling the problems of unemployment in this country" and his "wise co-operation with foreign nations through personal contact with their outstanding political and financial leaders."

Another declared the council looks to the Governor "with confidence for a prompt solution of the unemployment situation through the speedy enactment of legislation and assured the state Senate and House of "our confidence in their ability as duly elected lawmakers of this state to legislate for the welfare and safety of its inhabitants."

DUCE APPROVES GRANDI TALKS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Foreign Minister Grandi was enabled to tell President Hoover today that Italy and the United States see eye to eye on the world topics they have reviewed.

The authority came directly from Premier Mussolini in Rome. Over the trans-Atlantic telephone, he relayed his conviction the Hoover-Stimson-Grandi talks would "go a long ways towards increasing the harmony of Italian-American relations."

Officials at the Kremlin were reticent to comment, but observers were unanimous in the belief that the Japanese disregard of Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff's warning against trespassing on the Russian-built Chinese Eastern Railway would force Moscow into a new declaration.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—The danger of a military collision between Japan and Soviet Russia in Manchuria occupied the serious attention of the American State Department today.

U. S. Backing Move to Have Japanese Withdraw

PARIS, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—United States Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, who has been conferring with leaders of the League of Nations' council regarding the Manchurian dispute, talked this morning with Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese member, and it was reported that the United States was ready to join a concerted international move to get Japan to withdraw her Manchurian troops.

After Dr. Sze had left, Ambassador Dawes said:

"Things are moving fast."

3 Men, Woman Held On Torture Charges

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Three men and a woman were arrested here today in connection with the kidnaping of Mario Barrone, Manhattan sailor. Barrone was tortured, gagged and abandoned in a starved condition in a Brooklyn shack.

James Rosetti, 28, John Orlando, 27, and James Merola, 32, Brooklyn, were charged with kidnaping. Merola's wife was held as a material witness.

W. Va. Woman Heads Confederacy Group

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Amanda Byrne, of Charleston, W. Va., was elected president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy today. She succeeds Mrs. L. M. Bashinsky, of Troy, Ala.

STOCKHOLDERS WILL OPPOSE ASSESSMENTS

Pepper Retained to Fight State's Attempt to Collect 100 Pct. for Closed Banks

A court battle to determine whether a stockholder is liable for double assesment on stock in a Pennsylvania trust company, a matter of vital interest to stockholders and depositors in closed Pittsburgh rust companies, is about to open in Philadelphia.

The immediate action will be between stockholders in the Susquehanna Title & Trust Company and Special Deputy Secretary of Banking Frank Glatfelter, acting for the State Banking Department.

First step was taken early this week, when Glatfelter notified stockholders that they must pay their assessment of $50 a share, the par value of their stock.

PROTECTED BY CHARTER

Stockholders in trust companies are not liable for assessment, as are stockholders in national banks, by the terms of their companies' charters. Decision in the Philadelphia case, which will be carried to the highest courts, will be regarded as a precedent in other closed trust company cases. The state will contend that the stockholders must pay 100 per cent to the receiver to balance shortage of assets under liabilities.

Former United States Senator George Wharton Pepper has already been retained by a group of attorneys for stockholders of trust companies in all parts of the state to fight any attempt to levy the double assessment.

Pittsburgh Trust Company stockholders will follow the action with intense interest. Depositors in closed institutions will be watching the battle on whose results will depend, in part, the proportion of their deposits which they will regain.

INTEREST IN DISPUTE

Controller James P. Kerr said today that when the receiver for the closed Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., sent a check to City Treasurer R. W. Thompson for $690,000 covering the city's deposit in that institution, the interest was not included. Asked if a claim would be made for it he said:

"The question of interest was discussed, but we were told at the bank that the government would be consulted. No interest was included in the check received by the City Treasurer."

This leaves the payment of interest on city deposits from the time city depositories closed, up to the time of settlement, in dispute.

The Pittsburgh American Bank and Trust Company has sent the city a check for $82,500. Other closed banks holding city deposits and the amount follow: Menongahela National Bank, $110,000; Highland National Bank, $77,500; Homewood Peoples Bank, $44,000; Merchants Savings and Trust Company, $20,000; Bloomfield Trust Company, $32,500, and Garfield Bank, $5,200.

LINDY RESUMES MIAMI FLIGHT

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from the Byrd Airport here at 10:15 a. m. to continue his trip to Miami, interrupted by an overnight stay here. He expected to reach the Florida city tonight.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The initial commercial flight of the American Clipper, giant amphibian plane, was postponed for the second time last night, on orders of Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who was to have piloted the plane, will arrive in Miami too late to complete 10 required takeoffs and landings before the scheduled time of departure of the American Clipper on its first pay flight.

Highway Patrolmen To Stop 'Petting'

State highway patrolmen are halting petting parties in Washington boulevard near the entrance to the new Allegheny River boulevard to the city playground about a half-mile distant.

Those who drive onto the dirt stretch along the boulevard are warned they are trespassing on property leased by the state for road beautification purposes.

Girl Slays Sweetheart In Quarrel Over 'Peke'

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Because he threatened to kill her pet Pekingese, police say, Milton Smith, 28, was shot to death today by his 21-year-old sweetheart, Hazel Blackeler.

Miss Blackeler was quoted by police as saying Smith accused her of loving "Snooks" more than she loved him. He started to leave her apartment, she said, taking the dog, which he threatened to kill.

With "Snooks" cuddled under her fur coat, Miss Blackeler, sitting at police headquarters, said:

"I'm sorry I shot him. But he had no business treating my dog that way."

Smith was shot after he reached the entrance of the apartment house where Miss Blackeler, known to police as "Bubbles," said they had lived together for 18 months.

She said the quarrel over the dog developed after she had taken a pint bottle of whisky away from Smith and broken it.

Inventors of Life-Saving Respirator Win Award

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Two young Americans who combined science and modern invention to save human life, have been rewarded for their efforts by an obscure Scottish chemist who died in 1816.

They are Profs. Philip Drinker and Louis Agassiz Shaw, co-inventors of the Drinker respirator, hailed as the nearest approach to the natural method of human breathing ever devised.

Last night the two young scientists, both of whom are connected with the School of Public Health at Harvard University, where presented with the John Scott award at Franklin Institute.

Scott, an almost unknown chemist of Edinburgh, Scotland, left a fund with the City of Philadelphia to provide a prize each year for the invention or discovery "most conductive to the comfort, welfare and happiness of mankind."

Tall and bashful, Drinker told the distinguished gathering which witnessed the presentation, of his early experiments with the respirator four years ago.

The first attempt, he said, was a crude coffin-like box into which he could entice no one and was forced to be the first "patient" himself. The pressure and suction for this contraption were supplied by two ordinary vacuum cleaners.

SECRET PROBE IN STARR FAITHFULL MYSTERY REVEALED

N. Y. OFFICIALS SHUN QUIZ ON BOSTON HUNT

Inquiry Into Possible Murder Of Girl Found on Beach In June Again Under Way

International News Service.

BOSTON, Nov. 19. — A secret investigation was under way here today in the case of Miss Starr Faithfull, drowned off Long Beach, L. I., last June under suspicious circumstances.

Martin W. Littleton, Jr., assistant district attorney of Nassau County, N. Y., J. B. Mayforth, of West Hyde Park, N. Y., and two Nassau County detectives were located here.

Littleton and his aides refused to affirm or deny that their secret mission was in connection with the Starr Faithfull case. However, Police Inspector Harold R. King, prominent figure in the original probe at Mineola, N. Y., was said to have admitted in a telephone conversation that Littleton and the others were in Boston in connection with a new Starr Faithfull investigation. He refused to say whether the case was to be officially re-opened or whether an arrest was expected.

DODGE QUESTIONS

The visitors made no attempt to communicate with local police and the latter said they were officially unaware of the visit.

Dodging questions by interviewers, Littleton said that he "might be here to see the Harvard-Yale game." He added, however, that as a matter of fact he was here "on important business." He said the mission had been "satisfactory."

Littleton, the son of a famous lawyer, played a prominent part in the first investigation of the strange death of Starr Faithfull. County Attorney Elvin R. Edwards, of Nassau County, N. Y., soon after Starr's body was discovered, came to Boston, announcing he intended to take at least one prominent Boston man into custody.

BELIEVED MURDERED

However, he returned to New York without making an arrest. Although the Starr Faithfull case long has been officially closed, Edwards never, according to word from New York, accepted the theory that Miss Faithfull ended her own life. Edwards said at the time there was evidence that Starr was under the influence of drugs when she was drowned, and was incapable of throwing herself overboard.

It was the generally accepted theory that Starr had either been thrown or jumped from a liner off Long Beach, and her body washed to shore. Some officials, however, believed that the young girl was murdered in New York City and her body thrown into the water to make it appear she committed suicide.

Kelly to Address D. A. R. Convention

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—With its president general, Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, of Cincinnati, presiding, the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution today opened a two-day eastern divisional conference here. Tonight, Congressman Clyde Kelly is scheduled to speak on the "Air Mail Service."

Weather Conditions.

There is a rather marked high pressure area centered over New England, highest barometer, 30.52 inches, at Northfield, Vt., and low pressure areas centered over the Texas panhandle, and British Columbia. This distribution of pressure is producing much cloudiness over the country, but the precipitation for the last 24 hours was limited to light rains over the Atlantic coast states and the Far Northwest and light snows over the Rocky Mountains.

Temperature changes were towards cooler over the Atlantic Coast states and towards warmer over the central and southern plains and northwestward to the lakes and in the Far Northwest. Freezing temperatures of below occurred this morning over the Rocky Mountain states, the northern plains and over Canada. Over Saskatchewan temperatures were below zero. The tendency for this section is towards warmer.

MUSCLE SHOALS LEASE URGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Private operation of Muscle Shoals, with manufacturing of fertilizer the primary consideration and sale of power a secondary item, was recommended to President Hoover and the Governors of Alabama and Tennessee today.

A special commission of nine, appointed by Mr. Hoover and the two Governors last July to further wrestle with the 13-year-old problem of how best to dispose of the big war-time power and nitrate plant in Alabama, unanimously reported operation by private lease was desirable as against federal operation.

In reaching this conclusion, the commission took the same stand which has been adopted by the last three Republican administrations, Presidents Coolidge and Hoover having actually vetoed legislation providing for government operation.

Robot Pilots Plane Successfully in Test

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—An air liner with a robot for a pilot was progressing steadily southward today, carrying newspapermen.

The flight officially placed the automatic pilot in service on the larger planes of Eastern Air Transport. The robot supplements the work of the human pilot, taking over guidance of the plane whenever the pilot wishes.

Woman Reformatory Superintendent Dies

SHERBORN, Mass., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Jessie D. Hodder, 64, one of America's leading authorities on correctional institutions, died today at the Women's Reformatory, where she had been superintendent for 20 years.

GLORIA 'FOUND' ON HONEYMOON

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Gloria Swanson and her new husband, Michael Farmer, Irish sportsman, who had been "missing" since their second marriage ceremony at Yuma, Ariz., recently, were found in the audience of a theater here last night.

Farmer told interviewers he and his bride were "just trying to honeymoon."

Regarding the two marriage ceremonies, the first of which took place in New York last August, Farmer said:

"Honestly, we didn't know we were doing anything wrong. We didn't know we had to wait until November when Gloria would get her final decree from the Marquis Henri de la Falaise de la Coudray. And besides, we were in love. And we settled everything with the second marriage ceremony at Yuma."

After stating they planned to sail for Europe eventually, the couple "disappeared" again.

Runaway Heiress Sailing for London

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Rosemary Pamela Gilding, British heiress who was found three days after she vanished from Wellesley, Mass., was to sail for London today.

With Professor and Mrs. Hamilton C. McDougall from whose home she disappeared so she could look for a job and earn enough money to pay her fare home, the 17-year-old London girl was in New York today. When discovered in Springfield, Mass., she said she ran away because she was homesick.

WALKER JOINS FIGHT TO SAVE MOONEY

'Jimmy' Weeps Over Appeal From Aged Mother; Will Plead With Gov. Rolfe

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The Mayor of New York will plead before the Governor of California next Wednesday for the freedom of Tom Mooney, 15 years a prisoner at San Quentin.

A telegram yesterday from "Mother Mooney" that brought tears to Mayor "Jimmy" Walker's eyes was the final plea that moved him to offer his services in behalf of the labor leader who once was sentenced to death and who now is serving a life sentence.

FAMOUS CONVICT

Mooney was convicted in connection with the Preparedness Day parade bombing in San Francisco, July 26, 1916. The continual efforts in Mooney's behalf in the intervening years have made him probably the best known convict in America.

The wire from Mrs. Mooney said:

"Dear Mayor Walker: I am 80 years old. Afraid am breaking down at last. They want to take me to a hospital tomorrow. In the name of God and His Blessed Mother won't you come out to help my boy? It is my last chance to put my arms around him before I meet my God. He has been a good son to me. If you do this for Tom, you will have my prayers as long as you live.

"MOTHER MOONEY."

Tears welled unashamed in Mayor Walker's eyes as he read the pathetic appeal, and he handed it to a secretary to finish, being unable himself to continue.

CHANGES STAND

Previously the Mayor had declined personal appeals by Mooney himself and by Mooney's counsel, Frank P. Walsh. In his telegram to the Mayor several days ago Mooney, from his cell in San Quentin Prison, said in part:

"Justice calls you across the continent. I have been in this cell for 15 years, the victim of the worst act of injustice that has ever been done within the State of California. Mayor Walker, if you will come out with my counsel and go before Gov. Rolph and plead for me personally with him, I believe I will be a free man before the end of this month."

Following Mayor Walker's declination of this appeal, Mooney made still another plea, supplemented by appeals from his attorney and from his sister, Anna Mooney.

It was the telegram from the 80-year-old mother, however, that caused him to change his decision.

Child's Story Links Mother in Killing

DENVER, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Mrs. Marjorie Claycomb was in police custody for questioning today because of a story told to authorities by her 12-year-old daughter, Doris.

Doris, according to police, said her mother had climbed through a window into her apartment, a bloody butcher knife in her hand, and declared she had killed Beryl Williams, reputed bootlegger, who was found dead Sunday in a hotel room.

Pennington's Speech Hailed by Anti-Drys

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Chairman Robert K. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, hailed Commander John D. Pennington's statements that state and municipal officers were responsible for laxity of law enforcement as an "ardent wet speech." Cassatt said:

"I have never heard the most ardent wet give as damming array of evidence against evils of prohibition as this high enforcement officer."

DEER IN MILL HALTS WORK

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Nov. 19.—A deer wandered into the National Tube Company plant here today, about the time the force was reporting for work. Before it was removed, it had twice dived into a pickling vat, kicked several of the workers, and stopped work for about 20 minutes.

About 200 men were in the plant when the deer entered. Some of the men tried to "shoo" it away. The deer became frightened and bounded around the plant to escape the workers. It leaped into a vat and after being hauled out broke away and dived into the vat a second time. When finally removed, it kicked and struggled until it was roped. Then it was led and shoved out of the plant and given its freedom in Ewing Park, little the worse for its inspection tour.

Working Time Cut By Erie Railroad

CLEVELAND, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—A reduction of two days a month in the working time of all employes of the Erie Railroad, effective November 16, for the purpose of reducing expenses, was announced here today at the general offices of the railroad.

A reduction on the basis of two days per month also has been made in the salaries of officers and others in a supervisory capacity, it was announced.

Three Men Killed By Poison Alcohol

THOMAS, W. Va., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Two men were found dead and a third died later in an abandoned office building in the Western Maryland railroad yards here today. Authorities attributed their deaths to acute alcoholism as three bottles which had contained liquor were found nearby.

JOHN W. DAVIS TO AID DREISER

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—"Legal barricades" were put up today by Theodore Dreiser for himself and those indicted with him in Kentucky for "criminal syndicalism" following their probe of the Harlan County mine strike situation.

John W. Davis, once Democratic candidate for President of the United States, will defend Dreiser if he is extradited, it was announced today. Dreiser said today:

"We are getting as many lawyers as we can who will handle the cases of those indicted with me who cannot afford to pay for legal services.

"Our attorneys say that we'll probably be extradited to Kentucky and be sentenced to serve from 20 to 40 years."

DURANT SCORES WOMEN'S EASE

Will Durant, who leaped to literary fame with his "The Story of Philosophy," came to town today convinced that it's about time for women to get back to work.

Dr. Durant pointed out that where once woman wanted to work with her husband and economize, now all she wants is one or two children and even more servants. He added:

MELLON SCORED ON ALIEN SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—American firms which put ships under foreign flags were criticized today by Representative Patman (Dem.), of Texas, who declared he had information from the Shipping Board that interests of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon had recently chartered four Norwegian vessels. He said:

"We cannot build a merchant marine if big firms will not fly the American flag on their vessels. Apparently they want to avoid the effect of the American shipping laws which protect seamen."

Patman said the Aluminum Line of the Aluminum Company of America, regarded as a "Mellon firm," operates other ships under the Norwegian flag in addition to the four recently chartered.

The Gulf Oil Company, also a Mellon concern, has 14 tankers under the Venezuelan flag and 35 under the American flag, he said.

BOYS QUIZZED IN STRANGLING

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Police endeavoring to solve the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Marie Burch Doyle, 17, of Bellaire, O., whose body was found here several days ago, today planned to question several young men, said to have been acquaintances of the girl.

Eighteen persons were questioned yesterday, but police said they had made little progress in their investigation. Dudley Doyle, 21, of Moundsville, husband of the slain girl, remained in jail here, still maintaining his innocence of any knowledge of the circumstances surrounding his estranged wife's death.

Mother's Will Bars Ellin Mackay Berlin

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Katherine Duer Blake, former wife of Clarence H. Mackay and later of Dr. Joseph A. Blake, left her $692,627 estate to four children by her second marriage and nothing to those of the first, a transfer tax appraisal filed here revealed.

Among the children born of her marriage with Mackay, who is now the husband of Anna Case, operatic soprano, are Mrs. Ellin Mackay Berlin, Mrs. Katherine O'Brien and John William Mackay.

CHILD TORTURE STIRS DEMAND FOR U. S. QUIZ

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Reorganization and a Congressional investigation of the District of Columbia Board of Public Welfare, as an aftermath of the alleged cruelties of Henry and Elsie Riley toward their daughter Edith, was in prospect today, following the demand of Representative Bowman (Rep.), of West Virginia, a member of the House District Committee.

Bowman declared he had been following the developments of the investigation since the arrest of the father and the stepmother, and looked with "utter contempt" upon the board of welfare for not continuing its investigation after alleged unwholesome conditions in the Riley home had been brought to light six years ago.

The child, allegedly a mental deficient, now is under observation at Gallinger Hospital, while the parents are under $2,500 bond each, following indictments charging cruelty. The 13-year-old girl, according to her brother, was kept a virtual prisoner in a dark closet for nearly eight years, and suffered cruel treatment at the hands of her stepmother.

Representative Bowman said:

"It would have been easy for the board to obtain an attachment for this child years ago, as it apparently was done with no difficulty just recently. The Juvenile Court probably would have been more anxious to issue an attachment had the matter been called to its attention by the board, than when it came from an outside source, as it did finally.

"What connection there is between the Riley home and the Board of Public Welfare I do not know, but I do not like the appearance of this, and I will demand the whole situation be aired before a congressional investigation committee."

During the recent hearings of the case, it was brought out complaints had been lodged against the parents of the girl with the Welfare Board, but records indicate no attempt was made to correct conditions as alleged in the Riley home.

9 STATES PLAN COAL CURB

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—President Hoover was notified today by William S. Bennet, of Chicago, that representatives from nine states would meet in Cincinnati tomorrow to formulate plans for regulating coal production through state action.

Bennet has talked previously with the President about such a plan, involving simultaneous action by the states concerned to limit production and prevent waste.

Representatives have been appointed by the Governors of Alabama, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky to attend the conference, Bennet added spokesmen from West Virginia and Tennessee also would be present.

La Follette Urges $5,000,000,000 Loan

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A bond issue of at least $5,000,000,000 to be used for public improvements is proposed by United States Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, as an unemployment relief measure to be sponsored in Congress by the Progressive bloc.

Senator La Follette spoke in the municipal auditorium under auspices of the Temple of Aaron congregation, last night, outlining the proposal.

Curtis Optimistic On Trend in West

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—An optimistic report on conditions in the West was made today by Vice President Curtis on his return from California.

Curtis left political leaders just as puzzled as before on his intentions for 1932, but his enthusiasm over his reception across the country led some friends to believe he would not be opposed to running again for Vice President.

WARDEN DENIES CHARGE

Warden John McNeil, of the County Jail, today denied Mrs. Culbertson's charge that the coffee served at the jail was terrible. He said:

"We serve an excellent brand of coffee. My understanding is that she didn't object to the coffee so much as having to drink from a tincup, saying she was used to china.

"As to not giving her milk, that is not done without a doctor's sanction as milk is not regarded as beneficial under certain conditions. Dr. Charles J. Ellis, jail physician, was to have examined her as to whether she should be given milk when she was taken to the inquest. Mrs. Culbertson was given the best care in the world, was permitted to lie down during the day and had a colored girl to wait on her."

The will of the husband, Albert L. Culbertson, naming his wife beneficiary of a $65,000 insurance trust fund and other property, was expected to be filed soon. At the office of the Register of Wills it was said that the manslaughter verdict would not prevent her from serving as joint executrix of the estate along with the Union Trust Company.

SHAKEN BY ORDEAL

Deputy coroners today asserted that they had insisted on hooking the inquest at an early date so as to work no hardship on Mrs. Culbertson. They said that all the relatives could have attended the funeral of Culbertson held yesterday in Mt. Vernon, O., while the inquest was in progress, had relatives seen fit to postpone the funeral. Albert Jr., 11, the elder son, who has been subpenaed but did not testify, was in and out of the coroner's office yesterday, hearing much of the testimony. His brother, Charles, 7, attended his father's funeral.

Mrs. Culbertson, 35, visibly shaken by yesterday's ordeal, was under care of a physician today.

She was released under $5,000 bond last night pending action of the grand jury.

Arriving at the home of her friend, Mrs. D. S. Ewalt, 219 Mabrick street, Mt. Lebanon, Mrs. Culbertson last night became hysterical. Dr. A. S. Haines was summoned and remained with Mrs. Culbertson several hours. Mrs. Culbertson's mother, Mrs. Emma Mild, of Dayton, O., was expected to arrive today.

SCREAMS AT FRIENDS

While weeping last night, Mrs. Culbertson several times screamed at her friends:

"Don't stare at me so. Don't you realize that Cubby's dead."

Her son, Albert, Jr., remained at her side all evening, the mother clinging to the boy and Albert attempting to comfort his mother. Her other son, Charles, 7, will arrive with Mrs. Mild.

Mrs. Culbertson bore up remarkably well during the inquest, in which witnesses told of drinking and of several arguments in the home during a drinking party which was climaxed by the shooting Sunday afternoon. When the verdict was read, she sat rigid, her son standing in front of her, holding her hands. On one side sat Mrs. Ewalt, her arm entwined with that of Mrs. Culbertson. On the other side sat Mrs. Hazel Walker, who with her husband, Ralph, was visiting the Culbertsons over the weekend.

DREADS JAIL

The last few moments of her custody seemed to be the cause of the break in Mrs. Culbertson's spirit.

Mrs. Ewalt, continually by her side, said:

"Just a moment longer and you will be free."

Then she was informed she would have to go back to jail but only to be officially committed on the manslaughter charge. She slumped between Attorneys Ecker and O. K. Eaton.

"I can't, just can't go back there."

She was taken to the jail for a few minutes and then released.

Mrs. Walker was on the stand and her ability to tell exactly what had occurred after the shooting did not satisfy Coroner McGregor.

She said in response to a half dozen queries as to what Mrs. Culbertson had said to her in explanation of the shooting:

"I guess maybe I am stupid, but I don't seem to understand what you mean."

Coroner McGregor said:

New French Stamp Interests Philatelists

PARIS. — (INS.) — The new French stamp will probably be of interest to philatelists from all over the world, but will be little in demand for its denomination is two francs and useful therefore only for packages or excess-weight letters. The Arc de Triomphe is used as the base of the design. The sun is setting and the orb is effectively placed just beneath the center of the arch, while its rays emblazon the sky around it.

Maj. Gen. Kobbe, 91, Hero in 2 Wars, Dies

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 19. — (AP.) — Maj. Gen. William A. Kobbe, 91, retired United States Army officer, died at his home yesterday following a lengthy illness.

He was a veteran of the Civil and Spanish Wars and the Philippine insurrection. He held two citations, one for gallantry at Manila and the other for bravery at Luzon. He was born in New York in 1840.

POISON MURDER RING REVEALED

PEKIN, Ill., Nov. 19. — (INS.) — Prompted by a 50-year-old woman's confession that she killed her husband and child by poison in order to collect insurance money, county authorities today began investigations of an alleged "murder ring."

Both the women, Mrs. Alice Mason and Dr. B. M. Barringer, who was implicated in her confession, were in the county jail here. Sheriff James J. Crosby and State's Attorney Louis Dunkelberg prepared to subject them to another grilling today.

The officials expressed some doubt as to the credibility of that part of Mrs. Mason's confession wherein she declared she had divided $2,000 in insurance proceeds with Dr. Barringer in return for the physician's signature on the death certificates of her husband, John, and her 12-year-old daughter, Mildred.

RAILWAYS URGE CREDIT PLAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — (INS.) — Creation of a railroad credit corporation as a substitute for the pooling plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission to obtain higher freight rates, was proposed to the commission today by the Association of Railway Executives.

The petition asked for certain modification of the commission's decision in the 15 per cent rate increase in order to make the law workable from a practical standpoint.

In its recent decision the commission granted certain increases in freight rates, estimated to aggregate between $100,000,000 and $125,000,000, providing the revenues derived therefrom are placed in a fund for the relief of railroads failing to earn their interest charges.

LABOR BACKS PINCHOT RELIEF

HARRISBURG, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The State Federation of Labor today is engaged in a state-wide effort to obtain enactment of Gov. Pinchot's $120,000,000 unemployment relief program now before the special session of the Legislature.

This action developed at a meeting of 45 delegates of the various units comprising the federation and marked an about-face for that body, which had previously opposed the Governor's 19-point program.

Saying that the necessity for relief is much greater than had been anticipated, the federation officials announced they are undertaking a state-wide movement to offset opposition to the Governor's program both within and without the Legislature.

The proposition of a state income tax espoused by the federation at the start of the special session will be pushed, but not vigorously, federation officials said.

ANTI-DRYS TELL FESS TO QUIT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Three anti-prohibitionists in the House called last night for Senator Fess to resign as chairman of the Republican National Committee because of his newly-expressed stand for the eighteenth amendment.

Representative Britten of Illinois led the attack upon the Ohioan in a formal statement demanding that he get out as their party leader or resign from the directorship of the Anti-Saloon League and refrain from being its spokesman.

Representatives La Guardia, New York, and Schafer, Wisconsin, picked up the war cry—aroused by the Fess reply to James W. Wadsworth of New York, that "I shall use my influence to prevent the party from committing a fatal blunder in asking for repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

Away from the furore another movement was getting into swing to have a new chairman installed at the December meeting of the Republican National Committee. This contemplates installation of Postmaster General Brown as chairman.

VOTE MACHINES HERE ASSAILED

HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—The Poole voting machine as now constructed, lends itself to fraud," Mrs. Ella Graubart of Pittsburgh attorney for Allegheny County petitioners, charged today at a re-examination of the machine in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Mrs. Graubart during the examination of the Poole machine told of difficulties encountered in Allegheny County at the primary election this fall when the machines were used for the first time. She told the examiners that 180 machines were jammed at the primary.

Mrs. Graubart said that during the election in Allegheny County it was necessary to have a repairman present at every voting precinct where the machines had been installed.

The chief objection raised by Mrs. Graubart was the four-position lever used on the Poole machine. She contended that it would be possible for dishonest election officials to determine how voters cast their ballots by checking on the position of the levers.

J. Nathan Green of Pittsburgh, the patent attorney member of the board, broke one of the party levers while operating the machine.

Two Pittsburghers Lose State Positions

HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—Two Pittsburghers fell under the political ax at the Governor's office today. Two others found jobs.

William E. Best, Public Service Commission examiner, received a salary boost from $3,000 to $3,360.

Helen M. Burke of East Liberty, a claim adjuster, and Norman A. Young, payroll auditor, were dismissed with many others, including James M. Black, mine inspector, of Ellsworth. Daniel Stacey, of Duquesne, was appointed an auditor at $1,800 and Gertrude R. Markle, a stenographer at $1,500.

Trial in Slaying Of Students Halted

ARDMORE, Okla., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The murder trial of two former deputy sheriffs for the killing of Manuel Garcia Gomez, one of two Mexican students slain here last June on a motor trip to Mexico from a college at Atchison, Kan., was delayed soon after it began today by exhaustion of a jury panel.

Snow Covers Denver, Slopes of Rockies

DENVER, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—A light blanket of snow covered Denver today, the first fall of the season in this city. The precipitation was general along the eastern slope of the Rockies.

Little interruption in traffic resulted, and the agricultural districts welcomed the storm for its much-needed moisture.

Illinois Warden Foils Prison Break

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 19.—(INS.)—A plot to effect the escape of a score of convicts from Stateville Penitentiary was frustrated today when Warden Henry C. Hill found a large hole sawed through the bottom of a loaded box car about to leave a siding in the prison yard.

REED INSISTS ON TAX RAISE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—In spite of economies, Senator Reed believes there must be a considerable increase in taxation to meet the government's deficit. The Pennsylvania Republican, who has already proposed a sales tax for increased revenue, said today:

"Taxes must be greatly increased, even though government expenses are being cut to the danger point."

His stand was expressed in a letter to a Pennsylvania state officer who appealed to Reed to have the government pay full cash value of adjusted service certificates of war veterans. Reed strongly opposed payment of the 50 per cent loan value of the certificates approved by the last Congress over President Hoover's veto. His letter was written to James H. Hay of Altoona, Pa., district manager of the state workmen's insurance fund.

BUILDING HEADS ASK TAX CUT

The Building Owners and Managers' Association has asked City Council to establish the city tax rate for 1932 at 20.5 mills on land and 10.25 mills on buildings, a decrease of five mills on land and 2.5 mills on building.

The letter is addressed to John S. Herron, president of City Council. It also asks that the decreases in city expenditures brought about by the reduction in taxes be carried over into next year for the consideration of the new Council, which may take plenty of time to discover the economies necessary.

A city ordinance provides that the tax millage must be set before January 1. The building owners have asked the present Council to make the actual cut in the millage and to have the new Council figure the method in which it is to be brought about. The letter was signed by A. H. Clarke, president of the Building Owners and Managers' Association.

Rabies Kills Third On U. S. Navy Ship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—The Navy Department today received word of the death of Edmund Joseph Virbel of Lancaster, Pa., a quartermaster third class on the U. S. S. John D. Edwards, at Canaco, Philippine Islands.

Virbel died from an attack of rabies which resulted from bites and scratches received from a small dog. Two other members of the ship's crew have succumbed.

Manufacturer Freed From Cloak Model

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The marriage of Mrs. Lillian Binswanger, former cloak model, and Arthur Binswanger, New York shirt manufacturer, was annulled in district court here today by Judge Arthur Cornforth.

Judge Cornforth held that Mrs. Binswanger was not legally divorced from Walter Kane Davis, actor, when she married Binswanger.

PLOT TO SHOOT MAYOR FOILED

DETROIT, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—What has been construed as an attempt on the life of young Frank Murphy, popular mayor of Detroit, was revealed by police for the first time here today.

Authorities declared that they had captured an armed man in the hallway of the Mayor's home on East Jefferson avenue. The man, Achmed Addullah, 42, is held a police prisoner in the psychopathic ward of receiving hospital.

Patrolmen guarding the Murphy home overpowered the man as he accosted the young mayor. Examination in police headquarters revealed a gun concealed in the sleeve of the man's overcoat.

Pitt Business Men Hear Jobless Talk

Dr. Ralph J. Watkins, director of the bureau of business research, University of Pittsburgh, addressed the Pitt Business Men's luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium today on "Problems of Unemployment." A six months' program has been arranged by Alpha Kappa Psi, professional and business men's fraternity, sponsors of the luncheons which are open to all business and university men.

Auto Driver Hurt In Triple Collision

Harry K. Bringman, of 815 St. James street, suffered a probable broken nose. His car collided with an automobile driven by H. A. Kelly, 1312 Elm street, Wilkinsburg. Kelly's in turn collided with that of H. B. Block, 1 Hollenden place.

GARFIELD PAID OHIO TRIBUTE

HIRAM, O., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Ohio broadcast to the nation today a memorial to one of the state's most distinguished sons.

It was the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of James Abram Garfield, twentieth President of the United States.

Speakers here and in Cleveland recalled the tragic days in 1881 through which the nation waited for word from the bedside of the President in Elberon, N. J., where he lay mortally wounded from an assassin's bullet.

It was the citizens of this region who elected Garfield to the State Senate and Congress, and who bid farewell to him as he joined the Union Army in the Civil War, from which he returned as a general.

BOMBED LIQUOR RESORTS RAIDED

Six alleged drinking places in the East Liberty district, two of which were bombed recently, were among the raids conducted by state constables and federal prohibition agents yesterday.

The Yacht Club, 6243 Broad street, recently bombed, was searched and the agents reported they seized a quantity of intoxicants. Joe Valley was arrested. The other place that had been bombed was at 6213 Broad street. A large quantity of beer and other beverages were seized.

Charge False Arrest In Damage Suits

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Charging false arrest, S. V. Thompson, of Pittsburgh, and J. M. Cunningham, of Indiana, Pa., have filed suits for $15,000 damages each against August Valentour, of McDonald. Valentour, in informations made before a justice of the peace, charged the men with forgery in connection with assignment of a mortgage. Later they were cleared of the charge.

$240,000 Gold Theft Foiled in Seward

SEWARD, Alaska, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Burglars were frightened away Tuesday night after attempting to force an entrance to the postoffice, in which $240.00 worth of gold was stored.

Postmaster Charles Sheldon armed himself and awaited the entrance of men he heard working on the door. In moving about, he said, he upset a chair and the burglars fled.

NEVIN, ATLANTA EDITOR, DIES

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Victim of a heart attack as he was seated at his desk composing an editorial, James Banks Nevin, for 19 years editor of the Atlanta Georgian and one of the nation's most prominent newspapermen, was dead today. He was 58.

The heart attack occurred in Mr. Nevin's office yesterday afternoon. Eight hours later the noted journalist died in St. Joseph's Hospital with his family at the bedside.

He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Mary Bryan of Rome, Ga.; two daughters, Miss Ida Nevin and Mrs. T. M. Bradshaw, of Atlanta; and three sons, Henry, James B. Jr., and M. A. Nevin, all of Atlanta.

HORNE'S . . . . . PRE-THANKSGIVING EVENTS!

ENTER! Our Own $50 to $65 Suits and Overcoats in the $33 Sale!

Having introduced this sale price for standard $50 to $65 clothing, through the liquidation of one of our largest sources, we feel the justice of meeting this price on our own overcoats and suits of the same kind.

So tomorrow our own stocks, from this source, go into the sale. Overnight, sizes and assortments again are complete, and the opportunity which arrested men's attention a week ago, and has crowded our clothing floor ever since with enthusiastic buyers, is again repeated.

This Sale makes its appeal to men who are accustomed to the best in clothing. The styles and qualities are those of our regular stocks, and now include OUR OWN REGULAR STOCKS. A man sacrifices nothing to the style, quality, fit, selection, or service in making a $17 to $32 saving on a winter suit or overcoat.

Pittsburgh Homestead McKeesport

MISSION CHIEF TO TAKE POST

Installation services for the Rev. Clarence E. Krumbholz, newly-elected superintendent of the Lutheran Inner Mission Society of Pittsburgh, will be held tomorrow night in the First Lutheran Church, Grant street.

Supt. Krumbholz

The Rev. Henry L. Bagger, president of the Pittsburgh Synod, will speak on "The End of the Commandment." The installation service will be in charge of the Rev. Lammert Redelfs of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, North Side. Special music will be presented by the choir of the First Lutheran Church, under the direction of G. Logan McElvany.

The Rev. Krumbholz succeeds the Rev. S. C. Michelfelder, who has become pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Toledo, O.

Braun President Of String Ensemble

C. J. Braun, Jr., has been elected president of the String Symphonic Ensemble of Pittsburgh, a new concert group of Pittsburgh musicians under the direction of Oscar Del Bianco. It was announced today. Mr. Braun for many years identified with Pittsburgh concert activities, was one of the founders and for nine years president of the Mendelssohn Choir. The third of a series of 10 concerts being sponsored by the new concert group will be given in Carnegie Music Hall next Wednesday night.

Dingy, Yellow Teeth are NOT Natural

You'll see proof in 3 days

—teeth 3 shades whiter!

NOW don't be fooled into believing that yellow, ugly looking teeth are your bad luck simply because daily brushing doesn't make them white and keep them sound.

Dingy, off color, unclean teeth are NOT natural! If you want proof start using this new scientific technique—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Overnight you'll agree you were wrong. And in 3 days your teeth will be much whiter—at least 3 shades whiter.

Double-Action, Double Results

There's nothing in the world that cleans teeth better than Kolynos. There's no preparation quite like it. It is unique. It contains two important ingredients. One—the finest cleansing agent known—literally foams over teeth and gums and into every crevice. It washes away debris, erases tartar and removes stain. At the same time the second ingredient strikes at the source of most tooth and gum troubles. It kills millions of germs that swarm into the mouth and cause discoloration, decay and gum diseases. (In tests Kolynos killed 190 million germs in 15 seconds, protected the mouth for 3 full hours.)

In this way Kolynos easily and quickly cleans teeth right down to the beautiful, natural white enamel without injury. It stimulates lazy gums and refreshes the entire mouth.

No! Dingy, yellow teeth are NOT natural. Prove it. Start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry brush, morning and night. In just 3 days you'll see that anyone can have clean, attractive teeth. Buy a tube of this highly concentrated dental cream today.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

RIVER HEARING DECEMBER 11

A public hearing will be held in the Council Chamber at Connellsville December 11, to consider the advisability of improving the Youghiogheny River from there to West Newton.

Oral statements will be heard, but for accuracy of record all important facts and arguments are requested in writing for consideration by the War Department, according to Maj. W. D. Styer, district engineer.

U. S. Plans Quiz Of Insull Company

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — (INS.) — Affairs of the Middle West Utilities Company, of Chicago, largest holding company of the so-called Insull group, will come under the searchlight of the Federal Trade Commission December 1 in its investigation of the nation's giant power companies. Inquiries into the operation and intercorporate organization of the company are contemplated.

'Robinson Crusoe' Seen as Aid to Business

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Billy B. Van, once famous minstrel, whose health forced him from the stage into business, advised the Association of National Advertisers yesterday to read "Robinson Crusoe" and find out how to better business.

Van recounted the story of Robinson Crusoe's misfortunes and said "he adapted himself to conditions; found a way to survive and also found Friday." He continued:

"There are lots of Fridays standing around waiting to help you if you will just look them up."

Scotsmen on Isle Appeal for Food

LERWICK, Shetland Islands, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The hardy Scotsmen who live on the Island of Foula, 20 miles west of here, have sent an appeal that food be sent to the island by Christmas, for its 110 inhabitants are facing starvation. Storms have prevented sending supplies to the island.

PARTIES MARK KOMIC CLUB MEETINGS

Fun Galore Scheduled for Chapters Saturday; Tampa And Kippy to Perform

Children of the city and suburbs are counting the days until Saturday, which brings more Warner Theater-Sun Telegraph Junior Komic Club meeting at the 13 theaters where chapters have been established.

These gatherings are regular parties, with souvenirs, prizes, stage attractions and special picture programs.

Members of the Cameraphone Chapter are looking forward to seeing Tampa, the magician. Saturday. Tampa is known all over the country for his sleight of hand and magic tricks. He can take rabbits out of boys' pockets and give them to the surprised youngsters.

KIPPY, THE CLOWN

Kippy, the Komic Club Clown, who made such a hit at the big show at the Stanley Sunday, will visit the meetings and the Harris (Downtown) and Kenyon theaters Saturday. Kippy ties himself up into knots on the stage and does all sorts of startling acrobatics.

Members of the Enright and Rowland chapters have a special treat in store for Saturday. Uncle Kay Dee, well known radio character, will appear in person. Uncle Kay Dee broadcasts a children's hour on KDKA every afternoon at 5 o'clock. He has promised to tell a lot of good stories and jokes. If you live in Wilkinsburg or East Liberty, go to the Rowland or Enright chapter meeting Saturday.

Any child is welcome at the meetings. If you want to become a member of the club, fill in the coupon on the comic page of this paper and mail it to the Warner Theaters-Sun-Telegraph, Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Have you what is commonly called that Tired Feeling ?

. . . how often you hear this

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living . . . pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count . . . the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . to are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

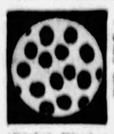
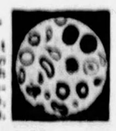
Helps you build New Red-Blood-Cells

"Mother, I do wish you were well and strong"

It is important to know that the red-blood-cells are the "ships" that sail in the blood stream and carry nourishment and oxygen to all parts of the body. Whenever the number is materially reduced, lowered vitality ensues and the system becomes more susceptible to the ravages of various diseases.



(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.



(Right) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.

Don't let them count you out!

WOOD STREET AT SIXTH AVENUE ATLANTIC 4600

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

Suspicion

THREE gentlemen of Broadway were Mr. Walters, Mr. Edgar and Mr. Smith—and they had all been friends for many years. Mr. Walters was a ticket speculator, Mr. Edgar was a playwright and Mr. Smith was a producer. They all knew every angle of Broadway, and they remained friends because they all understood each other.

That is to say, they understood each other's whims and fancies. Mr. Walters had his little idiosyncracies, and his pals laughed at them. Mr. Edgar complained continually of his lack of an appetite and was forever eating more than the other two put together. Mr. Smith had his own peculiarities. All in all, though, their little personal habits never made for conflict.

It goes without saying that the female sex was of primary importance in their lives. Mr. Edgar was the only married member of the trio. Mr. Walters and Mr. Smith having tried the marital gag and found it wanting some years before. They were now on the loose, as Mr. Coolidge might say, and I regret to tell you that, even though he was married, Mr. Edgar wasn't far behind.

I need not paint too vivid a picture of one of their discussions about women in general. Being of Broadway, I fear they were a trifle skeptical about the entire sex. They talked of their conquests, they talked of their habits. Every once in so often, Mr. Edgar would sigh heavily.

"Sometimes, boys," he would murmur, "I wish I could join you fellows on some of your escapades. But when I think of that sweet little woman at home, the thought of other girls leaves my mind. You understand?"

Came the day when Mr. Edgar looked at the calendar and then turned to his friends with an idea.

"Boy," he asserted, "what we need is a good stiff vacation. We haven't had one in a long, long time. Suppose we take a run up to my hunting lodge in the Catskill Mountains and stay as long as we like. We'll get away from Broadway and the depression for a while. It'll do us all good."

Mr. Smith looked dubious.

"It's okay with me," he said. "I'd love to get away for a month or so. But how about your wife? She'd be a little bit out of place while the three of us are roughing it up there."

Mr. Edgar waved a hand.

"I'll fix that," he said. "I'll tell Mary about it and she'll understand completely. She will be only too happy to stay home. I'll take my chauffeur along and he can act as cook. This will be strictly a man's party. How do you feel about it, Charlie?"

The question was addressed to Mr. Walters. He nodded.

"Good," cried Mr. Edgar.

And on the appointed day, with baggage and rifles and rods tossed in the car, the three gentlemen of Broadway were on their way to the hunting lodge in the Catskills.

Their routine at the lodge you know as well as I. They did little fishing and less hunting. If they ran around the lodge once or twice that was great exercise. They slept until 2 in the afternoon and drank plenty of rye. It was, in other words, a typical outdoor party in the Broadway manner. At night they sat before a roaring fire and talked of women.

"We're three lucky fellows," mused Mr. Edgar. "We've all had plenty of dames around in our day. But we've never had so much as one conflict. That's real friendship, boys, because we all know that the one thing that breaks up pals on our street is the damsel. We've been mighty fortunate."

They all agreed on that. As a matter of fact, they agreed on it over highballs for two hours. And then fell into their respective beds, beautifully plastered . . .

A month passed. Into the living room one morning walked Mr. Edgar, a bill in his hand and a most unhappy look upon his face. He stopped before his two pals and tossed a bombshell between them.

"Which one of you two supposed friends is the rat in my home?" he growled.

Mr. Walters and Mr. Smith sat suddenly erect.

"What's that?" cried Mr. Walters. "What did you say?"

Mr. Edgar clenched his fists.

"You heard what I said," he ranted. "One of you is a dirty double-crossing louse. One of you has been calling my wife on the telephone every day since we've been here. My own wife!"

Mr. Smith stood up.

"Frank," he said, "be sensible, will you? You're talking to your friends. What's happened?"

The outraged husband fairly shook with anger.

"You probably know better than I," he howled, "but I'll tell you how either you or Mr. Walters has been caught. Or maybe it's both of you. How do I know?

"My phone bill came in this morning. Didn't know they itemize each call up here, did you? Didn't know they put down each number? Well, they do. I've called my wife twice since I've been here. And here's a bill for 30 calls!

"Call yourselves my pals, do you? Well, the game is over. You can both get out—and right away, too. I don't care which one it was; one is as bad as the other. Get out and stay out."

"We've lost a pal," he murmured. "You shouldn't have done that."

Mr. Smith smiled back.

"Stop your kidding," he replied. "I always knew you were stuck on his wife" . . .

Back in the lodge, Mr. Edgar was the most miserable of men. He summoned his chauffeur-cook and gave him instructions.

"We're going back to New York this afternoon, Henry," he muttered. "Something terrible has happened. I'm going upstairs to pack. You get the car ready."

"Yes, sir," said the servant. "May I ask what has happened, sir?"

Mr. Edgar sighed.

"Henry," he said, "you're a married man with four children. You've been married for 20 years. If you found that your wife was being unfaithful to you, what would you do?"

The chauffeur stepped back in amazement.

"You don't mean to say, sir," he cried, "that Mrs. Edgar is"——

His employer nodded sadly. He walked slowly from the room and up the stairs. The servant bit nervously at his nails. He had worked so long for this employer. He needed his job. What would happen when Mr. Edgar confronted the madam? He made up his mind to take action. He rushed to the phone and called Mrs. Edgar in New York.

Sight Fails, Sea Lion Star Retires to Zoo

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A former vaudeville entertainer has gone into retirement at the Rochester zoo. He is Lad, a sea lion, whose sight was impaired after many seasons of balancing objects while walking a tight rope.

PAULSON'S Greatest Sale

Starts Thursday, November 19th

Never before in our 95 years on Wood Street have we announced a sale just prior to the Christmas holiday buying. But conditions are different this year and it is clearance time now in our store. The season has been backward, stocks must be sold—not only to make room for new goods but to provide cash with which to finance them. All of our own good up-to-date stocks will be offered, 90% of which were purchased at 1931 low prices. Nothing reserved. The big reductions make bargains of them all.

PAULSON BROS. CO., 515 Wood Street

She's Lost her Patience . . . and Hurts the ones she Loves!

"Don't speak to me," she cries. "I'm all upset and want to be alone." How often have you felt just this way yourself?

Irritable, Grouchy Wives!

"DON'T speak to me," she cries. "I'm all upset and want to be alone."

Why is it . . . as soon as a woman's nerves become excited she hurts the ones she loves.

She has no patience with anybody. Everything seems to make her unhappy . . . despondent.

No husband can understand the reason why! What has changed her into a silent, moody woman . . . always grumbling and flying into a rage over a trifle?

Those dreadful headaches and backaches . . . that bearing-down feeling and fits of dizziness . . . these things only a woman knows.

Yet your happiness is threatened. Your husband's patience may end. What are you going to do about it?

A simple, household remedy has helped literally thousands upon thousands of women during these particularly difficult times . . . young women . . . mothers before and after childbirth . . . middle-aged women at menopause.

It's Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound . . . and if you are not feeling well you should try it.

It strengthens you through its tonic action. Comforts and helps you over these trying times.

Letters from grateful women flood our mail every day . . . praising this medicine . . . thanking us, and offering to tell others about the miraculous benefits it has wrought.

Yet you go on suffering . . . your life hardly worth living . . . and you haven't tried Vegetable Compound?

Go to your druggist today. Ask him for a bottle of either the liquid or the tablets. Let this strengthening medicine help you.

LIMITED MARKS 50TH BIRTHDAY

The fiftieth birthday of the Pennsylvania Limited, crack train of the Pennsylvania Railroad and one of America's earliest express flyers, was to be marked with today's run from New York to Chicago.

During its long service the train has never missed a trip over the 908 miles of track connecting the two cities. In celebrating the occasion, the dining cars on the Limited were to carry large birthday cakes decked with 50 candles.

When the train first ran, it was made up of elaborate "palace" cars. The cars were equipped with kitchens and meals were served on portable tables between berths. The running time between New York and Chicago at first was 26 hours and 35 minutes. At present, the run is made in 20 hours.

$1,062 FOR PITT ITALIAN ROOM

The women's committee of the Italian room of the Cathedral of Learning yesterday presented $1,062.75 to Chancellor John G. Bowman as the first contribution toward furnishing of the classroom, which is to be one of the most artistic in the building.

Mrs. Rose Mullnari, chairman of the committee, presided and made the presentation. W. P. Ortale, general chairman, spoke briefly.

Other speakers were Miss Helen Ignelzi, chairman of the Italian student body at the University of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Ruth Crawford Mitchell, in charge of the Cathedral of Learning activities for the various rooms.

The Italian room, when completed, will cost approximately $30,000. All of the furnishings will be brought from Italy.

A favorite train for

CHICAGO

INDIANAPOLIS

ST. LOUIS

Because it's "home-like" . . . well-managed . . . and, above all, supremely comfortable . . . it is a favorite train of experienced travelers. You will enjoy the ease of the fine club car and praise the good food. Don't be content with less than this famous New York Central service on your next trip!

HI-JACKER PLOT

Thursday, Nov. 19.

We Now Present
By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor

A PLOT TO "HI-JACK" American radio stations particularly those on clear channels like KDKA WJZ WEAF WTIC and KFI is being investigated by federal agents an authentic report from Mexico City last night stated that capitalists propose erecting cheap outlets which they threaten to place on or near those wave lengths unless they are used to broadcast programs from American stations in the hope that this

Darrell V. Martin will be boosted off . . . The successful operation of XER at Villa Acuna across the Rio Grande on 75,000 watts and 735 kilocycles midway between WSB and WKAC has encouraged certain American interests to flood the Mexican government with applications for licenses . . . The Mexican government, being a sovereign power, has decided to stand by Arthur Brinkley, owner of XER, and any other individuals or corporations granted licenses at the low fee of $10 . . . Dr Brinkley's station in Kansas was ordered off the air last year because his medical advice broadcasts were regarded as inimical to the public health . . . Most of his XER fan mail comes from listeners in the United States . . . With the 96 North American radio channels being used exclusively between the United States and Canada it appears that Mexico as a government is determined to "plant" some of these channels or else force the American and Canadian governments to reallocate wavelengths . . . this will force listeners to find their favorite stations elsewhere on the dials.

Question a Day:

Who owns the National Broadcasting Company? The Columbia Broadcasting System? Herbert N., California Po

Answer—NBC came into the field as a subsidiary of Radio Corporation of America with RCA holding 50 per cent of the stock, General Electric 30 per cent, and Westinghouse 20 per cent. Today it is a 100 per cent subsidiary of RCA. Columbia started in July, 1927, as a subsidiary of the Columbia Phonograph Company, but today it is 50 per cent owned by family interests represented by William S. Paley, its 29-year-old president, and 50 per cent by the Paramount motion picture interests.

* * *

After hearing Sophie Tucker banter with Rudy Vallee on WCAE at 8 o'clock, zip the dial to KQV at 8:30 for her Pittsburgh counterpart—Rita Claire Layton, a likeable 10-year-old blues singer whom Jack Buchheit and the boys have nicknamed "Little Sophie Tucker." . . . Rita is just like big Sophie in memorizing words and music of songs, hardly ever carrying a piece to the microphone.

* * *

Studio Lights:

The less said about the life of Rossini the better, but we cannot overlook his gorgeous melodic outpourings such as the "Inflammatus" from "Stabat Mater," "The Barber of Seville" and "William Tell" all of which are represented on the WCAE Music Drama at 9 o'clock tonight . . .

Someone mentioned "Ted Husing" to Harry Keck yesterday and quick as a flash the sports editor snapped back, "Putrid is a horrid word" . . . catch on" . . . cigars, cigarets!

Billy Joy left an operating table at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and stoically faced the WJAS microphone at 8 o'clock last night . . . his side was padded like a football player and his face writhed in pain, but Billy Joy and his "Songs of Joy" went on as scheduled.

Eddie Cantor has five suits and three pairs of shoes. Dave Rubinoff has 27 suits and 19 pairs of shoes . . . all of which ought to prove something . . . but what?

You can transport yourself into idyllic dreamland tonight at 9 by dialing the Minneapolis Symphony on CBS-WJAS . . . turn low the lights like you do for "Sherlock Holmes" and experience a truly masterful bit of radio legerdemain . . . enjoy the brilliant pageantry of "Blue Danube Waltz" and Chabrier's "Espana."

Tom Waring's song, "So Beats My Heart for You," is a Lanny Ross selection on KDKA at 9:30 tonight . . .

Even though more people know her name now than a year or so ago, the sponsor of Sacred Songs moved among visitors at her sixth anniversary celebration on KDKA without being identified . . . the sponsor goes into KDKA studios only once a year, for the anniversary program.

Today's Tid Bit:

"We have a dog," wrote a Pennsylvania listener. "He has been trained to come to meals at the sound of a bell. Every time he hears the chimes on our new radio, he dashes into the house and is almost crazy from running and disappointment. We want to hear the programs and still keep the dog. What shall we do?"

The Loudspeaker

— By — LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Radio's gates to the aspiring entertainer have become as hard to enter as those of the stage or screen. Occasionally they open when a combination of circumstances is favorable—the right contacts, the necessary talent, the promptness of program officials in arriving at their verdicts.

Program officials are notoriously dilatory. They must hem and haw just so long before they can decide whether this or that singer had radio personality . . . Frequently their huddles are so prolonged that rival radio camps snare the singer, make of him a headliner over night . . . Most heartbreaking business in all of radio is the audition. Young men and women storm the broadcasting walls seeking the elusive road to the country estate and the three-car garage. Their hopes are high and so are their heads . . . They give their auditions. In 99 cases out of 100 that is the last that is heard of them. Broadway and Hollywood, in all their glory, never possessed more heartaches for those aspiring to entertainment fame.

* * *

Pasadena's sunset will have to get long this New Year's Day without the benefit of its greatest booster—Graham McNamee . . . Radio officials are cutting down their budgets to traveling announcers . . . They continue their search of sports writers, sports experts, picking up on the way Benny Friedman. Some day they will have their athletic broadcast problems solved. But the search will be long and arduous . . . It isn't every day they can pick up a Clem McCarthy . . . Stokowski is getting ready for another concert on Saturday night and the quality of this week's airings, as a result, takes on more distinction . . . Even symphony players on the Philharmonic payroll are adding to their incomes in commercial programs. The commercial programs will be better for their presence.

* * *

Talent for radio will cost the microphone maharajahs the sum of $35,000,000 this season. . . . If you would know even more about the big business aspect of radio this sum far exceeds that expended on talent of all the republic's theatrical and motion picture enterprises combined . . . Yet drum-beaters of the studios never refer to radio as the "greatest show on earth" . . . You never hear any more about Floyd Gibbons . . . They say Gibbons lacks the knack of ad-libbing. For that matter, few people possess it. . . You'd never guess that Sir Hubert Wilkins is one of those who has it . . . It seems to us that James J. Walker could find a secure place in radio once he leaves the razzle-dazzle of City Hall, if only because he can ad-lib gracefully and amusingly.

* * *

A broadcast of the dinner which Hoover gave to his football team, Stanford '94, would have done more to humanize the President in the parlors than anything else we can think of . . . Political strategists are always muffing their publicity opportunities . . . Columbia executives are deservedly sticking out their chest these days over the brilliant success of their radio programs.

LIFE SENTENCE FACES ALFONSO

MADRID, Nov. 19 (INS)—Republican Spain's national legislature, the Cortes, tonight will, barring a political miracle, pass sentence of life imprisonment upon the only man in Europe who was born a king, the exiled monarch Alfonso XIII.

The last of the Bourbons to be swept off a European throne will be tried in absentia on charges of treason to his native land and of being responsible for the Spanish military debacle in the Riff some years ago.

If convicted, he will not only be sentenced to imprisonment for life but will be stripped of all the honors and titles monarchial Spain heaped upon him, and all his property in the land of the Hidalgos will be expropriated by the state which now holds sovereignty over his former realm.

18 Bottles Seized As 'Evidence' Explodes

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Nov. 19 (AP)—The police figured they had a grand case against Arthur Ball.

Eighteen bottles of allegedly too powerful beer found in his home were brought to the police station as evidence. Just before the case could be heard the bottles exploded. State's attorney Alan Bowie nolle prossed the whole business while policemen mopped the floor and Mr. Ball went home.

WOMAN TURNS STATE WITNESS

NEW BLOOMFIELD, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—The courtroom in this small county seat for the second day today was filled to overflowing as additional details of the death of Mrs. Eleanor May Wright were disclosed at the trial of James Ritter, Marysville, for the slaying.

The Wright woman's half-clad body was found in an abandoned canal several miles north of Harrisburg early one morning last spring. A few days later Ritter and his housekeeper, Mrs. Lola Mell, were charged with the killing.

Last week the charge against the Mell woman was withdrawn and yesterday she was the prosecution's principal witness against Ritter. She told the jury the Wright woman told her Ritter had hit her on the head with a stove lid-lifter. This occurred, the Mell woman testified, during a drinking party in which the three principals took part.

Crooner Blamed For Illness in Woman's Suit

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19—(AP)—Mrs. Susan B. Hall, 45, who says she fainted when a crooner sang to her in a theater, has sought $10,000 damages from the amusement company.

Her petition charges that when the entertainer stopped beside her seat and sang while the spotlights played on them, she was "insulted, embarrassed, tantalized and harassed."

As a result of becoming hysterical and fainting, she said she was ill six weeks, and her name was "brought to public ridicule, scandal, infamy and disgrace."

FUNERAL PARTY KILLS DEER

A 175-pound deer, killed when it was struck by an automobile in a road near Ashville, Cambria County last night, was to be turned over to an orphanage here today by Charles Lippert, deputy game warden.

The deer was killed when it walked into the path of a machine driven by Clifton O'Shell, Sr., of 353 Baldwin road, Hays, who, with his wife and two others, were returning from a funeral.

O'Shell brought the deer home and notified Lippert. Lippert declared the venison would be given to some orphanage in the South Hills.

Spaghetti Royal

1 Package Mueller's Spaghetti
7 slices lean bacon
¼ lb. snappy cheese minced
1 small onion, chopped fine
1 can tomato soup
1 can water

Parboil spaghetti 7 min. in 4 qts. rapidly boiling water to which 1 tbsp. salt has been added. Drain. Parboil bacon. Place in baking dish alternate layers of spaghetti, dotted with pieces of minced cheese and bacon and repeat until all ingredients are used up. Mix onion with tomato soup and water and pour over top. Bake in moderate oven 30 min. Macaroni may be substituted for spaghetti.

SECOND GROUP OF 'JINGLES' WINNERS

Homestead Park Woman Gets First Prize; New Chance For Readers to Compete

Mrs. Duncan Scott, 138 Crawford avenue, Homestead Park, won the first prize for the best last line for "Christmas Jingle" No. 2 and, in a day or two, will get a Christmas check for $5 from the Sun-Telegraph.

A kind-hearted girlie was Kitty
When her Christmas check came
She decided the same
Will tune well with the "Jingle Bells" ditty.

The five $1 prizes were awarded by the judges as follows: Marie Schriver, 7262 Campania street, East End, Pittsburgh; Mrs. R. R. Streily, 114 Olympic street, Pittsburgh; Joan Hood, 199 Clay street, Rochester, Pa.; Catherine Bowers, Springdale, and William R. King, Walnut Court Apartments, 6351 Walnut street, Pittsburgh.

Try your hand on No. 9, appearing on this page today. If you submit what the judges think is the best of all "last lines" sent in, you get a check for $5. The five next best "last lines" will each be awarded $1.

All readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, with the exception of employes, are invited to enter the "Christmas Jingle" contest. You can send in as many last lines as you like. Equal awards will be paid to readers whose answers are tied in the judging. You do not have to buy a Sun-Telegraph to enter this contest. You may examine the files of this newspaper at the public library or at any one of the offices of the Sun-Teegraph, where you may make a tracing of the "Christmas Jingle" blank if you wish.

Each Sun-Telegraph "Christmas Jingle" will be consecutively numbered.

PANTAGES CASE PLOT CHARGED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Alexander Pantages, wealthy theatrical producer, accused of attacking Eunice Pringle, youthful dancer, two years ago, was to take the stand today in his own defense, and sensational developments were expected. Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler in a court argument said:

"We have made out a prima facie case of conspiracy against Eunice Pringle and her manager, Nicholas Dunaev. Dunaev and Miss Pringle planned to put Pantages in a predicament which would force him to employ the girl."

Factors, the defense declared pointed to the alleged conspiracy, included a long letter signed by Mrs. Eunice Barnes, of Seattle Wash., aunt of Miss Pringle, in which she informed Dunaev she was glad he and Eunice were in love and would marry, and conversations alleged to have been had by Dunaev with several witnesses in which he assertedly planned to maneuver Miss Pringle into Pantages' employ.

Wife Sues Brother of Buddy Rogers

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Charging that B. H. Rogers, brother of Charles (Buddy) Rogers, screen actor, remained away from home at nights without explanation, Mrs. Maragen Helen Rogers filed suit for divorce here yesterday.

He has taken minor roles in pictures. Mrs. Rogers is the daughter of D. W. Stevick, publisher of several Mid-Western newspapers.

KNOCK THAT COLD IN A JIFFY

Here's Relief Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

POLICE LEADERS 'BREAK' IN 5TH

A break between the police and political powers in the Fifth Ward was indicated today as City Detective Edward Bailey, Negro, testified in Magistrate Leo Rothenber's Police Court that his witnesses had been intimidated.

Bailey was testifying in the case of Constable Earl Sams, Negro of the Fifth Ward, and William Johnston, Negro, of 2002 Wylie avenue, the latter charged with being a suspicious person. Sams, the detective testified, interfered during the arrest of Johnston and drew a revolver.

Bailey testified he had arrested Johnston for an alleged attack on William Rainey, Negro, of 2460 Unit street, on November 5, when Johnston was alleged to have posed as a deputy constable and attempted to "shake down" Samuel Cooper, confectionery proprietor. Bailey, asked for corroborative testimony, said:

"Through Sam's political influence he has intimidated my witnesses. Hold this case over until tomorrow and I'll have them here."

CRISIS ENDED, SAYS EXPERT

The crisis in the country's depression has passed and the nation is now in "a period of convalescence, painful but necessary and wholesome," Albert W. Atwood, economist, author and financial editor of the Saturday Evening Post, told Pittsburgh Life Insurance men at a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel today. He said:

"Certainly present conditions do not warrant the pessimism which still exists, nor did conditions warrant even the greater pessimism which existed a few weeks ago. This country is not on the brink of revolution; neither the country nor the economic order which has developed therein, is about to go into the abyss, and despite many serious problems there are no real signs that our national virility has vanished to a point where slow decline is setting in.

"Far too many people have been talking about breakdown, but the real breakdown has been in their own common sense, perspective and courage.

CAPTIVE KILLED IN GUN FIGHT

DETROIT, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Emanuel Puscher, 24, wanted in Erie, Pa., for felonious assault and bank robbery, was shot to death last night when he attempted to shoot one of two policemen who had arrested him.

Patrolmen William Schnellinger and Stanley Starzyk took Puscher to the home of his uncle, Edward Grallman, on his plea that he be allowed to "kiss his wife goodbye."

As he leaned over the bed on which Margaret Snider, later said by police to have been his sweetheart, was lying, he reached beneath a pillow and whipped out a pistol. Schnellinger wrenched it from his hand. Then, the officer said, the girl joined in a scramble for the gun and Puscher regained the weapon.

Puscher was about to fire at Schnellinger, the officer said, when Starzyk fired twice. Puscher fell dead with two bullets in his chest.

THIRSTY CROWD MOBS GUARDS

LEWES, Del., Nov. 19.—(INS.)—One Coast Guardsman was injured seriously and several others were hurt when attacked by residents in this section in a frantic effort to obtain some of the $25,000 cargo of alleged liquor hurled into the Delaware Bay near here by fleeing rum-runners. Two men were arrested by the guards when the boat was overhauled, but no liquor was found aboard, and three of the disturbers were seized, during the mixup yesterday.

The fighting took place when a crowd menaced Coast Guardsmen at work dredging the bay for alleged liquor. Some of the mob attracted to the scene by the recovery of 600 cases made off with several cases of liquor during the melee, according to reports.

The liquor will be removed to the U. S. customs house at Wilmington.

A thief who forced entry to the home of Mrs. Mary Smonday, of 1220 Arch street, escaped with a radio, jewelry and a picture of Mrs. Smonday's former husband, according to a police report. The loot was valued at approximately $100.

E. C. McBride, of 320 Graham street, reported to police early today that his automobile, parked at 5444 Center avenue, had been robbed of a suitcase containing clothing valued at $100.

Fire Scare Caused By Dreaming Officer

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—City Engineer Fred Potts meditated alone yesterday—but not for long. He was joined by nine fire companies, two salvage corps crews, two fire marshals, a fire chief and a squad of policemen.

Potts, deep in his own thoughts, had sounded central alarm box in City Hall. Several thousand spectators went home disappointed.

SLAYER GIVEN SOCIETY GARB

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—His social poise restored when he donned fashionably cut clothes and clean linen in his dreary prison cell, "Eddie" Allen felt more cheerful today.

The charge of murdering Francis A. Donaldson III, his sister's fiance, apparently depressed the society man less than had his lack of his accustomed habiliments.

Though hardly seen by anyone else except persons whom his social register set might consider social inferiors, Allen insisted on having the sort of wardrobe a gentleman should wear.

It was brought to him by Henry G. Pearce, a family friend, who fought a whole day with official red tape to obtain a court order permitting a maid to enter Allen's exclusive apartment at Green Hill Farms Hotel and procure his clothes.

U. S. Boatswain, 72, Kept in Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—At 72, Isaac Otis Castle, chief boatswain's mate in Uncle Sam's Navy, has convinced a board of medical survey he is in condition for continued active service.

The Navy Department today announced its approval of the board's recommendation for its oldest man on active duty.

Gun Hints Suicide Of School Leader

WINFIELD, Kan., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Discovery that W. W. McConnell, 42, superintendent of the Winfield schools, had purchased the revolver found near his body on the high school grounds Tuesday night, led officers today to the belief the school man committed suicide.

Gettysburg Address Made 68 Years Ago

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The few surviving Civil War veterans in Adams County planned a brief ceremony today to observe the sixty-eighth anniversary of the dedication of the Gettysburg battlefield, at which Abraham Lincoln delivered his memorable address.

UNJUST PARTY RULE BEAT VAN BUREN

Democrats' Two-Thirds Vote Regulation Showed Flaws 12 Years After Adoption

By LOUIS SEIBOLD
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The flagrant injustice of the undemocratic two-thirds rule under which the Democratic party has chosen its presidential candidates for a century was clearly revealed 12 years after its adoption.

Van Buren, seeking a second term after a lapse of eight years, was the choice of the majority of the delegates who sat in the Baltimore convention in 1844.

The undemocratic two-thirds rule prevented the award of the nomination favored by this majority. The feuds and animosities generated during the stormy dominance of Andrew Jackson were revived to stop Van Buren, the popular choice of the majority. Van Buren was the target of these attacks.

VALIANT FIGHT FAILS

The majority made a valiant fight for him, but the application of the undemocratic two-thirds rule rendered their efforts futile. After he received 146 votes, which gave him a clear majority, a motion was made to declare him the nominee.

It was ruled out on a technicality, and Polk was nominated by a combination of the bosses of that day, who were less interested in him than in vindicating their grievances against Van Buren, the political legatee of Jackson.

The undemocratic rejection of Van Buren provoked a storm of protest. But it only resulted in the tightening of the two-thirds rule by the convention of 1860. It was amended to require "two-thirds of the whole convention" instead of "two-thirds of the whole number of votes given."

BOSSES COMBINE

This was also accomplished by a combination of the bosses of that day to strengthen their control in future contests.

An effort was made in the twelfth Democratic convention in St. Louis to abolish the two-thirds rule. A Michigan delegate named Webber offered a motion declaring the two-thirds rule "unwise and unnecessary" and requesting state conventions to instruct their delegates to the next national convention whether to support or oppose the continuance of the rule. The motion failed of adoption, by a narrow margin.

In the fourteenth national convention a motion was made that the next call for a nominating convention state that the two-thirds rule should not be observed, unless it was made "obligatory by the convention itself." Just what this was intended to mean was a matter of conjecture. At any rate the motion was lost in the shuffle.

RULE BALKS CLARK

Before the seventh national convention met at Chicago in 1896, there were reports that the two-thirds rule would be set aside. A canvass by the New York Times showed that 518 of the delegates favored majority rule and only 412 the retention of the two-thirds system. Motion to make the substitution was suppressed by the committee on rules.

If Democratic majority rule had prevailed at the Baltimore convention which nominated Woodrow Wilson in 1912, Champ Clark would have been chosen. On the tenth ballot, Clark polled 536 votes, which gave him a majority of 19 in the whole convention.

The New York delegates who had been supporting Judson Harmon switched to Clark on this ballot, and the latter would have been named if William Jennings Bryan had not deserted him and urged Woodrow Wilson.

Bryan had dramatically denounced the bosses of Tammany and their Wall street allies. But he ignored the Democratic principle of majority rule. He did not lift his voice against the unfairness of the two-thirds system used by the reactionary bosses and their financial allies to prevent Clark from winning.

GLARING INJUSTICE

It is equally significant that Tammany, coupled with Wall street by Bryan, supported Clark, the majority choice, at the convention. The two circumstances combined contribute one of the greatest anomalies in the history of the Democratic party.

This undemocratic repudiation of the Democratic rule of majority has always stood out as the operation of the two-thirds rule.

Every technical and log-rolling device was employed by the supporters of the two-thirds rule to prevent the nomination of Clark, who was easily the popular choice of the majority of the delegates. Otherwise his nomination could not have been prevented by the powerful combination headed by Bryan.

1920 MOVE DEFEATED

The last definite move made to discard the undemocratic two-thirds rule was in 1920, although it never reached the floor of the convention. A resolution urging the substitution of majority rule was presented in the national committee. It was opposed by southern members headed by Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia.

The resolution urged the committee to recommend to the nominating convention that the change be made. The committee decided that such a step was beyond its functions, and the matter was dropped.

Supporters of the plan to abandon the two-thirds rule are now confident that if the matter is considered on its merits in the next convention it will be decisively cast out as wholly inconsistent with democratic principles.

CITY BOND BIDS SOUGHT AGAIN

Failure to receive bids for two bond issues totaling $870,000 for city improvements will necessitate re-advertising, Controller James P. Kerr announced today.

The issues, $420,000 for public improvements and $150,000 for acquisition of property for street widening, went begging several weeks ago when Controller Kerr and Mayor Charles H. Kline asked for bids.

Then the Controller said he felt publicity given the investigation of the Treasurer's office had figured in the failure to sell the bonds. Today he said:

"I am sure if we advertise the bonds again they will be sold. They are sound and safe investments."

Kerr will ask permission from Council next Monday to re-advertise.

GREEK PRELATE TO BLESS ART

Paintings by a distinguished German artist, Rudolf Schnaitl, of Munich, will be dedicated in the St. Peter and St. Paul Greek Catholic Church, George street, Braddock, at special services Thanksgiving Day at 10:30 a. m.

The pictures, scenes from the life of Christ and Biblical subjects, will be blessed by Bishop Basil Takach. Three of the pictures are on canvas and others are painted on the walls of the sanctuary.

They are the result of long and painstaking work by the artist. The Rev. Dr. Julius Grigassy is pastor of the church.

Mandolin Playing Ability Upholds War Vet's Will

READING, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP).—Because he was able to play the mandolin and do odd plumbing jobs about the house, Joseph F. Betting, a shell-shocked World War veteran who died in a Philadelphia hospital several years ago was regarded by a jury in a Berks County Court case as mentally sound. Betting left a will which left his insurance, $8,000, to his mother, Mrs. Anna C. Betting. His father, Eugene L. Betting, brought suit to break the will, maintaining the war veteran was of unsound mind. The will was found written in a small notebook, tucked up in the attic of the Betting home here.

MINE MEETING AT AVELLA

A movement to unionize the miners of the Avella district is under way, according to P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers, and D. J. Damich, international organizer. They are to address a mass meeting of the miners Sunday, after having spoken at a preliminary meeting there Tuesday night.

According to Fagan, operating coal companies in the Avella district are paying "starvation wages." 30 cents a ton for loading, $2.75 a day for inside work and $2.25 a day for outside work. The union scale is 45 cents a ton for loading, $4.50 for inside work and from $3.50 to $4 for outside work, he said.

Fagan says the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, which is now paying the union scale at its operating mines, is contemplating opening its Avella mine.

COST MEN HEAR SLUMP CURE

Unwarranted peaks in production, consequent unemployment and demoralization of trade will be avoided in the future largely through scientific industrial management in the opinion of Ernest F. Rumpf, of New York, engineering expert, speaking at a dinner of the Pittsburgh Chapter, National Association of Cost Accountants, in William Penn Hotel last night. He said:

"Tools for regulating production and employment such as budget control will go a long way toward preventing an economic crisis such as the last one. With equally scientific planning in other departments of a business, we need never experience another such protracted slump."

C. I. Van Sickle, of the University of Pittsburgh, president of the chapter, introduced Rumpf.

Senator Reed Denies Alien-Hiring Rumor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A patriotic fraternal society has been asked by Senator Reed "to stop unfortunate rumors" concerning alleged preferential employment of aliens by the Keystone Aircraft Corporation at Bristol, Pa.

Acting on a complaint of Maurice H. Rasener, secretary of the Pennsylvania state council of the Order of Independent Americans, Reed said an investigation by governmental agencies had determined such reports to be unfounded.

MRS. HEARST HONOR GUEST AT DINNER

Celebrities Among 3,000 at Testimonial Observing Milk Fund Anniversary

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The tenth anniversary of the inauguration of the Free Milk Fund for Babies was celebrated last night by a great testimonial dinner to its founder, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, at Hotel Commodore.

Nearly 3,000 of Mrs. Hearst's friends those who have given aid in this noteworthy work which has saved thousands of infant lives, were present. It was one of the largest functions of its kind New York has ever known.

Mayor Walker was toastmaster and Bernard F. Gimbel was chairman of the dinner committee, comprising James A. Farley, Jeremiah T. Mahony, William Muldoon, Herbert Bayard Swope and Gene Tunney.

The dinner was sponsored by the Muldoon-Tunney championship committee, and included among the diversions of the evening the appearance of a large number of stars of the stage and screen, and several short boxing exhibitions by ring celebrities.

This part of the program was arranged by A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., chairman of the entertainment committee.

Mrs. Hearst, introduced by Mayor Walker in a speech which bespoke the community's debt to her, said:

"I am very happy to receive the honor of this testimonial banquet from the hands of so many distinguished friends. I am very happy also that the work of the milk fund has this evidence of their approval.

"I want to thank the many who have contributed so generously toward the maintenance of this charity. I want to thank also the Boxing Commission and the members of the sporting fraternity, who haw been extremely liberal in their support.

"Then let me thank the people of the stage, who are always responsive to the appeal of all charities, and who have done much for us. Finally, let me sincerely thank you who are here tonight for the encouragement and stimulus you give me in my work."

Eye Cut by Towel, Man May Lose Sight

His right eye cut by a paper towel, Earl McCaulley, of 229 Third street, Braddock, today was awaiting the verdict of physicians on whether he will lose the sight.

McCaulley, employed in the purchasing office of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, East Pittsburgh, was washing up before returning home when the paper towel cut his eye. He was given first aid in the emergency hospital of the plant and today expects to know the doctors' verdict whether he will have his sight.

EAST BOROUGHS DISTRICT NEWS

PARADE TO OPEN $600,000 TRAFFORD ROAD LINK

Borough Job Pledges Mark Welfare Drive

WORKERS SPEED NEIGHBORHOOD CAMPAIGN

Improvement Projects Help Unemployed as Benefits Help Swell Relief Funds

East Borough district volunteer workers today were pushing the campaign for their quotas in the joint campaign of the Welfare Fund and Allegheny County Emergency Association, with the drive scheduled to close Saturday.

Pledges of borough co-operation to provide public improvement programs to aid the unemployed were made by Wilkinsburg officials. Swissvale started 60 unemployed men to work Monday and will place a like number next week to alternate weekly in its effort to relieve unemployment.

NEIGHBORHOOD LEADERS

Colonels directing the house-to-house canvasses under the leadership of Mrs. J. B. McKillips, county neighborhood chairman, included Penn Township and vicinity, Mrs. Harry K. Reiter; Swissvale and vicinity, Mrs. C. E. Willock; Braddock and vicinity, Mrs. A. M. Scott and Mrs. F. F. Slick; East McKeesport and vicinity, Mrs. Frederick H. N. Gerwig.

Braddock leaders are being assisted by the following majors: Mrs. Clarence E. Bair, churches; Mrs. Charles Masters, in charge of booths; Mrs. James E. McDonald, organizations; F. DeWitt Zuerner, North Braddock schools; Mrs. Thomas G. McCleary, Braddock schools; Mrs. Harry Lewis, theaters; Mrs. W. J. McBride, Rankin. Designated as captains are Mrs. A. E. Miller, Mrs. Hechtman and Mrs. Worcester.

SWISSVALE WORKERS

Swissvale workers have established headquarters at 2018 Waverly street. The campign is being directed by Allen F. Koch, C. F. Reeves, Mrs. John R. Doerst, Sr., Mrs. Lillie Kuhn, Mrs. H. M. Little, Mrs. H. J. Bumgartner, Mrs. David T. Price, Mrs. Carl D. Smith, Mrs. George C. Seitz, Mrs. Aaron Canter, William Reader, T. F. Tomlinson, A. W. Parry, Mrs. Charles F. Obaker, Mrs. Elizabeth Rosensteel, Mrs. D. J. Czyzewski, Mrs. Victor J. Greene, Mrs. David Roth and the Rev. Vincent Giovanni.

Unemployed in Wilkinsburg are registering for work at 749 Penn avenue. Pitcairn volunteer workers are canvassing homes and business places under direction of the Rev. J. Hackney Colclough.

EDGEWOOD PLANS

An emergency relief committee has been organized in Edgewood to provide food, clothing, fuel and other absolute necessities to needy families in the borough. L. E. Kilbury is chairman. Other officers are: Vice chairman, Mrs. H. H. Lambert; secretary, Walter V. Foust, and treasurer, E. W. Simpson.

Two committee workers have been named in each voting district to assist in meeting the needs. They are: First District, Mr. Kilbury, 190 Gordon street, and Mrs. J. W. Jennings, 153 Lloyd avenue; Second District, John E. Dyer, Municipal Building, and Mrs. Lambert, 111 Maple avenue; Third, Mr. Simpson, 410 Willow place, and Mrs. G. E. Stoltz, 151 West Hutchinson avenue; Fourth, Mr. Foust, 512 Greendale avenue, and Mrs. J. F. Baldwin, 215 West Swissvale avenue.

An appeal has been issued to all residents to notify the committee of cases needing relief. The committee will co-operate with the emergency association in placing workers.

Three Classes Give Swissvale High Play

Three classes join in the presentation of a play tomorrow night in the Swissvale High School auditorium. The production, "Hero by the Hour," is the second annual inter-class play by the seniors, juniors and sophomores.

Tells of Trip

PRIEST DEPICTS EUROPE'S ILLS

Entire families digging in rubbish heaps for food was the vision today carried in the memory of the Rev. Adelbert Kazincy, pastor of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, Braddock, upon return from a visit to his homeland, Hungary.

Father Kazincy, pastor of the Braddock parish for 35 years, completed a five-month tour of Europe, the first visit in 25 years. Several months of the trip were spent with relatives in his home country. The tour included France, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy.

Describing the plight of his homeland as worse than any conditions here, Father Kazincy said:

"Conditions are much worse at home than here. You will see whole families searching a rubbish heap for something to eat. The most they find is a small scrap that some other person, a little more fortunate, did not consider good enough."

Wilkinsburg Traders To Feast on Turkey

Thanksgiving meeting of the Wilkinsburg Business Men's Association will be featured by a turkey dinner at the Penn-Lincoln Hotel next Tuesday night. A special guest speaker will be heard. Entertainment will be added to the program.

The association is making the occasion its treat to members, and the dinner will be free to all in good standing. President J. Leonard Cook will preside. Several inter-organization business details will be heard at the meeting.

Wilkinsburg Kiwanis To Select Officers

Election of officers of the Kiwanis Club of Wilkinsburg will be held next month, with two candidates nominated for the presidency. The nominees are: President, Karl Maerker and James H. Bell; vice president, Dr. E. L. Neff and H. B. Hayden; treasurer, Mr. Hayden and Mr. Bell; trustee, the Rev. L. A. Krouse; directors, three to elect, C. C. Alles, Mr. Hayden, Elmer E. Carroll, Dr. J. R. McCune, Merle W. Baldwin and Charles W. Kearns.

EAST END JOINS SUNDAY MOVIE BENEFIT

15 Theaters in District To Give Special Shows For Relief of Unemployed

Capacity attendance is predicted at the county-wide motion picture shows for the benefit of the county's unemployed Sunday night, in which more than 15 East End district theaters are participating.

Staged as part of a nation-wide series of entertainments requested as a motion picture industry contribution by President Hoover through the Gifford-Young assistance program, the exhibitors of Allegheny County are contributing their bit under sponsorship of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and Pittsburgh Press. John H. Harris is chairman of the exhibitors' committee.

EVERYTHING CONTRIBUTED

Every cent paid into the benefit will be turned over to the Allegheny County Emergency Association. The films are being contributed by the producers. Theater help, including the operators, are giving their services gratis. Tickets are now on sale at all the participating theaters. No seats will be reserved, and only the maximum capacity of each theater will be sold.

The theaters will open their doors at 7:30 o'clock, and performances are scheduled to start at 8 p. m. Many theaters are planning to present extra attractions over a regular full-length motion picture performance.

THEATERS PARTICIPATING

Enright, 5806 Penn avenue.
RKO Sheridan Square, 6108 Penn avenue.
Capitol, Braddock.
Schenley, 3942 Forbes street.
Manor, 1729 Murray avenue.
Arsenal, 4109 Butler street.
Plaza, 4765 Liberty avenue.
Belmar, 721 N. Homewood avenue.
Regent, 5941 Penn avenue.
Cameraphone, 6202 Penn avenue.
Brushton, 714 Brushton avenue.
Dome, 5133½ Butler street.

Highland, 719 Homewood avenue.
Lincoln Square, Lincoln avenue.
Metropolitan, 4774 Liberty avenue.
Penn, 3414 Penn avenue.
Triangle, 6276 Frankstown avenue.

Braddock business men have joined with the Capitol Theater management for staging two benefit shows. A matinee will be given at 3 o'clock, and the night performance at 8 p. m. Charles J. Carr is chairman of the business men's group co-operating with the theater manager, Samuel Bleyer.

Justice Davidson Grateful to Voters

Justice of the Peace Stewart C. Davidson, of Penn Township, today expressed his gratitude to voters in their support for his re-election. Davidson has been in office six years.

COUNTY SPEEDS HOMESTEAD BRIDGE

Commissioners Approve Span And Prepare to Seek U. S. Permit for New Project

First definite step towards the realization of a Homestead high level bridge to replace the present Brown's Bridge was being taken today by the county in the preparation of legal papers necessary for presentation to Congress next month seeking an act to authorize construction.

County Solicitor Mortimer B. Lesher was ordered to prepare papers by County Commissioners Charles C. McGovern and E. V. Babcock. The Commissioners approved the project, which will include viaducts connecting Homestead and Squirrel Hill following presentation of petitions last winter.

The project, estimated to cost $3,000,000, will provide a direct connection between West street and Eighth avenue, Homestead, and Beechwood boulevard. Steep grades and dangerous curves now existing on Brown's road will be eliminated. The proposed bridge will have a length of 1,440 feet over the Monongahela River and a viaduct in Homestead of 1,720 feet. A 56-foot roadway is proposed to accomodate four lanes of highway traffic and two lanes of street cars.

Agitation for the improvement was started by the Pittsburgh-Homestead District High Level Bridge Association. Officers of the group are: President, Burgess John Cavanaugh; first vice president, James E. Lose; second vice president, Thomas J. Ingram; treasurer, James C. Kuhn, and secretary, F. H. Leuschner.

PASTORS FIGHT SUNDAY SHOW

Sunday movies, to aid the unemployed, scheduled for next Sunday, were denounced as an effort to defeat the Blue Laws of Pennsylvania at a meeting of the Braddock Ministerial Association yesterday. A committee of four drafted resolutions protesting the Sunday movies and calling on ministers in Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin to preach against them next Sunday.

The Rev. J. A. Borger, of St. Luke's Reformed Church, president of the ministerial association, with the Rev. R. L. McQuiston, First Methodist Episcopal Church; the Rev. J. P. Harman, of Bethany Lutheran Church, and the Rev. Dr. Guy D. Wallace, United Presbyterian Church, drafted the resolutions.

Three-Clawed

THREE CLAWS ON PUP'S PAW

A month-old pup, born with only three claws on his left forepaw, is owned by Walter Harker, 517 Seddon avenue, North Braddock, 13-year-old son of W. C. Harker, police chief of the borough.

The pup, "Teddy," was one of a litter of five born to Trixie, a poodle that the Harkers have owned for five years. All the others are normal in every respect. "Teddy" has been sold to friends in Jamestown, Pa., and Walter will have to part with him as soon as he is old enough to be sent away.

Vets to Hear Talk By Saint Gaudens

Homer Saint Gaudens, director of fine arts at Carnegie Institute, was scheduled to address the East Liberty Post, No. 5, American Legion, at its monthly meeting tonight in the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. Experiences in camouflage work during the World War will be his topic.

TWO CHURCHES IN HOMESTEAD CELEBRATE

Bishop Boyle to be Guest Of Former Congregation At Golden Jubilee Fete

Two Homestead congregations were observing church anniversaries this month. The St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church will mark its golden anniversary next Wednesday and the St. Francis Catholic Church closed a three-day program for its forty-first year Tuesday.

The Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, will be the guest of honor of his former congregation when a banquet is held in St. Mary Magdalene's School. Bishop Boyle preceded the Rev. D. R. Shannon, present pastor of the church, and was serving in Homestead when he was named bishop.

Prominent clergy of the diocese will be guests. A special program of entertainment is being arranged. Judge Frank P. Patterson will deliver the principal address.

Special services and a homecoming celebration marked the forty-first anniversary of the founding of St. Francis' Church. Special services were held Sunday. Many former members of the parish were in attendance. The Rev. C. F. Moosman is pastor.

Entertainment marked the occasion Monday and Tuesday nights. Card parties and other entertainment featured the programs.

J. Fertig was general chairman. Committee members included A. J. Funk, D. B. Hoffman, F. Dady, A. Schuck, L. Dietrich, J. Andres, F. Kuennig and Joseph Ackerman. The women's section was headed by Mrs. L. Andres, with the following aides: Mrs. M. Youngman, Mrs. C. Reich, Mrs. E. Noroski, Mrs. W. Hoffman, Miss M. Kuenzig, Miss A. Knapp and Miss C. Ackerman. The lunch and refreshment committee was directed by Mrs. J. Blank and Mrs. M. Mohrback.

KINGSLEY HOUSE TO ENTERTAIN

Board of managers, women's auxiliary and friends will be guests at the Kingsley House, Larimer avenue, East End, at a special program arranged by Mrs. Charles C. Cooper, resident director, and members of the staff on Sunday afternoon.

Inspection of the building and equipment will be made. A display of products of the pottery and general arts and crafts departments will be held. The Kingsley House staff includes: Miss Helen Hart, Miss Leah Dickinson, Miss Helen Humphreys, Miss Virginia Ebert, Miss Eleanor Page, Peter Mayer, Fred C. Yetter, Mrs. Yetter, Mrs. Elizabeth Burns, Miss Dorothea Moist, Miss Idress Cash and Mrs. Hannah Rhodes.

Playing Lead

MISS HILDA WHITEHOUSE

CHILDREN TAKE PART IN PLAY

"Daddy Long Legs" will be presented by the Mizpah Circle of the Homestead Park Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow night in Carnegie Hall, Munhall.

Mrs. Martha Gibb Sharp, assisted by Mrs. Marion K. Richards, is directing the production, in which more than 30 children take part.

The leading roles are being played by Miss Hilda Whitehouse and John Manning. Other members of the cast include Mrs. Pearl Diller, Mrs. George Hatcher, Mrs. Emery Berger, Willard Woosley, Ben Wilkinson, Helen Helsley, Rosella Finley, Glen Berger, Charles Ritchards and Walter Elwell.

The Munhall Quartet, composed of Herbert Spelding, Walter Jones, Sr., David Bryce and Robert Bryce, will sing. Walter Jones, Jr., will be accompanist. The Lyric Orchestra, directed by Prof. Charles B. Archer, will be on the program.

Wilkinsburg Club Views Art Exhibit

The Carnegie Institute International today was being visited by members of the Music, Art and Drama Department of the Woman's Civic Club of Wilkinsburg. A trip through the University of Pittsburgh Cathedral of Learning was to precede the visit.

The club held its annual card party Saturday in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel. The committee in charge included Miss Edith Wooldridge, chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell, vice chairman; Mrs. William Johnston, Jr., Mrs. E. Norman Lipp, Mrs. L. B. Carroll, Mrs. F. S. Hastings, Mrs. J. H. Diamond, Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Miss L. R. Uhem, Mrs. Eugene Pryor and Mrs. F. E. Eagli, Jr.

NEW HIGHWAY ON HISTORIC ROUTE

Banquet in Larimer to Close Celebration on Saturday; Distance to Lincoln Cut

The new Trafford-Larimer road, saving a distance of seven miles to the Lincoln Highway, though it is but 3.4 miles long, will be officially opened Saturday.

The road has been under construction for the past five months and the estimated cost is $600,000. The contract for the project was $433,000 out a 1.25-mile right of way, over which the road runs, was purchased from the Pennsylvania Railroad for $60,000. Work is still incompleted at the east end of the road, where a subway is being held up, awaiting permission of the Public Service Commission.

PARADE SCHEDULED

A parade and banquet, in which state, county and township officials will participate, will comprise the festivities. The parade will start at 2:30 o'clock in Larimer, joined by additional autos as it passes through Ardara and Cavittsville. It will turn at Trafford and return to Larimer, where a banquet will be held in St. John's Reformed Church. Level Green, Trafford, Westmoreland City and Irwin fire departments will be in the parade.

Addresses will be delivered by H. E. Kloss, district engineer of the State Highway Department; Elliot Hibbs, James Torrance and John Kilgore, Westmoreland County Commissioners, and Scott Fink, North Huntington Township solicitor.

HISTORICAL MARKERS

Members of the committee in charge of the program are Otis H. Warnock, Larimer; J. C. Blair, Trafford; J. O. George, Cavittsville; James Kee, Ardara; Thomas Donely, Larimer, and C. C. Rodgers, Irwin.

The Larimer Board of Trade has placed historical markers along the route. The historical points include Greer Run, noted for Indian battles; Cain Coke and Coal, where the first coke was made in 1870; Duff's Block House, built before the Revolutionary War; Loutsenheiser Mill, built in pioneer times; Wallace Leap, where William Wallace leaped Brush Creek and escaped from the Indians, and the first school grounds in North Huntington Township.

SQUIRREL HILL BOARD MEETS

One of the largest attendances marking the regular monthly meetings of the Squirrel Hill Board of Trade was evidenced Monday night at the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church.

More than 300 members and residents of the district attended the session that went on record indorsing the city manager form of government. Minor changes in routine matters of the constitution and by-laws were voted.

Bigger to Address Arsenal Trade Board

Frederick Bigger, architect and member of the Citizens' Committee on Town Planning, will address the Arsenal Board of Trade at its monthly meeting Tuesday night in the Boys' Club of Pittsburgh, 4412 Butler street. The program has been arranged by H. B. Rogers, entertainment committee chairman.

The board is seeeking members from the Lawrenceville district business interests who are availing themselves of the organization's services without maintaining memberships, the Rev. Albert G. Curry, president, announced.

Truck Driver Dumps Load Of Coal Into Sewer

It is probably with a smile that George Miller today drives pass the intersection of Braddock avenue and Jones street, Braddock, and it's because all manhole covers do not cover coal holes.

Miller is a coal truck driver. He had orders to deliver a load of coal to a Braddock avenue business place at midnight so that backing up the truck to the coal hole would not tie up traffic.

The borough street department workers were summoned by the store the next day. Something was wrong with the sewer. It was clogged and water was backing up into basements.

MT. LEBANON ORGANIZES TO AID 'WHITE COLLAR' JOBLESS

FOOD, CLOTHES SOUGHT IN DRIVE

Assistance Is Kept Secret By Organization Heads; Churches Join Campaign

Residents of Mt. Lebanon, recognizing the need in their community for a distinctive kind of relief, have set themselves to modify the difficulties of the financially distressed "white collar man" of their residential district.

Through the United Relief Association of Mt. Lebanon, composed of representatives from numerous service organizations and churches, it is proposed to relieve the want of individuals who in times of prosperity had jobs and who now, long out of work and their resources exhausted, shrink from asking help.

AID KEPT SECRET

The organization of which W. H. Babcock is general chairman proposes to render its assistance with no publicity and with no records of the individuals assisted. Headquarters will be maintained at the municipal building where by telephoning Lehigh 5300 cases of need, whether or not white collar cases—may be reported or assistance asked.

The community's efforts to supply relief will not stop with the "white-collar man." An industrial committee headed by Frank Meneilly will endeavor to find employment for jobless, a welfare committee headed by Mrs. Agnes R. Joyce will provide food and clothing, a finance committee led by Andrew D. Robb, Jr., will raise money.

ASK FOOD, CLOTHING

Pupils of the schools are carrying home letters from the welfare committee requesting donations of food to fill Thanksgiving baskets. The children are to take their gifts to school Monday.

The committee also will receive at the municipal building headquarters any gifts of food or clothing. Housewives are urged to search their homes for surplus clothing which the committee will repair and renovate if necessary.

In co-operating with the Welfare Fund, the Mt. Lebanon organization will co-operate also in meeting the needs of Coverdale Library Mines Nos. 1, 2 and 3 and other districts, but in individual work—in aiding the man burdened with commitments and without income—the organization will act alone in Mt. Lebanon proper.

FIRE VETS HEAR MACKRELL

With Joseph N. Mackrell, Register of Wills, as the principal speaker, the annual dinner of the Veteran Firemen's Association of Pittsburgh was held last night in Donahoe's Restaurant.

Ben L. Anderson, toastmaster, used a gavel made from a tongue of an old hand-pumping engine that was a part of the equipment of the volunteer fire company of Pittsburgh, organized in 1872.

Four Men Held on Fake Bill Charge

Four Canonsburg men, accused of passing bogus $5 notes, were being held in Wheeling today for trial on charges preferred by United States secret service agents.

They are O. Coccoletti, 42; Orlando Orsino, 38; Alphonse Palifrone, 38, and Sylvester Ferri, 16. They were arrested near Wellsburg, W. Va. Agents said that $300 in bogus money was found in their possession.

One Hurt Fighting $10,000 Munhall Fire

Arthur Anderson, 25, volunteer fireman, of 702 Nineteenth avenue, Munhall, was cut on the right hand fighting flames in the basement of the Famous Candy Company, 522 Eighth avenue, Munhall, early today.

Isadore Glick, his wife and two children, living in an apartment on the second floor, fled as smoke filled their home. Jacob Wedner, store owner, estimated damage at $10,000.

BRICK INJURES BOY IN FIGHT

Eleven-year-old James Mitchell, of 3415 Carson street, is in St. Joseph's Hospital today, his skull probably factured by a half brick hurled during a fight with another boy last night.

At home in the custody of his parents, although technically under arrest, is Peter Stojnovich, 11, of 3407 Carson street, who threw the brick, according to Frank Dodson and Thomas Mulvihill, homicide sleuths.

Detectives say the brick was thrown after the boys had engaged in a fist fight that grew out of a trifling argument.

COAL FIRM AIRS NEW PROJECT

field, England, declared the smoke nuisance could be remedied a great deal by the prohibition of inefficient types of plants, notably in the steel industry. Equipment for the recovery of the carbon in the smoke, and the use of smokeless fuel were urged.

POLLUTION BAFFLES

Stream pollution in Western Pennsylvania is acute, its rivers are so heavy with acid that it has the beneficial effect of killing germs that might come from sewage, the conference was told yesterday.

With Dr. William L. Stevenson, of the state Board of Health, asserting that sealing the mines was one method of preventing mine acids from polluting the streams, other speakers said that only a miracle could remedy the condition.

R. D. Leitch, chemical engineer of the Pittsburgh station, U. S. Bureau of Mines, explaining that he also believed in sealing the shut-down mines, so that air could not get in, admitted that the problem in active mines was undefeatable. The cost would be prohibitive, he said, were companies compelled to remove the acid from the waters before they reached the streams.

A. B. Crichton, mining engineer of Johnstown, said a fortune awaited the chemist or engineer who could find an economically sound process to purify the rivers, or prevent their acidulation.

These opinions followed the discussion of pollution problems in Germany by Dr. Hermann Bach, of Essen, Germany, who showed by motion pictures how the Krupp works extracted phenol from its refuse and salvaged it.

COAL AS FERTILIZER

Scientists were still discussing today the suggestion of Dr. Franz Fischer, of Germany, who yesterday mentioned coal as a fertilizer, opening a new use for coal which might, if developed, consume many thousands of tons.

Dr. Fischer last night aplied his reference to this projected use, terming it the "aperitif or cocktail of fertilizer products." He said:

"It can be used as a stimulant, to be used on plants so that they more readily consume other fertilizers. It could also be used as a fertilizer in some soils, particularly sandy, where the mineral content is insufficient."

He did not believe that it could be used as food for humans, although it contained some properties that the human body requires. He added:

"These properties would have to be separated by a digestive process which would rob them of their food value."

Arno C. Fieldner, chief engineer for the United States Bureau of Mines experiment stations, told of the comprehensive experiments being made to classify the different types and qualities of coal in the United States. The experiments are being conducted in the Pittsburgh station and have been in progress two years, he said.

The use of pulverized coal for steam locomotives and the domestic uses were also discussed, primarily in connection with competition with oil and natural gas.

2 TAKE STAND TO DENY GUILT IN FRAUD CASE

Defendants Facing Charges Of Conspiring to Sell Worthless Drug Stocks

David S. Hammond, of Wilkinsburg, president of the Atlantic Drug and Chemical Company, and J. Ritchie, salesman for the company, were led from jail to the Criminal Court today where it was expected they would take the witness stand in their own defense of charges that they conspired to sell worthless stock.

A long line of witnesses went before the court today testifying to their purchases of stock and to "high-pressure" salesmanship methods. Among them were the following, with the amount each declared they invested:

Patrolman Tells Of Bribe Offer

Traffic Patrolman Edward Farhner had a chance to make $5 while on duty yesterday; he testified in Central Police Court today. Appearing against Olindo Perilla, 22, of 1380 Paulson avenue, Farhner testified the prisoner had asked permission to peddle a punch board. The commission, the officer said was to be $5. Magistrate Leo Rothenberg held the case over.

All for Me?

All for me . . . or some of it for him?

Three substantial, tasty meals a day on my table . . . and none on that of the fellow down the street, who lost his job six months ago and his savings a little later?

Two new suits to keep me comfortable and well-dressed this Winter, and thin rags for that decent but unfortunate neighbor?

A pack of cigarettes and an expensive after-dinner cigar for me . . . and no smoke at all for that chap, as honorable and industrious as I but less fortunate?

The usual comforts and luxuries in my home . . . parties, books, entertainment of friends . . . the usual trips for amusement and recreation . . . plenty of good things for me, and stark need for him?

No! not while I call myself an American!

We don't need less spending. We need more. But while just as many steaks and potatoes are bought, just as many shirts and overcoats, just as many other necessities and comforts the purchase of which will help bring back prosperity . . .

Some of them must go to his home, not all to mine!

My wife and children shan't suffer . . . but, so far as I can prevent it, neither shall his.

Everything I have beyond what mine need ought to go, and will go this year, of all years, to break my neighbor's fall, and give him the chance to start upward again.

A lot of my luxuries are going to be transformed into his necessities . . . through THE WELFARE FUND.

75 NOW FACE PRIMARY POLL CHARGES

Score or More Still Await Disposition; Action Next Month in November Cases

Having indicted 17 persons in scattered primary election cases yesterday, the grand jury today continued investigating a score or more cases. It was expected by District Attorney Andrew T. Park the work on these cases cannot be completed before tomorrow.

Fifty-eight persons had been indicted by the former grand juries, so yesterday's list brings the total to 75. All concern the primary of September 15. Cases arising out of the November election cannot be taken before the grand jury until the next term of court, so none of the latter will be considered until the December grand jury meets.

TWENTY-EIGHTH WARD CASES

Election board of the Eighth District of the Twenty-eighth Ward, including Lawrence Lyons, judge, 1609 Bellhorst street; Gene Rupert, 1600 Larlow street, and Joseph G. Carr, 515 Ferrywood avenue, inspectors; Charles Guger, 3933 Elberton street, and Charles J. Kopp, 510 Ferrywood street, clerks, charged with violating the election law by allowing Anna O. Brandon to assist the board in counting the ballots.

Anna O. Brandon, 522 Ferrywood street, indicted for violating the election law by assisting the board in counting the ballots.

Alex Jadinak, 315 Campbell street, McKees Rocks, charged with assisting the election board in the First District of the Second Ward, McKees Rocks, marking and mutilating ballots.

Catherine Rue, Ida Rue, Alex Rue and Florence Rue, each indicted separately on charges that they entered the polling place of Forward Township and intimidated voters.

McKEES ROCKS DEFENDANT

U. S. Lets $8,330,000 Building Contract

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The new home of the United States Supreme Court will be all marble and will cost the government $8,333,000.

The contract for construction of the building was awarded yesterday to the George A. Fuller Company of Washington and New York. The commission in charge, headed by Chief Justice Hughes, allowed three years for the construction, the foundations having already been completed.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Don't Get Up Nights

Make This 25c Test

You need this easy bladder physic to drive out impurities and excess acids which cause irritation that results in leg pains, backache, burning and getting up nights. BU-KETS, the bladder physic, containing buchu, juniper oil, etc., works on the bladder pleasantly and effectively as castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box (3-grain size) from your druggist. After four days, if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. You are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Locally at Dow Drug Co.

4 Beggars Fined $10 or Jail Term

Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh's ban on panhandlers netted four prisoners before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today. E. V. Grant, 38, of 200 South Fairmount avenue, who had demanded "two bits" and threatened violence when it was denied him, was fined $10 or 10 days in jail. The others were given similar fines.

Roosevelt Leaves On Trip to South

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, off for Warm Springs, Ga., said last night he doesn't expect to hold any political pow-wows while he is in the South.

The Governor conferred for nearly three hours yesterday with his predecessor, Alfred E. Smith, but neither would say what was discussed.

Coraopolis Names New Police Chief

Two appointments to the Coraopolis police force were announced last night by the Borough Council. Patrolman Joseph Sears was appointed chief of police to fill the vacancy left by Chief Samuel J. Riddle's resignation to become a county detective. Joseph Conway, constable of the First Ward, will take Sears's place on the force.

PRE-HISTORIC ART DESCRIBED

Dr. Andrey Avinoff, director of Carnegie Museum, lectured last night on "The Art of Paleolithic and Neolithic Man" in the auditorium of the Henry Clay Frick Teachers' College.

Dr. Avinoff placed the "Magdalenean Age" as perhaps 10,000 to 15,000 years ago, saying:

"One can distinguish four periods in the ways of depicting animals by paleolithic artists. In the beginning they were outlined exclusively in contours incised in the stone. Later on faint lines in engraving were indicated to accentuate the difference of shading and texture. At a still later period the figures were painted in solid monochrome, usually black or red.

"At that time some remarkable pieces of animal painting were produced which can be classed in a due sense among great periods in the history of art."

Dr. Avinoff's lecture is the first of a series of three on the culture of prehistoric man, under the auspices of the Society of Sigma Xi. The second will be given January 27, 1932 by Dr. M. J. Herskovits of Northwestern University.

'Pennsylvania Clubwoman' Much More Ambitious Than Its Antecedent, 'Messenger'

"The Pennsylvania Clubwoman," child of "The Messenger," has made its bow to the club world as the official organ of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women. The new magazine is a brave publication, much larger than its antecedent in that it conforms to the standard magazine size. It is to be published from September to May, as was "The Messenger," with Mrs. J. E. Sickler, of Scranton, as editor and business manager. "The Clubwoman" has a cover, the dignified and artistic design for which was drawn by Charles Hayes, head of the illustrating department, International Correspondence Schools.

This month's reading material is, of course, largely retrospective, although the first page is given to a roster of the newly elected officers. But the majority of its columns are occupied with reviews of what was said and done at the October convention in York.

Homestead Junior Cot Club to Give Dance

The Homestead Junior Cot Club will make its first public appearance at a dance in Moose Temple, Homestead, on Friday night, November 27. The club was organized in September as an auxiliary to the Homestead Hospital Cot Club and has the same objectives as the senior organization. The proceeds of the first affair, which, by the way, will be virtually the only public social function in the town over Thanksgiving, will go towards the Nurses' Home.

Miss Eleanor Ackerman is general chairman; Miss Dorothy Davis, co-chairman; Miss Dorothy Schumann, chairman of music; Miss Helen James, decorating, and Miss Louise Vallowe, of tickets.

Mrs. George Graham is president; Miss Mildred Pearson, vice president; Miss Jane Grim, secretary, and Miss Florence Evans, treasurer.

Countess to Address Friday Morning Club

Countess Bethlen, wife of the prime minister of Hungary, will address the Friday Morning Club at its opening meeting Friday morning of next week in Carnegie Music Hall. Her subject will be "History in the Making and Personalities Who Make It." The countess is taking the place of Gov. Gifford Pinchot who was scheduled to open the series.

CAUTION SHOULD BE USED IN SELECTING COSTUME JEWELRY

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Accessories to the fact of being well dressed are with us this season in abundant variety. Those little touches, a necklace, a bracelet, a clever clip, a bag, can all accentuate and complete our costume. But they must be harmonious, must be appropriate, otherwise their purpose is entirely defeated. Do not, however beguiling they may be, be coerced into buying tempting little trifles unless you have a definite place for them and can corelate them with your wardrobe.

* * *

THUS, IF YOU do not go in for sports clothes, please do not buy metal or wooden pieces, stuff that is meant for the sport or informal morning dress alone. And do not wear strands of pearls with your sports clothes. A single, short strand, perhaps, but that is all. And see to it that you don't touch the bizarre items, unless you are a striking type. There are pieces and sets of costume jewelry to suit all types, both of beauty and clothes. See that you choose things that set off your outfit.

* * *

HERE ARE SKETCHES of some of the very newest conceits in necklaces. First is the amusing collar by Schiaparelli for wear with sports clothes. Of a new composition, a speciality at this house, resembling heavy celluloid or gallalith, but in reality an enamelled product, the collar is rigid. At scalloped indentations across the front edge are threaded spaced balls of the composition which turn like beads on a string. The collar narrows at the side and back, where it clasps. The other necklace is by Lelong and is inspired by the African toothed necklace of the Colonial Exposition. It is made to wear with sports clothes. The "teeth" are mother-of-pearl and are attached to a flat white silk cord about one-third of an inch wide, which encircles the neck, closing in back with a silvery and mother-of-pearl clasp of crude workmanship, obviously suggesting native African jewelry.

ALEXANDRINE MADE a very attractive ensemble of glove and bag to accompany a Jenny evening frock. Both glove and bag are of thin black antelope, with an interesting trimming motif formed of an inset of black net spattered with strass and shaped like a bow-knot.

who is as busy as a beaver in her work of giving away glorious, adorable
"HONEYBUNCHES"
Read Today's Doll Lady Message:

Dear Little Girls:—

Among the many hundreds of letters I have received since I returned to Pittsburgh is one in particular that has a fine, friendly, cheerful suggestion. It is from little Dorothy Jeanne Palletto, 405 West Otterman Street, Greensburg, Pa. Dorothy says:

"I want to get one of your beautiful dolls this Christmas. I had one last year but I intend giving my old one to a little girl on the next street. Her daddy has been out of work since last April.

"My mother is going to make new clothes for her and I am sure she will appreciate the doll as much as I did last year. Thanking you, I am

"Dorothy Jeanne Palletto"

Dorothy certainly has the right Christmas spirit and her suggestion, I hope, will be adopted by a lot of other girls who were fortunate in getting one of my dollies last year and will be in a position to get a "Honeybunch" this year.

Well, things are beginning to hum around this Doll Lady's headquarters. Every mail brings in hundreds of letters from little girls who want this glorious "Honeybunch," and every mail brings in satisfactory answers from little girls who have already succeeded in doing the simple easy things I asked them to do. And, better still, some of the girls have already secured their doll. Incidentally, they are the happiest little girls I have ever seen. When they put their arms around "Honeybunch" their eyes glistened like diamonds.

This Is "Honeybunch"—Isn't She a Darling?

I've written so much about "Honeybunch" that it is really difficult to write anything new. I'll confess that she's adorable and that I'm just as much in love with her as you will be. She's as big as a live baby, she rolls her eyes and goes to sleep, has a charming voice, indestructible rubber arms and hands, organdy clothes in dainty colors, a chic lace cap, shoes and stockings to match, a pacifier and rubber pantles. You've really got to have a "Honeybunch" all to yourself to appreciate what a marvelous doll she is.

"Honeybunch" isn't at all hard for you to get. Fill in the coupon at the bottom of this letter, send it to me today and by return mail I'll send you a letter telling just what you have to do to get one all for yourself. And I'll also send you a picture of "Honeybunch" in colors.

HIGH SPEED GIRL — By May Christie

"O-oh!" The long kiss ended. She drew back violently with a shaky little laugh. "Another little notch set up in your vanity!"

"My heart, Laurel—"

FROWNS ON LOVE

"I said vanity! You men are too bored and lazy to have hearts these days. But if you had, they're so full of other men's wives and 'easy' older women that there isn't any parking place in them for us girls!"

"You precocious infant, what on earth do you mean?"

"Oh, don't be sissy, Roger. Be yourself! I'm only de-bunking love, and showing that I'm wise to you!"

"And all I want to do is kiss you!"

"That's your darn laziness again! You haven't the intelligence to do anything else. You take me for a nit-wit!"

"Indeed I do not!"

"Thanks for the compliment. I do occasionally try to use the old bean, you know. And the next time you feel the urge-to-kiss, remember that drunkards, lovers and the 'non compos mentis'—otherwise the mentally deficient—are all in the same category."

"Indeed? Who sprang that line?"

"So, you read that stuff?"

"Why not? With men like they are today, we girls must up and get some sort of an education!"

"For your protection?"

"I don't know that we really want to be protected." Laurel lit a cigaret, seated herself on the sofa and made a place for Roger beside her. Now she felt more in command of herself, and calmer. "We're all like Galsworthy's monkey, you know—avid to squeeze the last drop of juice from the fruit of life. Does that sound hackneyed?"

A NEW RENDEZVOUS

"Yes. And cynical, too."

"Oh, no. It just means that we girls today are of a very inquiring turn of mind."

"'Carpe diem, quam minimum credula postero.'"

"Which," Laurel translated unexpectedly, "means 'seize today, but don't think of tomorrow.' Well . . ."—swinging round on him challengingly—"don't you figure that's quite an excellent motto?"

"In other words," supplemented Roger, "you believe that what's sauce for the goose is just as dainty a tid-bit for the gander?"

"You get me, Steve," grinned Laurel. "We girls will try anything at least once. We're all highly experimental!"

* * *

Then Imogen telephoned around 10 p. m. from the bungalow 10 miles away, where she was visiting.

The "gang" has got a new rendezvous for that evening. Laurel was to get into her roadster and follow a certain route and specific instructions. Finally, turning to the left, a mile beyond the bridge that spanned a certain little stream, Laurel was to turn to the left again and drive on until she saw a light burning . . .

"Heavens! Is this a campfire stunt, Imogen?"

"No, but it'll be a lot of fun, and any amount of booze," burbled Imogen.

"Oh, at least 20 of us."

"Sort of a moonlight picnic?"

"Mm. Not in the open. But I'll bet we're going to get an awful kick out of it."

DRINKING PARTY

"Imogen, tell me, what is it?"

"Oh, a new kind of a night club!"

"In a road-house?"

"No. It was Freddie DeFarge's idea. He's the leader of that new painting school in Montparnasse, in Paris, you know. I confess I'd never have thought of it."

"You intrigue me, Im! It sounds like a kind of wild notion."

"You said it, Kid. Our 'opening' will be with six bottles of Scotch and six of real champagne! And how!"

"Right. I'll be there. I suppose there'll be someone to see me home in case I get blotto?"

"Sure thing. Only don't bag Roger. He's my pet property!"

* * *

Besides, in that marvelous Paris gown she had gone off in to a neighboring house for a bridge party tonight, hadn't Laurel's own mother set an example?

"Darn it all, what are you women coming to nowadays? It's downright indecent, Connie!" her husband had expostulated.

The handsome Constance—even more avid for admiration than her own young daughter, now that she was in the dangerous middle 40s—had regarded him through narrowed eyes.

BUSY PARENTS

"Don't display your ignorance, old bear. This is a direct import from Chanelle . . . and if you haven't sense enough to admire me in it, there are . . . others . . ."

"Connie, don't talk that way in front of the child!" This as Laurel entered the library where the little scene had occurred.

Laurel's mother had said, placatingly: "Now, Mickie, don't fuss." And she had gone off to her dinner-party that would be followed, till nearly dawn, by bridge.

Dad had not stayed home for dinner either. He had to run up to New York 'to meet an oil man from Texas' . . . they would have a bite of food together, he said . . . and he would spend the night at the club.

Could it be that dad was like some of the older men she'd met . . . ? But she shied away from that thought like a frightened filly.

Never, thought Laurel with honest admiration, had her mother looked so pretty!

If only . . . only . . . when Laurel was lonely or blue, her mother and she could get nearer each other! Connie was sweet and kind, invariably . . . but so absorbed in her own affairs, in social things, especially bridge and poker parties, that she had very little time to spare for her daughter . . .

To have a confidante as experienced and successful as Connie was, would be too wonderful, mused Laurel.

YEARNS FOR CONFIDANTE

But when the girl would come in from a horseback ride, or a game of tennis at the Country Club, or bursting with some excitement she had had, the house was usually devoid of both father and mother!

"That's modern marriage!" thought Laurel, a cynical quirk at her soft lips, and at the same time rather ashamed of her silly yearning for a confidante, which was quite old-fashioned. But it did seem sometimes, in their continued and increasing absorption in their own pleasures, that mother and dad didn't give two hoots for the doings of their own young daughter!

Imogen, being an orphan, expected nothing in that line, so wasn't disappointed. At 22, it was Imogen's boast that she lived life like a man, and had discarded all the old, strait-laced and stupid scruples.

"If I drink and smoke and swear and pet, that's my own and nobody else's business."

Imogen declared she was a firm believer in the single standard for both sexes.

"What? That old stuff!" Defiantly she would laugh to scorn any criticism of her conduct.

A private night club 'with lots of booze' in a lonely part of Long Island . . . and not in any roadhouse? Where could it be?

It was nearly 11 p. m., when Laurel got into her roadster in the moonlight. She followed the specified 'clues,' driving rapidly.

ITALY SEEKING BOMBING FACTS

The Italian government has asked for additional information regarding the bombing of the office of the Italian vice consul, Dr. Giovannia Giurato, at 514 South Neville street, August 12.

The request has been made to Safety Director James M. Clark in a letter from Gov. Pinchot, who is acting on the request of Secretary of State Stimson and the Italian Ambassador. The bombing has been investigated by police officials for some time, and Director Clark says he will be able to forward additional information to Gov. Pinchot at once.

Director Clark was in Europe recently, but failed to gain an audience with Premier Mussolini to discuss the incident.

SCHOOL CAUSES RAID ON HOUSE

Complaints of Franklin School authorities prompted a raid on a house at 1308 Pasteur street, a block and a half from the school, Inspector Albert Beebe testified in Morals Court today, in appearing against four persons arrested in the place yesterday afternoon.

Beebe said the place had been raided numerous times, but that the owner, known as "Italian Rose," of New York, reopened immediately with someone else in charge.

Martha Paulson was fined $50 with the alternative of 30 days in the workhouse. Betty Davis was fined $25, and two men, arrested as visitors, were discharged.

Numerous Martyrs Are Just Big Cry Babies

Believe it or not—

"Unhappy" is a grown woman, almost 30 years old—and for nine years she's been a school mar'm—

Yet mamma won't let her go out o' nights or have a boy friend "because she's too young to think of love and marriage."

And "Unhappy" stands for it!

Nor is that all. Ma also insists on glooming most of her pay check—and expects her to ready-up a 14-room house in her spare moments!

All of which, according to Ma, is "because I have done so much for you, and you must pay me back some way."

Which is no doubt a nifty racket for mama — but whose fault is it that she's getting away with it?

"Dear Sally:

GIVES MOST OF PAY

"I am just another unhappy soul seeking advice.

"I am a school teacher. I have taught for nine years and in the eyes of my mother, I have done nothing, although I often sit up till 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning working over papers. And to top it all she demands three-fourths of my salary every month, which leaves me $40 with which to pay carfare bills for clothing, books, telephone etc. And still she thinks I should have a big bank account.

"I have asked her repeatedly to be satisfied with half my salary, but she says I must pay her back somehow for all she has done for me. I know that I must pay her back for that, for she has given most of her lifetime to taking care of myself, my father and my brothers. But she tells me if I don't want to do what she says I can pack up and leave. That simply cuts me to the heart, for I know she doesn't need all my hard-earned money. I have two brothers who hand her their pay checks along with my father's. One is almost 31 and the other 22. Neither is married. My mother does not wish us to marry.

COMPANY PROHIBITED

"And all this is not all. I am not allowed to go to the movies, to parties or to any social function which is held in our town. I have but few friends because I am not allowed to have company. If callers drop in accidentally, she makes it miserable for both them and me. Company is absolutely prohibited at our house. I am not allowed to have any boy friends. My mother was married at 20, yet she says I am too young to think of marriage yet.

"She expects me to keep our house too, which has 14 rooms. Sometimes I am so tired I can hardly even eat. My brothers agree with Mother in everything, so I am alone in my desire for more liberty. What shall I do? "UNHAPPY."

What'll you do?

Take a good long look at yourself!

Almost 30 years old . . ., nine years a school mar'm . . . and you come blubbering to me with a tale like that!

You ought to be ashamed of yourself, you big cry baby!

As a matter of fact, you don't want my advice at all. You know as well as I do that your mother is a thoroughly selfish, unreasonable domineering tyrant. You know that she has never done anything for you to warrant such a sacrifice on your part. You know that she's spoiling your life—all this you know and if you don't, you should be in an institution for the simple-minded instead of in a teacher's position.

DESERVES TREATMENT

But, though you know all this, you're too spineless to fight back . . . too cowardly to walk out and establish a decent life of your own.

And you realize you're cowardly. Something in your heart is sneering at you all the time—so what do you do?

You write to me and pretend to be a martyr. You compose a pitiful tale of your wrongs, which you hope will get me all worked up. Then I'll say terrible things about mama—the things you don't dare say—and I'll give you a lot of love 'n' kisses, and tell you what a brave, sweet, patient, wonderful girl you are. And in that way you hope to drown out the secret contempt which you feel for yourself.

Well, you guessed wrong, sister. I'm all worked up, okay, but it's not at mama. She's just another racketeer who is getting by with murder because you let her. And my sole reaction to your complaint is this—

You deserve every bit of it.

If you don't stand up and protect your own life, you deserve to be kicked around until you do.

So chew on that!

Few Romantically Inclined Toward Those of Same Calling, Says Fay King

MY WIFE MUST HAVE THE LEAD IN THE PLAY!
BUT MAN ALIVE, YOU KNOW SHE CAN'T ACT!
EVEN ACTORS RARELY MARRY ONE OF EQUAL TALENT SPLENDID!
WRITER MARRIES HIS WIFE DOES NOT WRITE.
I SHOULD SAY NOT!
DOES YOUR WIFE DRAW!?
FAY-MING

By FAY KING

"His wife does not write."

When I read that concluding line in the announcement of a writer's marriage I smiled. He was running true to form.

The majority of persons are not romantically inclined toward those of the same calling.

Few authors marry authors. The wives of our most famous artists cannot draw a straight line. Pugilists fall in love with girls who cannot swim or play tennis.

The stage and screen have many inter-marriages. But they do not last long. And in most cases the difference in degree of talent and importance makes one seem almost a non-professional.

Romantically I'd run from a writer or cartoonist.

Council of War Ponders Over Mysterious Chinese Letter

"Oh! Dicky" I pleaded, as he put the rice paper letter of flaming red into his pocket with the masterful declaration that there would be no stunt for me just now, of trying to recall where I had seen some of the characters upon it. "I'm perfectly able to do it, and we ought to know anything about it we can find out."

"Granted," my husband replied with a stubborn intonation in his voice, "but you've been through enough this morning without doing any special stunts like that with the nervous strain involved. Dad wants to ask you some questions if you're able to answer them, but this other thing can wait."

"I'm fit for anything," I declared resolutely.

"All right. We'll give Katie a day off and set you to scrubbing the cellar stairs when we get back to the farm house," Lillian said affectionately. "But just now, you lie quiet, and listen to your father."

"I think I can save you quite a little talking, my darling," my father said tenderly. "Sit down everybody."

They obeyed him, and he took the seat nearest to me. I stretched out a hand to him, and he took it in his, holding it tenderly while he talked.

"Mr. Ticer has told me what happened before he went out of the house," he said, "when he put down your experiences as a dream. I'll repeat what he told me, and you can correct or amend as needed. But it will save you telling the story."

He began with my calling Mr. Ticer and telling him of the Chinese face at the window, of the Oriental's beckoning command to give him the rice paper letter, of my throwing the coffeepot, the shattering of the glass, and my rolling off the couch, and getting into the kitchen, from which vantage point I had called Mr. Ticer.

"He says," my father finished, "that you went upstairs and looked down at the grass beneath the window below, but could see no sign of the man anywhere, and that you agreed with him that it must have been all a dream."

"She probably knew it was no use to do anything else, knowing Mr. Ticer's tenacity of opinion," Lillian said, and we all smiled, for we had had experience with our neighbor's stubbornness in times past.

"I knew it was not a dream," I said quietly and then I went on to relate the details of my exciting encounter with the Chinese marauder. At one point, Dicky with white face stopped me.

"Did you see what he had in his pocket when he spoke about your being 'too plitty lady to have things happen your face'?" he queried.

"No, I didn't see anything," I said, but a fit of shivering seized me, and I saw Lillian throw Dicky a warning look.

"Go on, darling," my father said hastily, and I went on steadily to the end of my narrative. When I had finished there was an instant's silence and then Dicky rose and bowed to my father.

"Dad," he said, "I beg your most humble pardon. I've thought you were overdoing this business, but I guess you know your onions—creamed—and fried."

My father smiled gravely.

"Thank you, Richard," he said. "I knew I would appear fussy, but—I've had a great deal of experience with a certain type of Oriental mind, and its tenacity and fanaticism are things not to be lightly reckoned with. There's only one type of mind able to cope with them, and that's their own kind, the subtle, wily, Oriental mentality."

"What wouldn't I give," Lillian began, then caught herself short with an oblique look at Dicky which he did not see, but which I knew she meant me to catch. I knew very well what she had meant to say, and why she had caught herself up, and as if her words had suddenly released the catch of something tightly locked away in my mental cabinet.

"Dicky!" I said excitedly, "I believe I have it. Please let me see the letter again. I won't have to concentrate or anything. I'm sure. Just let me look at it!"

Dicky hesitated, but my father nodded, and Lillian spoke impetuously.

"For the love of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, let her have it. She'll worry a lot more if she doesn't look at it, and she may be able to make something of it."

Dicky handed me the letter, and I looked at it again, almost carelessly. For suddenly, I knew, without any doubt where I had seen those Chinese characters before.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Second Marriage

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married next month. As I am divorced, I should like to know what to wear. I would like to wear all white and a veil. Is that wrong? It will be just a small wedding, just a few friends. Could I have a small church wedding?

THANK YOU.

The wedding attire that you would like to wear I fear you mustn't, because the bride-for-a-second-time should not wear a white wedding dress or the bridal veil or orange blossoms. And if you do wear this attire, you will undoubtedly, and quite justifiably, be criticized.

Instead, wear a frock of some charming and becoming shade, and a harmonizing hat.

By all means have a church wedding, if this is permissible in your denomination.

Eating Melon

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

MRS. L.

Either is correct . . . it is just which you find more convenient. If a half of the canteloupe is served, usually we find a spoon more convenient. If a slice of mellon is served, any kind of melon, many people find the fork, or the knife and fork, more convenient. In Europe the small knife and fork, the fruit knife and fork, are always placed with a slice of melon, and many times this is the service that we find here.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Diseased Tonsils Cause of Common Winter Colds

With the coming of Spring and warm weather will come seasonal trouble. At that time most hospitals note an increase in the admission of children for removal of their tonsils and adenoids.

Dr. Copeland

This is not difficult to understand. During the winter children who have never suffered before from sore throats and colds may have had numerous attacks. Following these attacks, they have been advised that as soon as the weather permitted, their tonsils should be removed.

The custom of removing tonsils and adenoids in warm weather is a pretty good one. Then the children are less liable to colds and complications following this operation.

I am often asked as to what I think of the removal of tonsils and adenoids. This operation is a common one and a simple one. If the tonsils are actually diseased, as well as enlarged, they should be removed. To remove the adenoids at the same time is well, because the surgical work is in the same region.

In a recent study of over 4,000 cases of children, over a period of 10 years, it was shown that this operation had more advantages than disadvantages. It was found that the removal of tonsils and adenoids favorably influenced the reduction of colds in the head, sore throat, swelling of the neck glands, ear conditions, rheumatic diseases, diphtheria, scarlet fever, kidney diseases and tonsil infections.

Such diseases as chorea, measles, laryngitis, tuberculosis, and malnutrition are only slightly influenced. In many cases no benefits were obtained at all. It was definitely shown that the removal of tonsils and adenoids had no definite bearing on bronchitis, pneumonia and sinus diseases.

All enlarged and infected tonsils should be removed. However, please do not misunderstand me. Merely because your neighbor's child has been operated on for tonsils and adenoids, is no reason for your youngster being sent to the hospital. There must be definite reasons for it in any case. It must not be done in response to a fad.

Before taking any step, consult your family physician. He will carefully examine your child's throat and decide whether or not the tonsils really need to be removed.

This is the season when the child should be watched for such ailments as we are discussing. Then, if operative measures are indicated, they may be attended to in warm weather. Of course, if the case is a positive one, it is unwise to wait.

Answers to Health Queries

F. G. Q.—What do you advise for ringing in the ears?

A.—This is often due to nasal catarrh which has extended to the midle ear.

Contract Bridge

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Forced Bids

A forced bid, or following bid, is one made over a previous declaration to disclose certain elements of strength, without particular reference to the amount of sure trick strength held. An opening bid is termed a free bid because nothing has preceded to to obligate a declaration falling below standard requirements, but when another player has opened contracting one often holds sufficient strength to feel forced to declare, otherwise partner may think that subnormal strength is held.

Unless a hand can be rebid safely, to undeceive partner, the minimum requirements for a forced bid of a suit over an adverse trump declaration are: 1. One sure trick. 2. Two probable trump tricks. 3. Average support of three probable tricks for a shift by partner. 4. Probable ability to fulfill contract (assuming that partner holds average strength of three probable tricks).

Obviously, any hand worth an opening bid must also be worth a forced bid of one. A 5-trick hand suitable for an opening bid of one may properly be utilized for a forced bid of two.

Differing from Auction, where the declaring side scores whatever it wins, the declarer at Contract can score toward game only what he bids. Unless you are prepared to go to the mat and contest the thing to a finish, what is the sense in bidding against a weak declaration made at your left, reaching you undisturbed? Many a game is lost through allowing an adversary another chance to declare. It is useless to oppose an opening of 1-Heart made at your left that cannot go game at the score, but each of the hands given below calls for the bid indicated when 1-Heart has been bid at your right:

1-Spade
♠ A-J-10-7-4 ♥ 5-2 ♣ K-7 ♦ Q-10-8-5

1-Spade
♥ A-K-6-5-3-2 ♥ 10-9-7-4 ♣ 8-5 ♦ 5

2-Diamonds
♠ 7-5 ♥ A-J-4 ♣ Q-8-6 ♦ K-J-10-6-2

2-Diamonds
♠ K-Q-5 ♥ — ♣ Q-J-6-5-4 ♦ K-10-6-4-2

2-Clubs
♠ 10-8-6-5 ♥ 4 ♣ K-Q-J-7-6-4 ♦ 9-7

Suppose that in each case cited below that you hold the following hand and that neither side has any score toward the game:

♠ A-Q-9-5, ♥ 7-5-3, ♣ K-7, ♦ Q-10-8-5

If your partner's opening bid of 1-Heart is not disturbed by second hand, bid 1-Spade. Assist hearts if partner rebids them. In case partner shifts to 2-Clubs over your 1-Spade, you must bid 2-No Trumps. If partner's second bid happens to be an assist of your weak spades, bid 2-No Trumps to show how short your trump suit is.

Household Hints

When taking toast or any crisp articles of food to an invalid, first cut it into strips. This will avoid a shower of crumbs over the bed when the food is broken.

When your neighbor gives you some fish from his catch and you do not wish to use it until next day, sprinkle it liberally with salt and wrap it in a piece of muslin wrung out of vinegar. Rinse under cold water before cooking.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

EAT, DRINK...YET RIP OFF 6 OR 7 POUNDS OF FAT THIS WEEK

Recently Brought To This Country From England, It Enables The Average Fat Person To Lose 6 or More Pounds Weekly Without Starvation Or One Extra Step of Exercise

It seems that the British have found a way to rip off excess fat that's the dream of every too-fat person. That is, to rip it off without starving, without tiring exercise.

Under an extraordinarily simple and pleasant regimen discovered there, the average fat person loses as much as six to ten pounds weekly; yet suffers no pangs of hunger, no aching muscles, no weakness or depression. Returning travelers from Europe talked so much about it, that it has now been brought to this country. Anyone can follow it; so if you want to get thin, here's your chance.

Eat, Sleep, Drink And Grow Thin, Doing Only This

All the method involves is a glass of water before breakfast—to clear the intestines and tone the system—and a few minor changes in your diet.

Here is what you do: Tear this article out and save it, so you won't forget.

Before Breakfast: Drink an ordinary tumbler full of cool water to which you've added a teaspoon of effervescent salt. (Get the brand named "Andrews" at any drug store.) This to eliminate the usual curse of fat people: accumulated poisons and bloat. Also to cut the moisture weight of your body—sometimes as much as three pounds in one day.

At Meals: Cut out ONLY fat meats. Eat your usual quantity of lean meats and ADD a double-supply of green vegetables . . . spinach, cabbage, fresh peas, lettuce, etc. Then for dessert, shift from pastry and pies to FRESH FRUIT. The more you eat of these the better. They're super-nourishing vitamin foods.

Drink, too, if you like them, sauerkraut juice, tomato juice or orange juice "cocktails" before lunch and supper. Eat fresh fruit, too, before bed if you like to eat before retiring.

That's all you do. No wonder England and all of Europe is cheering this discovery. You lose weight day by day, week by week . . . usually from six or seven pounds weekly to even as much as ten pounds, and feel amazingly more alert and active while you are. Doctors of world knowledge widely endorse this way. The salt tones and clears the system. The vitamin foods take the place of those that build weight and fat, and thus fat goes like magic.

Embark on the Great Adventure of getting thin today. Ask your doctor about this if you wish to be doubly sure this is the simplest, safest way to lose embarrassing bulk. You can get Andrews Effervescent Salt at any drug store for a few cents.

STOMACH UPSET
Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.
Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.
Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

CAMELS
are never parched, never toasted
that's why they are the FRESH cigarette!

YOU can drive out the natural moisture in tobaccos by overheating them, but you cannot put that moisture back.

Neither can you restore the delicate mildness and flavor that vanished with it—the aromatic essences which alone give tobaccos their value.

Nor can you put back the freshness and fragrance which are infused with that essential moisture put into the growing leaf by Mother Nature.

That's why Camels are blended only of tobaccos that need no excessive heat treatment or violent processing—the finest Turkish and mild sun-ripened Domestic tobaccos that money can buy.

If Camels were parched or toasted—their natural moisture dried-out, their flavors factory-stale—the Camel Humidor Pack could not deliver you a genuinely fresh cigarette as it does now.

Smoke a fresh cigarette—smoke mild, cool, throat-friendly Camels—switch to them for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

Buddy Rogers Has Survived Six Social Seasons With Bank Roll as Pal

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19.

This waning year has seen Hollywood's list of eligible young men materially reduced. Lew Ayres, Richard Dix, William Powell and Wesley Ruggles were all matrimonial catches. Fortunately, there still remain enough prominent bachelors to give spice to the romance market in 1932.

Veteran of six social seasons, Buddy Rogers, who has accumulated three [illegible] reached the age of 21.

Then there is Gary Cooper. He too is a veteran, having wet-haired five seasons. Among his possessions are a huge ranch in Montana, an experimental farm in the Coachella Valley, other investments and—say, can I have a canary-yellow sport coat with green fringe and a green hat?

For all the [illegible] made at family Ramon Novarro has a high regard. And Richard Arlen, Jack Gilbert, who has [illegible] collecting that $2,000,000 from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Perhaps a question-mark should go after Jack, as Lupe Velez may or may not have an option on him.

Among the new crop there are Joel McCrea, Russell Gleason, James Dunn, William Bakewell and several others. Dunn, however, insists he will not marry until he has $1,000,000.

Oh yes, Lew Tibbett is in the running, also George O'Brien and Jack Oakie. But then, Jack has to support three managers.

SHE HAD IT COMING.

Friends of Grace Moore delight in telling about the hostess who invited the opera star to her house and then calmly inquired:

"Would you like to sing before or after dinner?"

"Well," replied Grace, "I didn't know I was supposed to sing."

"Oh, but won't you?" gushed the hostess.

Just then, Grace sighted Gen. Pershing among the other guests. She turned with a smile.

"I tell you," she said sweetly, "I'll sing a song if Gen. Pershing will fire a cannon."

WHAT'S NEW IN GOSSIP

Claudette Colbert has recovered from her illness and departed Saturday for New York. Accompanying her were Joan Crawford and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who decided at the last minute to carry out their original plan and go to New York instead of Canada.

Joan Bennett

Joan Bennett is due to return here on the twentieth. Sister Connie finishes her picture the same day. Connie the other day refused to pose for photographers at the marriage license bureau. There isn't another star in Hollywood who more bitterly resents having her private life made public. You sympathize with her, too. Dick Grace has sent me a copy of his new book, "I Am Still Alive." The chapters I've read are very exciting. . . . Virginia Cherrill is through at Fox. . . . Conrad Nagel and Joan Marsh open their vaudeville act December 4 in the Palace. . . . Arthur Sheekman telephones me he did have a fire in his house on Friday, 13, but it was the Filipino house-boy who phoned him—not his wife. Fact is, he hasn't a wife. Pardon my match-making. . . . Big Boy Williams has a string of 50 polo ponies he trains between pictures.

Girl Friend

Miss Harding Film Bride

With "Prestige" swinging into production under the direction of Tay Garnett, comes announcement of two additions to the cast of this story of Indo-China, which stars Ann Harding. Carmelita Geraghty has been signed for an important role, as has Creighton Hale. Already in the cast are Adolphe Menjou, Melvin Douglas, Guy Bates Post, Ian MacLaren and Rollo Lloyd.

Miss Harding will be seen as a young Parisian who accompanies her bridegroom to the furthest outposts of civilization in the heart of the jungle.

Mt. Lebanon Players Offer 'Icebound'

"Icebound," Pulitzer prize play by Owen Davis, will be given in Fellowship Hall, Alabama avenue, Mt. Lebanon, tonight and tomorrow night by the Dracomira Players of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church. This group is one of the most active little theater organizations in the Pittsburgh district. Appearing in "Icebound" will be Edna Richards, Howard Blaine, Harriet Jenkins, Tillman Titus, A. McB. Colledge, Jessie Stonebreaker, Buddy Bear, Winifred Johnson, Vernie Peckham, Marion Jones, James Irwin, Edward Conway. It is being directed by H. Ward Ewalt, Jr.

Two Revues And Films On Way

Max Gordon will present Clifton Webb, Fred Allen and Libby Holman in "Three's A Crowd," musical revue in the Nixon next week. Three matinees are announced, Wednesday, Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) and Saturday.

"The Wonder Bar," the European musical novelty, which brings Al Jolson back to the stage after an absence of five years, opens in the Alvin Monday night. There will be a matinee Thanksgiving Day, as well as the usual ones on Wednesday and Saturday.

NEW FILMS TODAY

Local Boy Makes Good," with the wide-mouthed Joe E. Brown, will be the attraction in the Warner Sunday midnight, instead of that theater's then current attraction, "The Ruling Voice." "Local Boy Makes Good" opens today in the Stanley. "The Ruling Voice," starring Walter Huston, opens the regular bill in the Warner Saturday.

"The Spider," based on the stage mystery drama of the same name, will open a week's run on the Fulton screen today. Edmund Lowe plays the role of Chatrand, the magician, the part filled on the stage of the Pitt during a three-weeks' engagement a few seasons ago by William Courtenay.

FONTANNE, LUNT DEBUT

Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, two outstanding legitimate stage stars who have appeared in many Theater Guild productions, make their talk screen debut in "The Guardsman," Ferenc Molnar's gay Continental comedy, coming tomorrow to the Penn.

Charles Farrell has a new leading lady in "Heartbreak," romantic film coming to the Davis tomorrow. She is Madge Evans. Hardie Albright is also in the cast.

Lew Ayres is becoming accustomed to hard knocks. Not long ago he played the role of a prize-fighter, and he will appear in the Sheridan Square tomorrow as a football player in the gridiron picture, "The Spirit of Notre Dame."

OTHER BOOKINGS

"Two Hearts in Waltz Time," German film operetta, will open a second week in the Avenue Cinema Monday.

"Lasca of the Rio Grande," with Leo Carrillo, Slim Summerville and Johnny Mack Brown, comes to the Harris Saturday for a week.

"The Mad Genius," with John Barrymore in the title role, plays the Enright next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Tangara, the South Sea dancer, and Irving Selig, comedian, head the cast of the new Columbia burlesque, "Pleasure Seekers," which will open in the Academy Sunday midnight.

Plays, Players and By-Play

-By WILLIAM J. LEWIS-

The Nixon will follow its next week of revue with a couple dramatic productions. First in order will be "Private Lives," comedy by Noel Coward, with Madge Kennedy and Otto Kruger as stars. Arch Selwyn will present it the week of November 30. Succeeding it will be the third of the Theater Guild series, a John Golden production of the Rachel Crothers comedy, "As Husbands Go." The original cast is promised, headed by Catherine Doucet, Jay Fassett.

Small Timer says there has been erected a statue to almost everyone except the man who invented the thing.

* * *

The Alvin had Mae West and "The Constant Sinner" booked for a couple of minutes. It was to have come November 30, but yesterday New York sting Manager George Young with another cancellation. Which just goes to show what a worryless biz the theater is. Bit Blossom Time, that durable operetta, seems sure for the Alvin for the week of December 7. Our ambassador to Chicago reports that "Blossom Time" is packing in the packers there.

Small Timer says that though a [illegible] may be only two feet of film in length, it smacks of waste.

"Tomorrow and Tomorrow," which is among the local thought-inciters at present, is to be the next Ruth Chatterton starring picture. The cast will include Paul Lukas (he'd be the doctor, wouldn't he?), Robert Ames (the husband, of course), Vola Vale, Walter Walker, Winter Hall, Leslie Preston, Dorothy Bay, Lillian West and Dorothy Tucker.

The Danube Is Two Rivers; Even Blind Actors; More Playbills

By GEORGE SEIBEL

"Reunion in Vienna" has got to New York at last, and the critical voices acclaim Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, while they are verbosely silent as to the merits of Robert E. Sherwood's excursion on the Danube. The best criticism of that play may perhaps be found in the Molnar play, "The Good Fairy," on view in the Alvin Theater this week. Sherwood was trying to do something in the Molnar style. It was like fixing an Elgin with a monkey wrench. Yet when you watch "The Good Fairy," it seems so easy to write a Molnar comedy. All you need is Apfelstrudel and gentle irony, a Strauss tempo and a sense of the theater.

But the very inadequacy of the vehicle makes the Lunt-Fontanne acting all the more illustrious. They would make even the old cart of Thespis look like a Pullman palace car.

George Seibel

The one outstanding success of the New York season so far is "Mourning Becomes Electra." Managers admit that they haven't the plays for 71 theaters. That, by the latest count, is how many there are in New York. It would take over half a million people to fill them every week. No wonder there aren't enough plays nor enough audiences.

STRANGEST OF COMPANIES

Of all the New York theaters perhaps the strangest is the Lighthouse Little Theater where a company of blind actresses appear. This company known as the Lighthouse players will open its annual season on December 4 with a group of three one-act plays.

The plays selected are "What Never Dies" by Percival Wilde, "The Siege" by Colin Campbell Clements and "The Calf That Laid the Golden Eggs" by Babette Hughes. During the month of April this group will play at the Booth, one of the big theaters.

There are some plays that such a group would find pathetically appropriate. Maeterlinck's little drama, "The Blind," and "The Light That Failed," based on Kipling's story which Forbes-Robertson played, come to mind.

The desire to act cannot be killed by any physical infirmities.

MORE THEATER PROGRAMS

Another bundle of interesting old theater programs has come to me from Henry W. Gunding, the humorous paragrapher of the "American Glass Review" who was on the boards before he became first a manager and then a writer.

Among the play bills in this sheaf is one of Richard Mansfield in Alexis Toystoy's "Ivan the Terrible," one of the premiere of David Belasco's "Girl of the Golden West" with Blanche Bates as star; others of Viola Allen in Clyde Fitch's "Toast of the Town" of Bertha Galland in Belasco's "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," of John Drew in Robert Marshall's "Duke of Killecrankie."

Fond memories are stirred by bills of Henry E. Dixey in "The Man on the Box," dramatized from Harold MacGrath's novel, of Otis Skinner in "The Harvester," by Jean Richepin, the finest thing Skinner ever did and of "The Admirable Crichton," played here by William Gillette in 1905—recently so unhappily revived for Walter Hampden.

There is romance in the history of these old play bills.

Elisabeth Schumann's Concert Friday

Elisabeth Schumann will give the second Art Society concert in Carnegie Music Hall tomorrow night. Her program will be devoted to the songs of Schubert, Bach, Mozart, Brahms and Richard Strauss. She will be assisted at the piano by her husband, Prof. Carl Alwin.

After 40, Constipation is Most Dangerous

CONSTIPATION may easily become chronic after forty. Continued constipation at that time of life is productive of piles—and a host of other disorders.

Watch your bowels at any age. Guard them with particular care after forty. When they need help, a doctor knows what is best.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other mild, harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as your breath is bad, your tongue is coated, whenever a headachy, bilious, gassy condition warns of constipation.

Next time, take a spoonful of this family doctor's laxative. See how good it tastes; how gently and thoroughly it acts. All druggists.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

That Steinway juggler who plays at the Park Plaza on 77th has been fingering piano keys all his career—in the dimly-lit places—where you go every night to catch up to consumption—yet he is the most religious person in town . . . Each 7 or 8 a. m., after he leaves the upholstered rathskellar, he goes to his Synagogue and prays for himself, his tribe and the sinners for whom he plays melodies . . . Quite a character . . . That Jean Harlow who dwells in Brooklyn at 767 Saratoga Street can prove that it's her real name—and she's a brunette, yet! . . . And I like Alex Gerber's paraphrase of that fruity-titled ditty . . . The smart Alex observes—"To many of the Tammany politicians Life Is Just a Bowl of Seaburys!" . . . And Geo. F. Wallace says he saw a cigar advertised in Hewlitt's yesterday (wherever that is) branded: "The Saturday Evening Post" . . . He nifties: "Is that what they are doing with the unsold copies?" . . . Well, Ted Husing always wanted a national rep and now he has it . . . He should have used "pediculous" and saved himself a bawling out and the penalty of renown . . . Ham Fisher, creator of a cartoon strip, lives next door to James Montgomery Flagg, who is good, too . . . Flagg was groaning to Ham about the Venetian blinds that cover the windows in his studios . . . "They make so much darn noise! Every time I raise them it is like Greta Garbo lifting her eyelashes!"

Well, I was one of the lads who helped wreck "East Wind," I know, but those Unions ought to alter their statutes in such trying times as these—and so should the critics—I can hear them saying . . . Schwab and Mandel, who got weary of squandering their backing on the failure, turned the show over to the cast—to run themselves and split the profits . . . That's carrying out the slogan: "I Will Share!" . . . But they overlooked the stage hands, who refused to operate the sets unless they were assured of their guarantee . . . The stage mechanics are not to blame, of course—their Union forces the ruling . . . But what is Greek to me is why the Union helps clog the unemployment congestion by throwing their own members out of work . . . I just don't catch on . . . Sure, if there were lots of new shows due, I could savvy—but the shows wilt quickly, anyway . . . The stage hands forget all the benefits that they run to which actors buy tickets and offer their talent gratis . . . Oh, I get it, I get it! . . . I see now why the stage hands can afford to loaf for months, if necessary . . . What made me overlook it? . . . They live sumptuously on the tips that the actors give them!!!! . . . In 1929 a burned-up contempoorary said my real tag was Lipshutz . . . In 1930 another reported it as Lefkowitz . . . And now this Chas. Gruntzer, Jr., reports my name is Rabinowitz . . . Heheheh.

"You shouldn't make it so difficult for yourself," your friends counsel you . . . Who said anything about the routine being difficult? . . . Since 1910 it's been a lotta fun and excitement struggling for—I-Don't-Know-What—but it has been something to do. . . . One day, a few months ago, I had three columns done in advance—something I always thought was impossible . . . So I was three days ahead—and what happened? . . . It was summer—no shows to cover—nothing to do but columns . . . So I went crazy ankling along the streets doing nothing . . . I thought, I remember, at the time—"Gee, it must be terrible to be idle—and have nothing to do with yourself—but sit in movies—or wonder from where the next meal or job is coming" . . . The very thought gave me the shudders . . . I just couldn't be idle—a fight, a controversy or anything—something to do! . . . When you've nothing on your mind—no problem to solve—no headaches or bruises around the heart region to fret about—it must be awful . . . I want it this way—it's not so good—but it's one way of existing, and it's not so bad . . . "Difficult?" . . . Huh! . . . I'd rather sit in front of a typewriter all night than sit in those delicatessens swapping hooey with the hooey-swappers . . . Golly! When I think of the time I've wasted doing that!

HUGE MINE PAY SPURS TRADE

HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania's anthracite industry is back on the million-dollar payroll basis, and business throughout the mining region is responding accordingly.

In Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Hazleton and the numerous smaller cities and boroughs scattered through the section, effects of the largest wage payment in more than two years are evident. Merchants and bankers report increased activity, and over all there extends a renewed confidence in the present and future of the industry which is basis of the regional prosperity and one of the major industries of the state.

More than 26,000 miners, many of whom had had little or no work for months, shared the $1,000,000 which the collieries released on their last paydays. To all they constituted the first full two weeks' pay they had received since 1929.

WHITE QUEEN FOR MALAYANS

JOHORE BAHRU, Malay States, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—An attractive Scottish woman with a burr in her voice today came to rule over the Malay state of Johore with her Sultan husband, whom she married last October in London.

An impressive ceremonial, replete with oriental pomp and pagentry, marked the coronation that made the former Mrs. Helen Wilson, a widow, the queen of one of the few absolute rulers in the world.

The Sultana was attired in a shell pink gown of Venitian lace cut to one of the latest European designs. She wore a corsage ablaze with diamonds and around her neck was a wide collar of flawless jewels. Her earrings almost reached her shoulders.

Attended by ladies of the Malay nobility, she afterwards accompanied her husband on a drive through the city under rows of decorative archways and between crowds of smiling, bowing natives.

Blues Singer Files Bankruptcy Plea

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Some of the money Marion Harris earned singing blues songs went up in smoke. In a voluntary petition in bankruptcy filed in the Brooklyn Federal Court, the vaudeville entertainer listed liabilities of $60 for cigarets.

AWARD IN FIRST MARSHALL CASE

Judge Thomas M. Marshall, in his first case in Common Pleas Court, yesterday received a verdict of $5,500 damages from a jury in the suit of Bessie Hertrick, 112 Clover street, against the City of Pittsburgh, the city charging liability against Dora Hartz, owner of property at 1930 Carson street.

Miss Hertrick claimed $20,000 damages for injuries suffered when she tripped over a metal flagstaff receptacle protruding above the sidewalk fronting the Carson street property March 23, 1929.

'PATRON' ROBS CAR SALESMAN

Earl Mason, of 5220 Forbes street, a used car salesman of the Dormont-Buick Sales Company, was held up and robbed by a man to whom he was demonstrating a car, last night. Mason reported the loss of $4.75.

Declaring he desired to purchase a car for his wife, the robber selected a car, and Mason consented to a demonstration. In Wenzel way, Mason's companion drew a gun and ordered the automobile salesman to hand over his money. Mason did, and the man escaped. The machine was found a short while later.

New Hope Expressed For Hiccough Victim

MANSFIELD, O., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Definite hope for the recovery of Ira A. King, hiccough victim, has been expressed by physicians at the Mansfield General Hospital for the first time since he was stricken, 11 days ago.

Although the hiccoughing continued, King showed pronounced improvement, and physicians succeeded in giving him nourishment. Previously he had been unable to retain any sort of food. Doctors believed the hiccoughs would disappear as King gains strength.

DID SHE KNOW IT WAS HER OWN HUSBAND?

His disguise was PERFECT but when he began to make love to her—could she be fooled?

At last in talkies! America's greatest stage stars of the Theatre Guild in Ferenc Molnar's gay, saucy romance that excited Broadway for more than a year. Here is a play you wouldn't have thought of missing if you had visited New York during its sensational run. Now it comes to you on the talking screen—a totally new type of entertainment—an absolutely new thrill for the motion picture public!

BLINDFOLD KISSING TEST

Can you KISS and TELL who it is?

This sensational picture has made many people wonder—would they really know! Would you? In this gay drama you will see the most delightfully naughty situations you've ever seen in pictures. And, incidentally, you'll get some clever suggestions on the possibility of a "blindfold kissing test."

Idols of the American Stage, they bring their genius to the talking screen in the prize picture of the year. A new triumph for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer!

REGINA CREWE, motion picture editor of the NEW YORK AMERICAN said, "If you don't see another picture — ever — you must see 'The Guardsman.'"

BENEFIT STARTS TRIPLE RELATIONS

IT S A SPLENDID and gratifying contribution to the cause of charity that college football in Pittsburgh has made through Clarence Overend, John Holohan and W. Don Harrison, in arranging a benefit game between Carnegie Tech and Duquesne University for Saturday, December 5, at the Stadium. All three of the local schools were eager to help in every manner possible, and as no satisfactory plan could be worked out whereby the trio of teams might take part in a playing way, it's a happy solution that finds the Skibos matched with the Dukes while Pitt contributes the Stadium, the services of its entire athletic organization and the cost of putting on the game.

Clarence Overend

The game is a natural. It marks the beginning of three-cornered competition for collegiate gridiron honors here, with Duquesne, scheduled to meet the Panthers next season, becoming a rival of Pitt and Carnegie. it gives the Dukes their first chance to show their mettle in local big ime, and it brings to local fans the opportunity that they have long awaited to see the Bluff boys tested against one of the other major home elevens.

ALL AROUND IT'S an ideal attraction that ought to bring out a huge crowd. In helping charity the fans will get more than they usually receive for their money in football and will be treated to a real feature game that would be a most popular card here at any stage of the regular season.

In this connection, it is not to be overlooked that Carnegie and Duquesne, in playing at this time for charity, are doing so at the cost to themselves of a big gate that would have been theirs on the occasion of their first football meeting if they had cared to defer it. They are voluntarily giving up what would have been one of their richest plums of the future. It's a splendid gesture in behalf of charity and they deserve a world of credit, in addition to the co-operation and patronage of every fan in the district.

NORTH DAKOTA UNIVERSITY, which meets the Dukes Saturday afternoon at Forbes Field in the locals' annual Homecoming Game, uses the Warner system with its double wing back formation, and has a passing attack that spells trouble for any opponent.

Joe Bach, Duke scout and assistant coach, reports three tossers, one of whom is also a bear of a receiver. Fred (Nip) Pelber, left end, not only gets down under long flings from Ralph Pierce, a triple-threat man, but also drops back and throws passes himself.

LLOYD (BOOTS) RICHMOND gives the Flickertails another tosser in addition to Felber and Pierce. Like Pierce, he is a halfback. Pat Purcell, giant tackle, is a pass receiver, being shifted to right end on the offensive while Billy Merback goes to the tackle position. Merback pulls out better, while Purcell has the size and speed. The Dukes have been instructed to look for many and varied forward passes, and also some tricky laterals. North Dakota is not merely a running team, though the Flickers can play that kind of game to perfection, as well.

Rocco Cutri

ROCCO CUTRI, who stands a good chance of being Pitt's quarterback against Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day, came to the local university from Erie Academy High School as a halfback, but was shifted to quarterback in his freshman year by Skip Gougler, frosh coach.

On the varsity in 1930, Cutri started out as Eddie Baker's understudy, but suffered a broken shoulder in the Western Reserve game and was out for the remainder of the season. With the experience he otherwise would have gathered last year the chances are he would have been the regular signal caller this fall, but as Rocco lacked that experience the job went to Bob Hogan, at the time a better kicker.

CUTRI'S RUN AFTER receiving Warren Heller's belated pass against the Army was a pretty bit of open field work. Rocco used his interference nicely, and after following it across the field he cut back to go over the goal line standing up.

With this player in the lineup Coach Sutherland will have four good ball carriers against Nebraska, for in his prep school days Cutri was a really fine back, and he demonstrated on Saturday that he has lost none of his early effectiveness.

INCIDENTALLY, CUTRI IS the only Californian on the Pitt team, his home now being in the Golden State at San Jose. The family moved to that place last year. Rocco, if he gets the quarterback assignment, will not begrudge his pal, Bulldog Reider, the running of the team. Like the rest of the Panthers, he has perfect confidence in the ability of the New Castle youth to handle that important work, and really welcomes the opportunity to specialize in taking out the opposing end, the quarterback's particular job at Pitt.

THERE APPEARS TO be some dispute as to the number of first downs made by the Army team during the game with Pitt here last Saturday. Several queries have been received as to how many first-and-tens actually were credited to the Cadets.

Army made three first downs—two earned and one on a penalty. The first came when Pitt was penalized five yards for defensive holding. The two others were made in succession in the fourth quarter. One resulted from nine yards on a pass, Stecker to Herb, and two yards made off tackle by Stecker. The final one was registered through a gain of 12 yards on a pass, Stecker to Carver.

THOUGH THEY PAY off in hockey on goals scored, the worth of a player to his team is not always indicated by the number of tallies credited to him. The record of Ty Arbour, new left wing of the Yellow Jackets, offers a case in point.

Ty, who performed for the Chicago Hawks of the National League for several seasons after beginning his career as a pro skater here, has neither scored nor had an assist on a goal since he returned to the scene of his early triumphs, and yet his play has stamped him as one of the most valuable men on the local International Leaguers' squad.

Ty Arbour

ARBOUR, NOW A veteran, has lost little of his speed, and in the matter of fighting spirit he matches any rookie eager to make a name for himself in the fast winter sport. He already has given enemy defenders many anxious moments, and it would not be surprising were he to break into the scoring column at the expense of the Buffalo Bisons at Duquesne Garden tonight. In the matter of skill, Arbour and three other new Jackets, Frank Ingram, Joe Matte and Louis Holmes, have contributed much to the strength of the local team, but it is their displays of fighting spirit that has been most gratifying to Coach Charley Reid. Buffalo lost only one game to Pittsburgh last season, but the Bisons will find in the Jackets' new talent a big obstacle blocking the path to a repetition of their 1930-31 feat.

The Y. M. H. A. basketball team will be after its second straight win when it meets the Grove City Merchants here tonight.

By CARL W. SHATTO

Pittsburgh's Yellow Jackets can vault into first place in the International League hockey race and can win the gratitude and warm admiration of the five other clubs in the circuit by dropping Buffalo out of the pace-setting position for the first time in some two years by downing the Bisons in their battle at Duquesne Garden at 8:30 tonight.

Buffalo, with a wealth of accomplished skaters who have been playing together for three years, set the pace throughout the greater part of the campaign as they finished first in the 1929-30 race. Last season the Bisons won their opening game and were never out of first place from the start to the finish of the title scramble.

A Pittsburgh victory tonight may drop the Bisons as low as third place, for Detroit, too, can pass the New Yorkers by taking the measure of London.

EVEN BATTLE IN PROSPECT

The Bisons are a fighting aggregation, and they don't figure to yield to the Jackets without a bitter struggle. They held Syracuse to an 0-0 deadlock two days after the locals battled the Stars to a 2-2 tie, indicating that the outcome of tonight's fray is a toss up.

According to Charley Reid, Jacket coach, who has received some "inside dope" on the invaders, the Bisons are playing the same style of hockey under Frank Nighbor this season that they did last year under the leadership of Mickey Roach. Nighbor was acclaimed the greatest defensive forward in the game during the many seasons that he performed at center for Ottawa, and he has stressed defensive tactics since taking over the reins at Buffalo. This means that the Bisons will lay back and wait for the breaks, just as they did last season.

The Jackets won only one game from Buffalo last year (although they were one goal up on the Bisons until the last minute of play in another engagement) and Coach Reid has decided that it is best to battle the New Yorkers with their own style of play. Reid plans to temper the locals' attack with caution during the first two periods tonight, and if neither team has gained an edge at that time the Jackets will flash an open, driving attack in an effort to land a victory tally in the final stanza.

LINEUP IN DOUBT

The makeup of the Bisons' starting forward trio will determine Pittsburgh's starting lineup tonight. Voss, at center, and Martin and Gross, at the wings, are regarded as the invaders' most effective front line, and Coach Reid plans to hold this trio at bay with a front line that will concentrate on back checking. Gregg, Holmes and Halliday or White, Fields and Proudlock may be sent out to "cover" the Bison aces and the fast, tricky combination of Arbour-Rodden-Ingram will be looked to for the scores when they are in action against the Buffalo spares.

The Jackets are in much better condition than they were when they opened against Syracuse a week ago, and they figure to put on the pressure more consistently than they did against the Stars.

The Bisons ever have been popular foemen here, and the heavy advance ticket sale indicates a capacity crowd tonight. The probable lineup:

Pittsburgh		Buffalo
Cox	G	Taugher
Bellett	D	Lederman
Fraser	D	Murray
Holmes	C	Voss
Greig	W	Martin
Halliday	W	Gross

Scores: Pittsburgh, Matte, Rodden, Ingram, Arbour; White, Fields, Proudlock, Buffalo, Cain, Jackson, Roth, Godin, Lauder, Gauthier.

Big Ten Favors Rose Bowl Game

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Alumni members of all Big Ten conference institutions met here yesterday and unanimously adoped a resolution in favor of permitting a representative football team from that organization playing in the annual Rose tournament game New Year's Day at Pasadena, if invited.

School Soccer Team In Final Game Today

The junior high school soccer championship of the city will be decided at Oliver High School Field this afternoon when Washington Trade School meets Langley Junior High.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE WASHINGTON NAVY YARD IS NOT A NAVY YARD—The Washington Navy Yard, situated on the right bank of the Anacostia River, ceased to be a navy yard proper in 1886, when Secretary of the Navy Whitney, by order dated August 14, converted it into a Naval Gun Factory. The order was predicated upon the increasing shallowness of the eastern branch of the Potomac, which made the "yard" more and more inaccessible to ships. At present the Washington Navy Yard is a manufactory of guns, naval armament, optical instruments, etc., and the title of its commander is "Commandant and Superintendent of the Naval Gun Factory."

HICKEY VICTOR IN A. A. FIGHT

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Thomas Jefferson Hickey has turned back another assault to topple him from the American Association baseball throne he built 30 years ago.

The veteran leader of the Class A league emerged victorious yesterday with a one-year contract stuffed in his coat pocket.

The contract was grudgingly given by his foes for one year instead of the customary three, only after it was definite that the deadlock of ballots could not be broken.

St. Paul, Minneapolis, Louisville and Columbus held out stubbornly against his re-election, while Milwaukee, Toledo, Indianapolis and Kansas City supported him.

After a two-day discussion on the financial condition of the Toledo club, now in the hands of a receiver, the club owners decided to send a committee of two—Norman Perry, of Indianapolis, and L. S. MacPhail, of Columbus—to see what can be done toward rehabilitation.

The days of major league salaries in the American Association are over. The club owners voted unanimously for a sharp downward revision in players' salaries, with the maximum $600 monthly.

Legion to Honor Dreyfuss Tonight

Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates, will be honored by receiving a certificate for meritorious service as high commissioner of American Legion baseball in Pennsylvania, at a meeting of East Liberty Post No. 5, of the Legion, in the East Liberty Y. M. C. A., at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Ben Giffen, Legion athletic chairman, will make the presentation. The late Sam Dreyfuss, son of the Pirates' owner, was a member of Post No. 5.

ENGLISH BOOTERS WIN

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—England defeated Wales by three goals to one in an international soccer match yesterday.

Gamblers Barred For Life From Maryland Races

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 19.—(INS.)—Nigger Nate Raymond, a leading character in the controversy leading up to the murder of Arnold Rothstein, the alleged masterhand of the underworld, was ruled off for life from racetracks of Maryland here yesterday by the local racing authorities.

Six others implicated with the recent "ringer" case at Havre De Grace, were given the gate with the famous Broadway gambler.

WORLD TOURNEY IN PROSPECT

BOSTON, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A move to broaden the Ryder Cup golf matches between the United States and England into a world-wide competition, similar to the Davis Cup tennis play, was made during the closing session of the Professional Golfers' Association convention yesterday. A committee was appointed to study the subject.

A committee was authorized to notify the United States Golf Association that the 1932 P. G. A. championship tournament would be advanced to dates within two weeks of the National open.

Jones to Shake Up Trojan Line for Irish

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—There was strong indication here, as the University of Southern California football team made its first stop for a workout while enroute to South Bend, Ind., that the Trojan line will be considerably shaken up when it faces Notre Dame Saturday.

CHARITY CARD ANNOUNCED

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Dates and pairings for 13 college football games arranged at the request of Owen D. Young, chairman of the national committee on mobilization of relief resources to raise funds for unemployment relief, have been announced.

The games follow:

November 26—Washington U., St. Louis, vs. St. Louis University, at St. Louis (winner to play University of Missouri).

November 28—Northwestern vs. Purdue, at Soldier Field, Chicago; Wisconsin vs. Michigan, at Ann Arbor, Mich.; Ohio State vs. Minnesota, at Minneapolis; tournament game between Illinois, Indiana, Chicago and Iowa, at Chicago; Moravian vs. Guilford, at Winston-Salem, N. C.

December 5—Tournament game between Yale, Dartmouth, Brown and Holy Cross, at Yale Bowl, New Haven, Conn.

In addition to these contests a share of the receipts at the Haverford vs. Delaware game at Haverford, Pa., November 21, and the Boston College-Holy Cross game at Cambridge, Mass., November 28, will be given the unemployment committee.

Wright to Return; Ankles Grow Strong

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Good news has come for Brooklyn baseball fans and for Max Carey, upon whose shoulders rests the task of turning the team into a winner next season. Glenn Wright reports that his weak ankles are becoming strong again, and that Brooklyn can count on him to hold down the shortstop berth.

"That," said Manager Carey yesterday, "is the best news I have had since taking over this job. Wright is the mainspring of our infield, if not the entire team."

Wright has been following a special course of treatment for his weakened ligaments, exercising on a device that resembles the top of a roof, slanting away on both sides.

Fight Results

300 EDGEWOOD CADDIES DINE

The Edgewood Country Club tonight will be host to its caddies at a gala banquet and presentation of awards for their season's work. Professional Jimmy O'Donnell and Paul E. (Toots) Erath, caddiemaster, will be in charge of the affair, for which a fine program has been arranged.

About 300 Edgewood bag-toters will gather at the festive board at 6:30 this evening. Under the Edgewood system, most of the caddies will receive bonus checks for their hard work. Other prizes also are to be awarded.

Swarthmore Sets '32 Grid Schedule

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The Swarthmore College football team will play seven games next season, opening at Philadelphia against the University of Pennsylvania, October 8. The schedule:

October 8, Penn at Philadelphia; 15, Gettysburg at Gettysburg; 22, Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster; 29, University of Delaware at Swarthmore; November 5, Johns Hopkins at Swarthmore; 12, Ursinus at Swarthmore; 19, Dickinson at Carlisle.

TOP WEIGHT FOR MATE

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 19.—(AP.)—A. C. Bostwick's Mate, Swaps mare, furthers regard as the second best of this year's 3-year-olds will have to carry top weight of 127 pounds if it starts in the $25,000 Southern Maryland handicap Saturday. Racing Secretary Joseph McLennan has rated the son of Prince Pal seven pounds better than Morton L. Schwartz's Clock Tower. It is doubtful if Clock Tower will start.

PITT DONATES STADIUM FOR CHARITY GAME

By JESS CARVER

The Welfare Fund Committee, Carnegie Tech and Duquesne University threw a "natural" when arrangements were completed for the staging of a charity contest between the varsity elevens of Tech and the Dukes in the Pitt Stadium on December 5. A "natural" always means a pay-off, and this football seven should rake in gobs of much needed dough for the unemployed and the less fortunate in our midst.

W. D. Harrison.

The announcement was made by Frank R. Phillips, chairman of the Welfare Fund Committee.

The local higher institutions of learning, desiring to do something to aid in the raising of funds, went into a huddle with the fund committee. Out of the confab, after various plans had been brought up and discarded, came the present arrangement, with the Tartans and Dukes playing the game and Pitt furnishing the Stadium and taking care of all incidental expenses. It is likely that the Western Pennsylvania Football Officials' organization will see to it that officials are furnished gratis.

GAME A NATURAL

Aside from its altruistic value, the game brings about the inauguration of three-cornered gridiron relations between the local schools. Pitt and the Dukes have a contest scheduled for next year. At least, it will be possible now to crown a real city champion.

All details in conection with the game are to be worked out by Chairman Phillips. Biddy Overend, the graduate manager at Tech; John Holohan, who holds a like position at Duquesne, and W. Don Harrison, athletic director at Pitt. Popular prices likely will prevail. Pitt, beside furnishing the Stadium, will shoulder the expense of having tickets printed.

Local football fans greeted the announcement with contagious enthusiasm. The game figures to draw a fine turnout, despite the weather. Pittsburgh has long awaited the time when the Dukes would face either Pitt or Carnegie on the gridiron, and there is no reason in the world why a crowd of at least 25,000 should not witness the contest.

Both elevens will wind up their regular campaigns next week, The Dukes have North Dakota to play here Saturday and then go South for an engagement Thanksgiving Day with Howard College at Birmingham, Ala. On the same

PITT MERMEN WIN, 45-14

The swimmers of the University of Pittsburgh defeated Kennywood Park, 45 to 14, in their dual tank meet in the Trees Gym pool last night.

The feature event, the 220-yard free style, went to Jack Hanna, Pitt varsity star. John Carik, Pitt, copped the diving and placed second in the backstroke events. The summary:

160-yard relay—Won by Pitt (Beaty, Dever, Davis, Adelberg). Time 1:17 1-5.
Fancy diving—Won by Carik, Pitt; Schmieler, Pitt, second; Horgan, Kennywood, third.
40-yard free style—Won by Davies, Pitt; Legate, Kennywood, second; Reilly, Pitt, third. Time 20 seconds.
160-yard backstroke—Won by Brodt, Kennywood; Carik, Pitt, second; Bilsner, Pitt, third. Time 2:04 2-5.
220-yard free style—Won by Hanna, Pitt; Semago, Kennywood, second; Warren, Pitt, third. Time 2:24.
200-yard breast stroke—Won by J. Schmieler, Pitt; Adelberg, Pitt, second; Arabian, Kennywood, third. Time — 2:43 4-5.
100-yard free style—Won by Dever, Pitt; Cogswell, Pitt, second; Combes, Kennywood, third. Time :57.

U. S. G. A. to Decide Ball Question Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Members of 13 sub-committees who have spent the last year delving into the nation's golfing problems with an eye to perfecting the game, will report to the executive committee of the United States Golf Association at its meeting here today.

The new ball to be offered the ruling body for its approval will be of the same diameter as the "balloon," but it will carry more weight, the same as the old, original ball.

School Football Committee Meets

The W. P. I. A. L. football committee will hold an important meeting at the Fort Pitt Hotel this afternoon. With four teams, Washington, Clairton, Midland and McKeesport, in the running for the title, steps will be taken to decide the winner of the championship.

NORTH DAKOTA TO ARRIVE HERE TOMORROW

M'Keesport High Preps for Big Game With Clairton Turkey Day

LAYDEN MEN PRIMED FOR BIG GAME

North Dakota University's undefeated North Central Conference champions are expected to arrive here tomorrow prepared to give the Duquesne University Dukes plenty of football in the annual homecoming game at Forbes Field Saturday afternoon.

Steve Sinko

Elmer Layden is busy marshaling his Duke forces against a foe which will outweigh the Red and Blue in both line and backfield and which averages 185 pounds per man as a team. But the surprising Dukes can be depended upon to go out there in their first daylight game of the season at home and play heads-up football. Powerful teams raise the fighting spirit of the Dukes.

Both teams seem bent on using the forward pass, something which may soon be just an old Pittsburgh custom, due to its present popularity, and the Flickers will have to match their famed running attack against an equally fast Duke offensive.

BURMA BIG STAR

Capt. Buster Burma, who has taken over the leadership formerly held by Red Rabbit Jarrett, is rated as one of the hardest line-crushing fullbacks in the Northwest. He is likewise a capable leader and is a member of an ominously powerful backfield quartet.

Of course the big North Dakota threat is Ralph Pierce, the running-kicking-passing left halfback. Pierce is only a sophomore, but what he lacks in experience he makes up in downright ability.

Steve Sinko will have Armand Niccolai working with him at left tackle this weekend. Coach Layden has reshifted Niccolai from right end to a tackle berth again. It will be remembered that Niccolai was converted from a right tackle to a right end following the injury of Al Krankota, regular end who was taking the place of Smoke Abele, suffering from a leg hurt at the time.

DUKES PLAN RALLY

Tonight on the Duquesne Campus there will be a great bonfire, rally and pep meeting. All of the Duke boys and girls will be out to stir up interest in the yearly homecoming game which Duke Alumni will attend in a body. The speakers will include the Very Rev. J. J. Callahan, president of the university, who will make a short talk; Head Coach Elmer Layden, John D. Holohan, graduate manager of athletics; Joe Bach, assistant coach, and several students.

MAY PLAY THIRD GAME

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Nov. 19. (AP.)—Davis and Elkins seeks a football game with the University of North Dakota for Philadelphia, November 28. North Dakota favors such a contest, although it would be necessary for it to play two games in three days.

The squad left last night to meet Duquesne at Pittsburgh, Saturday, and George Washington, at Washington, D. C., November 26.

PITT HOLDS DRILL

Pitt held its first real practice since the Army game yesterday. The boys who've been scouting Nebraska all fall, turned in voluminous reports, the trend of which indicated that the Huskers have a snappy ball club.

Nebraska has lost just one ball game this season, to Northwestern, in their first test of the season. After that encounter, which the Purple won by 19-7, Dick Hanley, the big chief in the Northwestern tense, remarked:

"I'm tickled silly we don't have to play those babies again."

Nebraska had seven sophomores in the lineup early in the season. Those chaps have gained widely in experience already, and will have gained even more after playing the tough Iowa Staters this week. With an all-America tackle in Rhea, and a forward pass defense that is as tough as any in the country, one that was tough enough to stop the deceptive heaving of Bo McMillin's Kansas Aggies, I'm of the opinion that Pitt is up against a tougher assignment in the Cornhuskers than it had against Army; an assignment second only to Notre Dame.

Champion of Section II, of the City League, the South Hills High School eleven meets Schenley High, champion of Section I, for the local scholastic football title at the Stadium Saturday afternoon. A hard-fought game is indicated by the form shown by the rivals so far this season. Jimmy Firrell is the star performer in the backfield for the Tunnelites.

W.P.I.A.L. GRID RIVALS MAY DRAW 10,000

By JULIUS LEVIN

The McKeesport High School football team, undefeated in eight successive games will have plenty of time to get into shape for its final test of the season on Thanksgiving Day when the Tubers engage George Woodman's Clairton High grid machine at Clairton. Clairton likewise boasts a perfect record for the season and the contest will play an important part in determining the championship of the W. P. I. A. L.

Bill Sullivan

While the Tubers are rated the under-dogs, the McKeesporters are confident they can stop the winning streak of their neighboring rivals. The McKeesport eleven is not slated to play this week-end, and will devote all their attention towards whipping themselves into condition for the Turkey Day engagement, which is one of the best attractions on the card.

WORTHY CLAIM

McKeesport's claim to recognition in the W. P. I. A. L. fight is a worthy one. Coach Bill Sullivan has accomplished wonders at the Tube City school, and as a result, McKeesport has one of the best teams playing scholastic football hereabouts.

McKeesport defeated Duquesne, which meets Clairton at Duquesne Saturday, 8-0; Uniontown was beaten, 13-0; Tarentum, 13-0; Norwin, 13-0; Connellsville, 26-0; West Newton, 39-0; New Castle, 7-6, and Homestead, 21-0.

Three of McKeesport's big stars this season have been Spalla, at fullback, Uher, at guard, and Milo Vidnovic, at tackle.

Clairton and McKeesport have been natural rivals for a number of years, and their battle at Clairton is expected to draw a crowd of 10,000.

NATURAL RIVALS

Homestead and Munhall renew a feud of long standing Saturday afternoon at Munhall, when the two teams clash in their eighteenth annual engagement. This is one of the longest series in local scholastic football and annually attracts a banner turnout of divided supporters.

The Stowe Township-McKees Rocks game at Stowe Township will be played Saturday instead of Friday and is another "grudge" battle. Both McKees Rocks and Stowe have had successful seasons and their battle this week-end should prove a thriller.

Basketball Schedules Announced for W. P. I. A. L. Teams

Basketball schedules for the 18 sections operating in the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League were announced today by the basketball committee. The season in all sections will open on January 5, the same date as chosen by the City League.

Scott High, of North Braddock, is the defending champion. The schedules:

SPORT VIGNETTES

Not that it makes a lot of difference, or that there is any connection, but there are 36 sections in Pitt's Stadium and only 18 in the W. P. I. A. L. . . . Big Bill Tilden, whose middle name is Tatem, learned to play tennis from his brother, Marmaduke, who died before Bill went on to the heights . . . Tilden will be here Friday night of next week for an exhibition at Motor Square Garden along with Vinnie Richards and two other partners . . . There never was a better demonstration of the fact that if you build a better mousetrap the world will beat a path to your cheese factory than the way the Jackie Fields-Jimmy Belmont bout turned 'em away at Motor Square Garden the other night . . . Lost in the hullabaloo over the Pitt-Army football game and getting little publicity in the newspapers, this was the first sell-out of the indoor fistic season here . . . Why? Because the fans know a good match the moment it is announced . . . Ballyhoo may build up a weak sister, but a natural is a natural in any language.

The Dukes get their single home break of the season next Saturday afternoon, when they switch from night football to an afternoon game with the very good North Dakota University eleven at Forbes Field, with Pitt and Tech idle, and they have put their prices within the reach of everybody's pocketbook and deserve a big hand . . . Let's give it to 'em! . . . If Fordham University can get safely past Bucknell next Saturday it will be the only New York college eleven to go through its season undefeated, although it has been held to ties by N. Y. U. and Holy Cross . . . Boston should have a winner when Boston College and Boston University meet on Saturday.

Harvard beat Yale, 13-0, last year, and enters Saturday's game with the Elis undefeated, and wouldn't it be just like the uncertain game of football to provide a stumbling block at this point? . . . Everybody's picking Southern California as the team that may stop Notre Dame, in their tilt at South Bend Saturday, which should just about clinch matters for the Irish . . . How those Notre Damers can play when they're put on the spot! . . . The best "money" team in the business . . . Wonder how the Upsala College yell goes?

Perhaps it hadn't been called to your attention, but it is a fact that Southern California has been scored upon only once since losing, 13-7, on two passes, to St. Mary's in its opening game this season. . . . The record following that defeat shows victories over Oregon State, 30-0; Washington State, 38-6; Oregon University (victor over N. Y. U.), 53-0; California, 6-0; Stanford, 19-0, and Montana, 69-0. . . . The Trojans have scored 222 points against 19 in seven games. . . . Orv Mohler, Southern California quarterback, a great triple-threat man, is expected to share the spotlight with Marchmont Schwartz in that Notre Dame game Saturday. . . . And don't forget the Trojans also have Ernie Pinckert, all-America halfback, in their lineup again, not to mention Fullback Jimmy Musick and Garrett Arbelbide, the end, two other scintillating veterans. —HARRY KECK.

PANKA TO TOUR WITH MAXIE

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

George Panka, of Homestead, who draws Tony Galento, New Jersey's pudgy heavyweight belter, as his opponent in the 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, has other business to attend to in the near future. It develops he will tour the country with Max Schmeling, the champion, serving as one of the latter's foils in a long barnstorming tour arranged from coast to coast and getting under way next month.

According to Panka, who served as a sparring partner of Schmeling when the latter was training at Conneaut Lake last summer for his bout with Young Stribling in Cleveland, he had an understanding with Maxie to the effect that he would re-enter the latter's employ as soon as the German returned to the States, if George felt so inclined at the time.

George has been training steadily for more than a month and is primed for the battle with Galento, a much-feared youngster, who stopped Leonard Dixon, stablemate of George Godfrey, in three rounds at Philadelphia last week and has won over many other foes.

The Motor Square card for Monday will include two eight-round bouts and a six-round preliminary. Sid Silas, young New York lightweight, now residing here, who was a wow in his local debut against Eddie Brannon, will box Lou Petrone, of Erie, in the semi-final, and Johnny Cooper, Cincinnati Negro welterweight, also now living here, will oppose Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the other eight-rounder. Don Fraser, local Negro featherweight, and Lou Saunders, of Beaver Falls, will meet in the opening number.

Today's Scratches Bowie.

Second race—Brother Johnson, Fayre Lass, Sunward, Star Lassie, Principio, Red Bird.
Third race Irish Maiden, Red Jam, Dawkins, Standard Bearer, Wandering Gold, Scarlet Brigade, Call Fix.
Fourth race Mad Prune, Happy Warrior, Frederick.
Sixth race Alpha Hill, Big Jack, Grass Winning Heart, Harvard Orchid.

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Johnny Dunn vs. Henry Scarpenzi and Mickey DeFalmo vs. Clem Earth, 4 rounds each, and Johnny Fuller vs. Mike Thomas, Tommy Brown vs. Jimmy Hook, and Gilbert Chapman vs. Jimmy Hook, 4 rounds each, East Liverpool, O.
Jack Duval vs. Ernie Schaaf, 10 rounds, Boston.
Curtis Jones vs. Frankie O'Brien and Odessa Pearl vs. Henry Firpo, 10 rounds each, Milwaukee.
Andy DeCell vs. Jimmy Britt, 6 rounds, Toronto, Wash.
Frankie Zuppo vs. King Levinsky and Battling Battalino vs. Bushy Graham (non-title), 10 rounds each, and Frank Battaglia vs. Johnny Burns and Paulie Walker vs. Tommy Rine, 6 rounds each, Stadium, Chicago.
Teddy Welch vs. Paul Oger, 10 rounds, Fairmont, W. Va.

GRID TEAMS CLASH

The Duquesne scholastics and Cup Jennings eleven will clash at Homestead Athletic Field tonight. One of the side attractions is to be a parachute jump by Walt Criswell before the start of the game.

MEX NET STAR DIES

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Manuel Llano Rios, Mexican tennis star, who shot himself last week, died yesterday.

Between Rounds

Eddie Hanson, of Clairton, meets Tony Vucelich, of Morgantown, in the six-round semi-final to the Tex Phillips-Marty Simmons bout at Uniontown Wednesday night of next week.

Charley (Red) Beyette and Ralph Barbara box a 10-round return bout in New York next Monday night, following their recent heavyweight thriller there. Ted Sandelina meets Juanito Guguibel, protege of Pancho Urquijo, in a 10-rounder at the St. Nicholas Arena in the big town the same night.

The Battling Battalion-Bushy Graham non-title preliminary to the Primo Carnera-King Levinsky bout in the Garden tonight will be their third meeting. Battalino having won the first one at Hartford, Conn., and Graham the second at Cincinnati, recently.

The Linwood A. C. will stage an amateur boxing show consisting of six bouts in its clubrooms, Lincoln avenue, next Tuesday evening. Jack Harlan and Tony Constantini will box the main bout of another amateur show under the auspices of Ray Ehrle in Croatian Hall, Ambridge, the same night. Amateur boxers from New Kensington, Grove City, Tompkinstown and Farrell will box at the Rod Club in Sharon next Wednesday night.

Mose Butch and Jackie Rodgers will meet in a return bout at the Clyde Bowl, New Castle, Friday night of next week. Buck Lawless and Billy Rose reopen the Bowl for Apples Meyers tomorrow night.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Firm Up — Big Sale of Mesta

STOCK MARKET FIRMS AFTER DECLINE

Some Issues Drop to New Lows in Early Session; Steel, Can, Telephone Up

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Financial markets again struggled to their feet today, as yesterday's wave of selling appeared to have subsided.

Fresh selling had to be absorbed by the securities markets during the early trading and some individual issues in both stocks and bonds were depressed to new lows for the major bear market. Nevertheless, price averages indicate that roughly half of the extreme recovery from the October 5 low is still retained.

Rails were heavy at the start with the exception of New York Central, which showed isolated strength eventually rising about 2 points, along with anta Fe and Union Pacific. The last named sold off 2 to a new low since 1903 before turning upward. Atlantic Coast Line, a lightly traded issue, dropped 7 to a price of 50, on reduction of the dividend. By early afternoon, net gains of a point or two appeared in such issues as United States Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Union Carbide and Eastman.

Railroad quarters were absorbed with rumors of possible developments from the conference of railroad executives and labor heads. Rumors in brokerage circles of a surprise voluntary reduction in wages may have prompted considerable short covering and contributed to the upturn in the carrier issues.

A bond offering of $12,000,000 for the Cincinnati Union Terminal Company, the first railroad offering in two months, aroused hopes of a restoration of a ready market for railway bonds, and for bonds generally, but, in view of the fact that this issue has the backing of seven roads, including the eastern trunk lines, it could scarcely be regarded as a test of the market for ordinary carrier obligations.

Selling such as has recently poured into the stock market has aroused fresh discussion of the stock exchange's control of short selling. So far as can be learned, the exchange officials are maintaining about as rigid a control over the shorts as ever, but the short interest appears to have been considerably increased. This, of course, should strengthen the market's technical position, but may have contributed to the recent decline. Orders for short account must still be so designated as they go to the floor, and the exchange today ordered members to include odd-lot transactions once more in their daily reports of short sales.

BRITISH MONEY POLICY HIT

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The collapse of the gold standard in England was "absolutely" unnecessary and could have been averted by increases in the Bank of England's discount rate, Dr. Benjamin M. Anderson, Jr., economist of the Chase National Bank, asserted in the bank's economic bulletin published today.

Britain's lapse from gold was "the product of a prolonged violation of gold standard rules," Dr. Anderson held, for she undertook to carry through in recent years "a cheap money policy, not justified by her gold position or by the liquidity of her general assets."

Had the bank rate been raised to 8 per cent when the Bank of England got its first credit from the Federal Reserve and the Bank of France, or to 9 per cent when the second credit was obtained from American and French money markets, "England would today be on the gold standard," Dr. Anderson said.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The curb was quiet and easy today, following recent trends and patterns. Offerings were limited and were absorbed at narrow price concessions, but apparently only professionals took much interest in the market, and trading was again very dull.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded in (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

All Mortgage Charges Not Unreasonable

By B. C. FORBES

FAIR'S FAIR. So much is written about the terrific costs incidental to obtaining a mortgage that I feel impelled to relate my own experience especially as criticisms have been given space in this column.

Mr. Forbes

I consider the charges not exorbitant. I'll give you the facts and leave you to judge.

A BANKER friend to whom I mentioned that I was thinking of taking out a mortgage suggested that I get in touch with a leading New York insurance company. I wrote on September 1 and promptly received an application blank. Within a week the filled-in form was mailed. An appraiser was sent, and on September 18 I was informed:

"Subject to the conditions, title, etc., being found satisfactory, I beg to advise you that our finance committee at its meeting yesterday authorized a loan of $17,500 for three years, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

"Upon receipt of advice from you I will be pleased to notify our general counsel of this authorization, and he will communicate with you with reference to the terms and conditions of the closing."

NEXT CAME on September 28 this communication from a Jersey title insurance company:

"We have been advised that a loan in the amount of $17,500, secured by a first mortgage upon property owned by you, has been authorized. They have referred the matter of title examination and insurance and survey to us. Our charge for this examination and, if found insurable, issuing a policy of title insurance to the New York Life Insurance Company in the sum of $17,500, will be $162. The cost of a survey will be $44.

"We enclose herewith our form of application blank which we ask that you fill out as completely as possible and return to us, together with a check for one-half of our fees as above quoted, to comply with a rule of this company."

I REPLIED, as I had in apple-pie order all papers connected with the property. I didn't want a survey made or to incur a single expense other than absolutely necessary to obtain the mortgage.

I was informed that a survey was essential.

As I did not hear anything further for a fortnight, I asked the life insurance company the reason for the delay, and received a courteous reply that the matter would be investigated at once.

A few days later I received a bill for $3.85 for incidentals connected with officially recording certain papers, an entirely warranted charge and not really part of the cost. Next came a bill for $4.00 for recording the new mortgage.

Examination of plot	$162.00
Survey of property	44.00
Drawing bond and mortgage	216.00

This works out at just under 6½ per cent for the money, surely not unreasonable under current financial conditions.

OUT OF ALL the various proposals now afoot to furnish responsible financing of home-building, it is to be hoped that something practical will be evolved, applicable on a very wide scale.

President Hoover's plan, though still somewhat vague, may be made feasible. One important insurance company has built up a rather large and quite profitable small-mortgage business, coupling it with the insuring of the borrower.

JOSEPH P. DAY, the dynamic New York real estate magnate, is now striving to bring together financial, real estate, building and supply interests for the purpose of forming an organization to finance home-building, also with the insurance feature attached.

Where the mortgagee takes out life insurance covering the sum borrowed, the transaction is invested with an additional attraction for wealthy insurance companies.

All indications are that something tangible will be achieved.

IT IS JUST as well not to have runaway stock or commodity markets at this stage. Excesses would invite reaction.

Approval Asked on Galena Oil Sale

A special meeting of stockholders of Galena Oil Corporation has been called for December 1 to approve consummation of the sale of assets in part to the Valvoline Oil Company and in part to E. W. Edwards. Stockholders also will vote upon a reduction of capital stock to $12,000 in order to make possible distribution of Valvoline Oil shares. The company plans to distribute these shares pro rata among stockholders on the basis of one common share of Valvoline for 24 69-100 shares of Galena stock.

National Transit Veteran Retires

T. L. Blair, a director of National Transit Company and subsidiaries since November 1, 1918, will retire from the company November 30 under the pension plan, after 36 years' service.

Further Cut Expected in New York Central

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

A FURTHER REDUCTION in the dividend rate of New York Central is believed to be highly probable. Directors will hold their meeting on December 9. One director is of the opinoin that a quarterly payment of 50 cents is to be expected. It is not certain, however, whether other members of the board concur in this view.

The last New York Central dividend was $1. In the two preceding quarters $1.50 was paid and prior to that the stock paid $2 quarterly.

The road has experienced the decline in traffic common to all lines and is faced with the additional problem of paying for extensive improvements to its facilities on the West Side of New York City. The system owes $50,000,000 to banks and only three-quarters of the $80,000,000 improvement program have been completed. Under ordinary conditions new financing would be undertaken, but the present time is not advantageous for such a move. The road will continue to borrow from banks until the bond market improves.

On the favorable side, New York Central will be materially helped by the eastern class rate decision, which is scheduled to be placed into effect on December 3. On the basis of the line's 1928 traffic, the new rates would add $10,000,000 a year to income. This gain would amount to $2 a share on the stock.

Rail Dividends Affected

THE DECLINE IN RAIL traffic is being sharply reflected in the returns to stockholders. Yesterday the Chicago and Northwestern omitted both its common and preferred dividends, while Southern Pacific cut its dividend from $6 to a $4 annual basis.

William Z. Ripley, Harvard professor of transportation and outstanding expert on railroad affairs, thinks that operating economies together with increased revenue to be secured under the Interstate Commerce Commission pool plan will not be sufficient to pull the railroads out of their difficulties.

In an article in the December issue of World's Work he declares that wage reductions offer the only solution of the financial troubles of the steam lines. His proposal is that a fairer distribution of wages among rail employes be given rather than a horizontal reduction.

Real Estate Reorganizations

REAL ESTATE MORTGAGE bond houses appear to be taking definite steps to correct their mistakes of the boom years. S. W. Straus & Co. has formed a protective committee to undertake the financial reorganization of defaulted properties. The proposal is along lines similar to those placed into effect to protect the holders of bonds financed by the Foreman interests in Chicago.

The steps to be taken will differ with the conditions surrounding each property. Where desirable loans can be made, cash distributions will be made to bondholders immediately. Where this is not possible, income bonds or debentures will be issued in exchange for first mortgage bonds. In addition the bondholders will receive common stock to compensate for any loss in interest or principal. The owners of the properties, holders of junior securities and owners of furniture and equipment also will share in the common issue.

The letter to bondholders states that a general destruction of values, incident to cutting off all subordinate interests, is short-sighted from the standpoint of bondholders, the equity and junior interests, and the general public. Provisions will be made, however, for the recapture of junior securities by bondholders in case interest on new securities is not paid within a reasonable time.

What happened to the slogan, "Forty-two years without loss to any investor?"

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Bond prices drifted to lower levels today as the turnover, with few exceptions, continued of moderate proportions.

Trading in United States government loans was unusually dull but prices were slightly lower.

Railroad and foreign obligations were somewhat more active than the other groups.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—Transactions in the more active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows (bid omitted in sales column) (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

DAILY SHORT STORY: THE LOVE BATH

Vernon Lechie sat in the dark theater with his wife on one side and her best friend, Sophie Brown, on the other. He was not watching the shadow drama on the screen, but was absorbed in his own troubles, and his heart was seething with anger and disappointment.

Vernon had been married two years, and his married life had reached a crisis. He and Elizabeth had been all in all to each other; but six months ago Sophie Brown, who had been Libby's roommate and mentor in college, came East. Libby invited her to stay with them, and now the women were inseparable, and Sophie had gradually usurped his position and power. To Sophie Libby took her problems, her joys and sorrows; and Vernon found himself a tolerated stranger under his own rooftree. And when he expostulated with Libby, she told him he was selfish to begrudge her her best friend.

Out of his desperation he had evolved the idea of marrying Sophie off, and had seized on Ted Judd, who came to him with a letter of introduction, as a possible victim. He had exerted all his tact and ingenuity to make Ted like Sophie—but today, when he had begun to hope that he had succeeded, he learned that Ted had returned to Charleston.

He sighed wearily, and turned his attention to the screen. Presently he noticed that the villianess was blonde and slender like Sophie. She was just another home wrecker, he thought disgustedly. Then Vernon sat up alertly, for an idea was rapidly taking shape in his mind.

With keen interest he watched the fascinated hero making love to the beautiful, sly governess. With excitement he noted the reactions of the wife when she discovered what was going on. At last, when the infuriated wife ordered the flirtatious governess from the house, he all but whooped.

VERNON MAKES PLANS

"Didn't you think the governess was lovely?" Vernon asked. "I liked her hair especially."

Brunette Libby glanced at him in surprise. "She didn't rate much with me," she answered.

Vernon lay awake half the night, planning, and next morning he fearfully but determinedly put his plan into execution.

"I declare, Sophie," he said, apparently in innocent surprise, "you look exactly like the blonde girl in Love's Mirage."

"Nonsense," Sophie laughed.

"But you do. Doesn't she, Libby?"

"They're both blondes," Libby admitted, judiciously.

"Don't you girls want to ride into town as I go?" he continued. "The air'll do you good."

"We'd have to come back by bus," Libby objected, but he was looking at Sophie with an expression of wide-eyed expectancy.

"I have some shopping to do, so let's go," Sophie urged, and Libby grudgingly consented.

That evening Vernon warmed to his task, and at the first opportunity pressed Sophie's fingers experimentally. He was surprised when she returned the pressure.

"How about playing hearts?" she suggested, brightly.

"Okeh," he answered, though he hated the game.

As they played, he experimented again with that slightly-parted-lips, and eyes-widened-in-wonder expression.

"Are you sick, Vernon?" Libby asked sharply.

He started. "U-h—oh, no; only thinking," he answered, and sighed.

"Because if you are you'd better go to bed," Libby continued.

Days passed, and Vernon began to ask himself how much of this sort of thing Libby would stand. He had seen her watching him and Sophie with a peculiar surprised expression, but so strong was Sophie's influence that she apparently could not believe her eyes.

"Wouldn't you all like to go down to Almonds Wharf to fish this afternoon?" he urged one Saturday.

"It's too cold," Libby said, quickly.

"But the moon will be beautiful coming home," Sophie countered.

Libby agreed unwillingly, and after lunch they drove down to the fishing hamlet of Almonds on the York River. The sunshine was bright and the air cool, and aside from his main purpose, Vernon expected to have a dandy time. They picked their way along the rickety old wharf and he helped the women, especially Sophie, to step out into the boat he had hired. Then cheerfully he pulled for midstream. He baited his hook and Sophie's, but let Libby struggle alone when a toad got on her line. He looked at Sophie and sighed and deliberately let a fish get away. Libby's wrath was mounting, he could feel her anger. At sundown they built a fire on the beach and cooked their supper, and still Vernon devoted himself to the blonde friend, apparently oblivious to his wife. And Sophie, usually grave and wise, lost her head; she fluttered and giggled.

LIBBY UPSETS BOAT

The moon had risen when they rowed out again on the rippling, silvery waters, and Vernon stealthily, but not too stealthily, reached for Sophie's hand. The boat lurched sickeningly, and he fell sideways. Before he could recover his balance, it keeled over and they were all three in the cold river. Libby had upset the boat!

"Libby! Are you hurt?" he cried, and pulled her to her feet in the breast-high water. She gave him a push that sent him reeling; then Sophie seized him and clung to him.

"Help me right the boat, girls," he ordered, and after a minute of struggle he clambered in and pulled Libby in beside him. Sophie was sobbing and shivering with fright and cold, and as Vernon lifted her into the boat he held her close for a second and kissed her full on the mouth.

"Oh," shrieked Libby. "How dare you, Vernon Lechie!"

Vernon shrank back, wondering if he had started something he couldn't stop.

"As for you—you—" she turned furiously on Sophie.

Vernon was shivering. "We better stop, too, hadn't we, Libby?" he suggested, diffidently. "You'll catch your death of cold."

"I was lonesome," he answered truthfully. "You didn't pay any attention to me, and"—this was inspiration—"she understands me."

Libby moved over close to him. "Step on the gas and we'll be home in an hour," she said.

Vernon pressed his foot down hard and the car shot forward. Tentatively he slipped one arm around Libby. She snuggled closer, and he stopped shivering.

NEW PRODUCT ENTERS TRADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The Commerce Department reports that a new product was brought into international trade when it was learned that fish ground into meal when mixed with other feedstuffs provides a balanced diet for live stock.

Previous to the war, ground fish was used exclusively for fertilizer, but its value as a feedstuff is now recognized around the world.

Production of fishmeal in the United States has grown steadily, reaching a value of $4,334,000 in 1930. Other large producers are Great Britain, Canada, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, India and Japan. Germany and the Netherlands produce but a small fraction of the amount consumed, and the bulk of their requirements is imported.

Small quantities of United States fishmeal are exported and in turn the Japanese product finds its way into this country, being marketed chiefly on the West coast.

In Memoriam 1-B

In sad and loving remembrance of my dear husband, Charles C. Bright, who departed this life one year ago today, November 19, 1930.

And day by day I miss him more

THE LOVE TRAP -:- Story of a Girl's Struggle For Love and Happiness -:- By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

Landers' Trickery Disclosed After He Is Found Stabbed to Death

CHAPTER XXV

Sitting with Landers at dinner, Mary marveled that she could seem to be alive to other people, when what appeared to be her living self was as dead as a mummy, ready to crumble to dust at the first touch. The shock of Steve's infidelity, after the first bewildering pain, was like an anesthetic that dulled anguish and stupefied the spirit. She saw Buck Landers before her, but he lacked reality—he was but a wavering form, like a reflection seen in a pool. His voice reached her distinctly, but her mind scarcely registered the impact of his words.

"It looks like you'll have to marry me after all," he said.

It was curious that he took it so seriously when it didn't matter at all. How could anything be important to anyone—why should anyone want to marry this relic of the girl who had been Mary Kennedy?

"Why do you want to marry me?" she asked dreamily. "I have nothing to give you. What could you do with an empty shell? There's no point to it, really. There'll be no more happiness for me—I'm hollow—if you touched me, I'd fall to ashes . . ."

He consecrated his arguments with the haste of a man who had to press an advantage that would never come again.

"I'm going to make you snap out of this idea of letting everything go to pieces over a fellow who ran out on you. Good heavens! where's your pride? Do you want him—and her—to think you're a dumb heart-broken fool? Haven't you nerve to show them you don't care? If it was my last act on earth I'd slap a cable right back at him that I was married myself. If he knew you were married to me, it would burn him up alive!"

It was possible, in her arid mind, to agree with Landers. Yes, it would hurt Steve to know he had been so lightly loved. To marry Buck Landers might be like pouring acid on Steve's vanity, on his happiness. Would a cable reach him and flay him, in the midst of his new happiness, with scorpion stings, lashing his pride? It was but right that he, too, should suffer. But revenge, however just, required a fierce heat of passion . . . and the blood in her veins was frigid . . .

ADVISED TO HIT BACK

"Is it possible to fight back against sorrow?" she wondered out of the melancholy that was crushing her.

"Absolutely!" Landers shot back at her. "If you wilt like a coward, you're sunk, but now is your chance to sock back at him with a knockout. Beat him to the punch—cable him you were married last week. I'm not going to let you flop, Mary. You're too attractive and game and beautiful. I'm the man to put you on your feet—to help you fight back. We'll do Europe together — Paris — there'll be wine, and lights, and music. Oh, I guarantee you that in a month you'll enjoy life as you never enjoyed it before!"

His patience was infinite, his strength, it seemed to her, was as Gibraltar. Through everything, his devotion had never wavered. The intensity of his voice, the pounding logic of his words, made her wonder if, after all, he had the power to show her the way to happiness.

The music of the orchestra was gentle, and dancers happy and alive, spun under the colored lights. But it was all unreal to Mary—this conversation might have been occurring in a dream . . . . She was trying to think . . . . How could anything really matter? . . . .

"You'd be cheated if you married me," she said. "There's no love left in me to give anybody."

MARY FEELS BEATEN

"Give me a chance, Mary! Give me the chance I've earned!" he demanded fiercely. "You made a mistake once before—when you picked a man who threw you down because you were poor. Are you going to let a he gold digger rule your heart! Marry me, and get all there is out of life. I've earned you, Mary—don't be obstinate now at the last. I'll worship you and protect you forever!"

His voice was a dreary echo in her heart: what he said seemed to be irrefutably true, yet it seemed of no consequence. The idea of marriage that flamed in Buck Landers was without significance in her dazed understanding—whether she did, or didn't, would not matter either way. There was nothing to lose except the surrender of her dead, valueless self. It was incomprehensible that he should want the Mary Kennedy who had dissolved from flesh into shadow.

"I've got to have you!" he implored her. "We'll find happiness together! Let's try it, Mary. Won't you trust yourself to me, dear?"

She felt dizzy, beaten. The strength to combat his words was in her nervous being . . .

Maybe you're right," she sighed like a child. "You're too good to me—I don't understand why you want me, but—oh, I don't know . . ."

"Tomorrow morning, first thing, I'll call for you, and we'll shoot down to the marriage license bureau. We'll get the whole thing over before noon. No more time for hesitating, Mary. This time it's going through—you've everything to gain and nothing to lose!"

LETS BUCK ACT

She looked at him dreamily, wondering why he thought it was important either way. Steve was in Cuba . . . was in the arms of Eileen Calvert . . . and tomorrow she would be the wife of Buck Landers—or possibly she might be quiet and dead in her small room. It might be that life would flee from her of its own accord, following the dusty trail of her vanished love.

"Whatever happens—is out of my hands now," she murmured helplessly.

"Leave everything to me," he commanded her. "Give me Steve's address in Cuba—I'm going to cable him we were married last week."

It didn't matter whether he cabled Steve at all or not. She was done with trying to think.

"I'll have my decks free and clear by morning," Landers was saying. "There won't be any hereafter with that Guido woman, either. I'll give her a check big enough tonight to make her forget all her nutty ideas. And then, Mary darling, we'll start down the home stretch together . . . weather clear, track fast!"

Grief and shock were as a drug to Mary, and her anguished mind died away in the dead blackness of slumber that was almost coma. She awoke soon after dawn, still dazed, still living, though lifeless. Mechanically she bathed and dressed—came down the stairs; her landlady was in the hall, her face the color of tallow, her eyes ghostly pools of fears.

"Before God, Miss Kennedy . . . he came to me in a dream last night. I saw him and heard his voice like as if he was in the room. It seemed like he was going to haunt me forever unless—unless I told you everything——"

LANDERS MURDERED

BUCK LANDERS, SPORT KING, STABBED TO DEATH IN WOMAN'S FLAT.

Mary stared at the newspaper, incredulous that such a tragedy could be an actual fact. How could Buck Landers be dead, when she had been with him last night—when he was coming this morning to . . .

What was he coming for? Oh, yes, he wanted to take her to the marriage license bureau. . . .

"Neighbors in the building," she was reading, "heard violent quarreling in the Guido woman's apartment about 2 o'clock in the morning. Screams . . . Police were called . . . Her body, bleeding but still alive, was stretched on the floor beside the dead form of her former lover. Police scout love pact . . . Believe jealousy motivated murder and woman's attempted suicide. Little hope held for her recovery . . . Investigation . . . Coroner . . . Inquest . . . Death of Landers—sensational shock to Broadway and sporting world . . ."

The words were swimming before Mary's eyes; if she would be able to read the article through calmly, it might not seem so terrible . . . What a preposterous mistake for the police to make! Of course Buck Landers wasn't dead! Gradually, however, her reason was forced to believe the truth, but it was not yet a fact in her deeper mind. She could close her eyes and see Landers now . . . he was as much alive as he had ever been!

LETTERS WERE STOLEN

The landlady was clutching her arm, beseeching her attention with terror-stricken impetuosity. A bulky woman in a loose housedress . . . A venal face, livid, yet somewhat like lard . . .

"God forgive him, dead in his casket!" the creature was moaning. "God forgive me, too—do you think he will live, Miss Kennedy? I meant no sin, but he came to me like Satan, with his money and tempted me. Oh, he was a smooth man, and what did only two or three letters matter? He said to me that all was fair in love and war, and there was a hundred dollars apiece for each letter."

"I don't know what you're talking about," Mary told her. "All this babble——"

"I'm telling you he come to the house while you were at work and made my acquaintance," the woman half sobbed. "Oh, he was such a dignified gentleman, and ready with his money. I'm confessing to you that he paid me to steal away them letters that come to you from Cuba. I asked him why, and he said never mind—that somebody was writing you that he didn't want you to hear from for a while. I could tell he was sweet on you himself, and I didn't think it was much harm—and now he is dead."

The woman's words gradually burned themselves into Mary's consciousness: her dazed indifference gave way to astonishment—to incredulous realization that Steve had written her, after all. But he was married now—what could his letters matter? Then, unexpectedly, a gust of excitement seized her with whirlwind wildness.

"You stole my letters! Where are they? Give them back to me or I'll shake you to pieces! Oh, how terrible!"

The woman lifted an arm across her face as though to shield herself. "Don't be to hard on me, for Heaven's sake. I've got your letters in my dresser. I'm getting them for you—give me a minute——"

Ah, but it was impossible for Mary to read those leaves out of the dead past with any calmness. She tore the envelope open and riffled the written sheets with trembling fingers, her eyes scanning the pages with lightning speed, in search of the core of the truth. Her heart almost stopped beating . . . there was no hint of unfaithfulness here at all. Each page was warm, glowing with Steve's assurance of the love that was the very fire of his whole life! She sank to the sofa and tried to steady herself, while she drank in this current that came straight from his heart.

The first letter—Eileen Calvert had arrived on the plantation and he was acutely embarrassed at the situation. It made him feel like a rotter to accept employment from this girl, and give her, in return, the chance to play around with him. It made him feel like a kept man! It was practically impossible for him to retain his self-respect and listen to the not so subtle campaign of Eileen. The girl seemed positively to be in the grip of an egotistical and erotic mania . . .

Her eyes leaped to the second and last letter, fevered to learn the ultimate truth. It was brief.

"I'm all washed up on this job down here," it read. "The woman angle got too much for me, and I had to throw up the sponge. I quit—walked out flat. I don't want to say any bad things about Eileen, but the poor girl is half crazy. It's a case of a rich girl who has had all she wanted in life, and when she is denied one thing, she goes off her nut. There's a whole lot of vanity and jealousy in her make-up that I never suspected in the past. The rest of her family is O. K. but Eileen seems to have a screw loose somewhere—and I'm the goat.

"So I've quit, and in the future, I am going to accept favors from nobody. Since I've been down here, I've been able to get a new slant on myself. I haven't accomplished a darn thing by my own efforts. Buck Landers sent me through college, and the Calvert family sort of adopted me socially. It's a dangerous thing for a fellow to have things come too easily—he gets to expect life on a silver platter—and life isn't that way. It's a hard, rough and tumbled scrap every inch of the way, and the softie hasn't a chance on earth. Cuba taught me that much at least.

"But I'm saving the best news for the last. While I was waiting for the train here in Camaguey, I met Mr. Volker, who is the director of the American Sugar Company—the big people—in the station. It happened that I'd ridden over the plantation with him one day and we got a little friendly. I told him I had quit my job, and made a straight bid to him for another. I'm crazy about the sugar business, Mary, and I told him I was going to give my life to it. I offered to take anything he had—even a laborer's job. Well, he had something a whole lot better for you and me. His company is starting some experimental planting in Southern California and they are dickering with the Mexican government for some concessions down there. And I got a job, darling—I got one whale of a job! I'm on my way back to New York with all expenses paid, and I'm going out to California to take charge of one of their new stations. It's a chance of a lifetime, and Mr. Volker says I won't have to wait long for a promotion if I deliver. The salary is big enough to support us both comfortably! Now, here's the big idea. I land in New York—and the first day, you're going to be Mrs. Steven Moore. Then, bingo! We'll have our wedding tour clear across the good old United States to our new job and to our new home down among the sugar cane. Am I happy? I am delirious! I'll be in New York when the good old steamship Fairfax docks on the eighteenth of this month. Be on the dock and get your lips ready for a million kisses!"

Why, Sunday the eighteenth was tomorrow! Steve was going to land in New York tomorrow, and they were going to California together! But how could that be, when he was married to Eileen Calvert?

Was it a dream, or had there been a cablegram from Cuba that said he had married Eileen Calvert? Mary turned, trembling, to the landlady.

"Did I, or did I not, get a cablegram from Cuba last night?"

The landlady's tallow face went to pieces. Tears were running down her waxy cheeks.

"I'll tell you about the cablegram. Mr. Landers brought it here himself. If anything come up, he said, I was to tell you I had received it from the messenger boy, and I forgot to tell you. Dearie, I hope there wasn't any bad news in it."

Nothing in God's world mattered to Mary—except that Steve still loved her . . . that he was coming back! How miraculously impervious was the steel-strong armor of true love! The almost madman cunning Landers had been no more final, in its ultimate effect, than a cloud of fog that had been melted and scattered by the pure and serene rays of an eternal sun.

There was no happiness on earth, Mary realized slowly, except love . . . and love revealed itself to her understanding as a responsibility, extending down through the years till the end.

The End.

"Give them back or I will shake you to pieces!"

Steve was going to land in New York the next day.

Seventeen of the 80 firemen called out to fight the flames were overcome by smoke, burned, or otherwise injured. Though no one was killed, these cannot be considered light casualties,

Some of the men, though painfully hurt, insisted on staying at their work,

The heroism shown was, in short, of the same high order that we are accustomed to find in American soldiers in battle.

Sauce for the Goose

City Councilmen, Too, Should Remit Part of Their Salaries in the Interest of Economy.

Mayor Kline and the heads of departments of the city government are to work for two weeks without pay as part of the plan for reducing municipal expenses.

This is as it should be. Ever since it was announced that city employes were to be furloughed for two weeks without pay in the interest of economy the public has wished to know what the Mayor and other high officials of the city intended to do. Now we have the answer,

It is the only fair way. Sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander, and it is no more of a hardship for high salaried employes to sacrifice two weeks' pay than it is for those whose wages are low,

It remains to be seen what the members of City Council will do. They are subject to no outside authority, but will have to make their own decision. The public expects them to practice a little self-denial, too,

Should They Pay Twice?

An Important Question Is to Be Tested in a Suit Against Trust Company Stockholders,

The State Banking Department has moved to test the question if the stockholders of closed trust companies are liable to an assessment equal to the value of their shares.

The question is of importance to the people of Pittsburgh, since it is possible that on the answer depends whether or not they will get back the city's unprotected deposits in the Franklin Savings and Trust Company.

The double liability of the stockholders of banks is a well established principle, but it is a moot question if the stockholders of trust companies are liable to the same extent,

The banking department has asked the stockholders of a closed trust company in Philadelphia, whose capital has already been taken over for the benefit of the depositors, to pay an additional assessment of the same amount, and threatens to sue if they refuse.

It will be well to have the question settled,

Businesslike Procedure

The Manner in Which the Coal Depression Is Being Discussed at Tech Conference Is Encouraging.

The businesslike way in which the depression in the soft coal industry is being discussed at the international conference now being held here under the auspices of the Carnegie Institute of Technology is encouraging.

There is ground for hope that something beneficial will come out of it, notwithstanding that numerous other conferences have been without result,

The present conference is different. There is an absence of the emotionalism, of the playing to the galleries that has marked previous meetings called to devise ways of rehabilitating the bituminous industry.

Some of these conferences were under Congressional auspices, some were called by labor leaders, and some held by the operators. The views presented were narrow-minded and short-sighted.

At the Carnegie Tech meeting greater breadth of vision is in evidence,

Out of Step

Council Will Help to Prevent Auto Accidents If It Adopts Uniform Traffic Code.

Pittsburgh is out of step with other cities in its traffic regulations.

Council will have an opportunity to rectify the matter by enacting the uniform traffic ordinance prepared after careful study by a committee appointed by President Hoover. The matter will come up in Council next week.

The uniform traffic ordinance has been adopted and placed in effect in a number of cities with good results.

It has the approval of the Better Traffic Committee and of various civic and trade organizations.

Out-of-town drivers figure in a larger share of Pittsburgh's auto accidents than one might suppose, and it seems a reasonable conclusion that the fact that Pittsburgh's traffic regulations differ from those of other cities is at least partly responsible.

Homes for the Homeless

The Plan to Place Men in the Same Walks of Life Together Is Commendable,

Under the auspices of eight of the city's largest welfare organizations the Central Registration Bureau for the Homeless Men of Pittsburgh established headquarters yesterday in the Conestoga Building, at the corner of Wood and Water streets,

Here homeless men are to be registered and assigned to institutions which will provide them with shelter during the winter,

The plan will take away from vagrants all excuse for erecting insanitary shanties such as have sprung up during the past year on the Banksville road, on the Allegheny River bank near the Eleventh Street Bridge and elsewhere.

The promoters of the plan will endeavor to place men from the same walks of life together. That is commendable and shows the true spirit of charity.

About Business and Political Parties

By Claude G. Bowers

It seems incredible, under existing conditions in this country, that anyone should have the temerity—we had almost said the impertinence—to raise the question as to whether prosperity and legitimate business would suffer from termination of the Hoover administration in Washington. That bogey man was raised up for the terrorizing of the ignorant when it was found necessary to lower the bloody shirt which had waved as a flag for 30 years over the army of privilege.

The depression that fell upon the American people in 1893, almost immediately after the second inauguration of Cleveland, has been used as a scarecrow for the stupid and uninformed ever since. Every honest historian knows that the panic of 1893 was hastening on during the last two years of the Harrison administration; and that Harrison and Foster, his Secretary of the Treasury, knew it, and exerted themselves to the utmost to hold it back until they could get from under when the crash inevitably would come.

But assuming, what is not true, that there were hard times under the second Cleveland administration because of that administration, there were not hard times during the first Cleveland administration. And there were not hard times during the Wilson administration. And there was a devastating panic lasting for five years, beginning in 1873 during the Republican administrations of Grant and Hayes; and there was a panic during the Republican administration of Roosevelt; and the most profound depression of all has come during the whole of the Republican administration of Herbert Hoover.

* * *

Do You Believe It Now!

You, among the 7,000,000 out of jobs today; you, among the 20,000,000 dependents who are in distress and forced in vast numbers to eat the bread of charity; you, among the hundreds of thousands who have been evicted from their homes; you, among the millions of farmers whose mortgage has been foreclosed—can you imagine the sublime impudence of a campaigner in 1932 saying:

"I warn you that it will be bad for business for the Democrats to be given power."

You no doubt have vivid and painful recollections of the things you heard in 1928. You will recall that Mr. Hoover in his acceptance speech flatly said that Republican statesmanship had put business on the basis of permanent prosperity; and that he would proceed to the "elimination of poverty."

You will recall Charles Evans Hughes standing before an audience and asking this question:

"Do you want to entrust the business of this country to the Democrats?"

You have no doubt heard how demagogues passed through a certain business section of New York City frightening small merchants away from Smith, whom they liked and had always supported, by assuring them that his election would mean business ruin.

* * *

"Prosperity at Home, Prestige Abroad

In 1928, in a speech at Elizabethtown, Tenn., Mr. Hoover bluntly said that government has an intimate relation to prosperity; but in 1930 we heard another tune. Dwight Morrow then scouted the idea that political parties can make or break prosperity, and his fellow partisans sang the selfsame song throughout the land. You heard no more of the "full dinner pail." You saw no signs in windows of the poor man's cabin: "Prosperity at Home, Prestige Abroad."

And yet there are indications that we are to witness the incredible—Republican politicians standing amidst the wreckage of a Republican administration and warning the hungry people that a Democratic administration would be "bad for business."

Business today would be in a state of utter collapse, and would have been immediately after the armistice but for a Democratic administration. When, bitterly opposed by the Republicans in Congress, the Democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson forced through the Federal Reserve bill it rendered the highest service to business—legitimate business—ever rendered from 1860 on to the present hour. That is admitted now.

When during this administration the Democratic minority in Congress fought the present destructive tariff act, which is closing upon us the markets of the world and driving American factories to foreign soil, it stood for the interest of American business. Everything that has occurred was warned against by the Democrats—and that is admitted now.

Which party served business best in 1913—that which fought the Federal Reserve or that which wrote it into the statutes?

Which party served business best in 1930—that which wrote the present tariff into the statutes or that which fought it?

* * *

"In the Interest Of Business"

The outstanding achievement of the present administration is the tariff—"in the interest of business." The result? The October number of the Port of Baltimore Bulletin, referring to the effect of the tariff war we launched, when, on the demand of the delectable Grundy and under the whip of Mr. Hoover, the present prohibitive act was forced through Congress, says:

"Local companies are now manifesting unusual interest in the establishment of branch factories in Canada, while chambers of commerce in Great Britain as well as several other countries are competing for Baltimore manufacturing plants, offering their good offices in various ways in an attempt to induce local industries to settle in their particular section."

And so the administration party has served American business by driving American factories, operated with American capital, out of the country; and this means less production in the factories here; and this means less wages paid to American workingmen here; and this means less money for the wage earners to spend with American merchants.

Is that in the interest of American business?

Is that what Mr. Hughes meant?

* * *

Democrats Have Nothing to Fear

Gov. Roosevelt, taking a proper fling at the old myth, trampled to a pulp by 7,000,000 marching men in search of the opportunity to work, that a Democratic victory next year would be "bad for business," makes a good discrimination when he differentiates between legitimate and exploiting business.

The records show that legitimate business never has suffered from Democratic administration in state or nation from the moment of Wilson's first inauguration to this hour; and the records show that all business had been bent or broken by the legislation and administration of the opposition during the last three years.

Before you can have an intelligent debate on any subject there must be a clear definition of terms. What is meant by "business?" Eliminating that which is illegitimate and merely bent on the pillage of the people, the Democrats have nothing to fear from the issue; and the opposition, under existing conditions, have nothing to gain.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

It's a Man's World

Lots of men profess to fear that the race will soon be ruled by Amazons, and that man will be relegated to the kitchen, the boudoir and the back seat.

* * *

* * *

There is one little trick of Old Dame Nature, which has given the man the whip-hand over woman—and will help him to keep it, no matter how strong and big and brave she may become. Woman cannot live without love!

And, just so long as love is a necessity to woman and a mere luxury to man, Adam can keep Eve jumping through hoops and begging for sugar.

* * *

Woman MUST have love—and man is all that she has, to love!

* * *

To man, love is one of life's incidental pleasures. To woman, it is a CAREER—and she allows nothing to interfere with it seriously. She may go in for lots of other things—business, society, law, art, medicine—but they are all just sidelines; little running accompaniments to the real motif of her life.

* * *

She may resort to work or a profession, while she is waiting for her Life's Dream to come true; or she may turn to it for consolation after the Dream has been shattered. But it will always remain an AVOCATION.

A woman may make a more brilliant success of her art or her business than she does of love. It may excite, stimulate and exhilarate her; but it can never satisfy or "justify" her as can one perfect love or one happy marriage.

* * *

From childhood, woman finds love an abiding thought. Nothing can crowd it out! It is always in the back of her consciousness, no matter what else she may be doing, from mixing a pudding or taking dictation to buying a hat.

* * *

But, to a man, love is merely a transient mood, instantly dispelled by the demand of anything more vital, from signing a big contract to making a good score at golf, eating a satisfying dinner of planning a fishing-trip.

* * *

Why then all this masculine anxiety over woman's growing "power?" Be still, sad men, and cease repining! A cigaret, a vote and a hair-cut will never beat BIOLOGY! And a strong mind will never give woman "power" over man, so long as she has a weak heart!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—What New York was beginning to believe was its most stupendous building blunder has made the first turn with surprising form. It has been slow going on a muddy track, but to round out a badly mixed metaphor, the Empire Building may flash under the wire a winner.

Like many other now successful structures, it has not escaped being known as a "folly." And it has been the target for many grisly gags in the revues. Comic songs, stressing its woe, have been sung in the vaudeville halls, and it has been pilloried in cartoons.

To the casual passerby at this writing it still presents a bleakness. Its first floor windows, save for one brilliantly lit exception, are a study in funeral black, so none may see its emptiness. Many upper floors present the dinginess of the handle factory back home.

Sympathetic shop logic paints it as having been erected in a shopping district that may soon become passe—out of the beaten path. And coupled with this, is of course, the undeniable fact that it was financed at boom prices and opened at the depth of the depression.

Yet one of the concessions has proved a backbone of strength. It is already producing a million a year revenue from sightseers who, at a dollar a head, are rushed up 102 floors to gaze upon the spreading metropolitan panorama.

Too, while other buildings in the neighborhood have been at a standstill, the Empire is gradually finding tenants. With the slightest sustained upturn in business, its promoters profess to have few worries. Many prospective tenants are merely waiting for better days.

Whatever its future, no endeavor has added such a startling Euclidean climax to the jagged skyline. Its beauty is most sharply outlined on a clear evening when a dying sun casts its glint and the Empire seems a tremble of paralleled silver shimmering between earth and sky.

* * *

New York has a new twist to the oldest profession. To the police they are known as "auto girls." Whereas they once walked streets, they now roam the curbs in motor cars for their pickups. A sidewalk flirtation results in an invitation to drive, a visit to an apartment and perhaps a soupcon of blackmail.

* * *

I ran afoul of one of the gay charioteers along Madison avenue the other dusk. Drawing up to the curb, a young blonde inquired invitingly: "Going anywhere?" With eyes cast demurely down and digging a toe in the pavement, I replied nowhere in particular, "I'll spin you through the park," she suggested. At my embarrassed confusion, she shifted gears, called out, "All right, grandpa, toddle along"—and shot away.

* * *

Gentlemen who have "that way" with strange ladies stir my sincerest admiration. I have a friend who donjuans through life with gracious gallantry. On an ocean steamer one time he asked my opinion who was the most beautiful lady in the dining room. I selected a striking brunette, a ringer for Maxine Elliott, with the haughtiness of a peacock and alone at a table. I have no notion of the modus operandi, but before the Scilly Islands were sighted, they were strolling the deck hand in hand, engaged. I might add this was seven years ago and he is still unwed. Every time I see him he is in an ecstatic gurgle over some new flame.

* * *

For no reason it suddenly struck me it might be elegant fun to introduce Giulio Gatti-Casazza to Gutzon Borglum, first stuffing the mouth full of birdshot.

* * *

There are several other idiotic frenzies that assail me. Whenever I see Peggy Hoyt I want to muss her meticulously coiffed hair. Irvin Cobb inspires a letch to plait his eyebrows. Sam Hellman to push back his ears. Al Bedell to autograph his collar, and someday, I feel certain, am going to forget myself and trip Charles M. Schwab coming haughtily down a theater aisle.

LISTEN, WORLD

-:- -:-

By Elsie Robinson

I admire Al Capone.

Don't snort. You admire him yourself. You know you do. Only I've the nerve to admit it—and you haven't.

I repeat—I admire Al Capone, though I despise the things he does.

But we've wished those things on ourselves. They are the direct consequence of what ails us.

What ails us is our own weakness . . . not knowing what we want.

We knew what we wanted once. We were not a very smart people, nor a very complicated nor cultured people. But we were a healthy people, and we wanted a certain, healthy thing. We wanted decency.

There were bad people among us, but we kept them in their place. If they got out of their place, we smacked them down.

We lived our way. They lived theirs. We had very simple minds. Black was black to us. And white was white. We didn't try mixing 'em. They were exceptions, of course. But most of us knew what we wanted. We wanted decency. And we saw to it that we got it.

But now we don't know what we want.

We still say we want decency—But we think, with reason, that it must have been Awful Dull to live the way grandpa did.

We like to be good . . . but we also like to be gay.

We pledge allegiance to our flag and to the country for which it stands . . . but anuzzer li'l drink won't do us any harm!

So we go . . . wobbling, wavering . . . living on the north side of the tracks by day, on the south side by night. Bad? We're not bad. We're just muddled. We don't know what we want.

BUT AL CAPONE KNOWS WHAT HE WANTS.

Al Capone wants money. Al Capone wants power. He knows how to get money. He knows how to get power. He gets them. He doesn't go fumbling around . . . kidding himself that he is doing one thing when he is really doing another. He doesn't spend his energy and enthusiasm on a dozen different projects. He is direct. He is sure. He wants what he wants and he fights for it. And if you get in his way, that's just your bad luck.

If we decent people fought one tenth as hard for the things we want as Al Capone fights for the things he wants, America would be Utopia. But we don't fight. We just talk. And get up mass meetings and holler. And say things are going to the dogs. And get a couple of cops kicked out. And then sit back and wait for God and the Republican Party to do the rest.

Why do the wicked flourish while the righteous get it in the neck? That's why. Because the righteous bellyake while the wicked get busy.

I admire Al Capone. They say he is Public Enemy Number One. But he isn't.

PUBLIC ENEMY NUMBER ONE IS OUR OWN WEAKNESS, OUR INDECISION AND VACILLATION, OUR HYPOCRISM.

Al Capone is a bad man, but he is a strong man. He is the most significant figure in America today. He is actually more like the old-fashioned fighting Americans than any other person on our stage. He has their directness, their stubbornness, their courage, their simple, uncomplicated viewpoint, their unsentimental downrightness, their wallop.

He aims different—that's all. But at least he has an aim.

And that's more than you can say of most of our popeyed patriots.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Have you about concluded that it does not pay to do good and kindly acts because you are never given credit for them?

Are you generous and charitable because you wish commendation?

To give to the needy, for praises on your liberality, is not satisfying.

To give, for the pleasure it is to you to help an unfortunate, is quite another thing and is a satisfaction in itself.

The most joy one can have is from doing the promptings of a kind heart.

Be thankful if you have the privilege of giving to swell funds to care for the unemployed and their families this coming winter.

Many would like to give and would do it in the right spirit, but they are too sorely stricken this year to be able to take care of their own.

CHAPTER I.

"Love," said Miss Laurel Oakes, aping extreme sophistication as she juggled with a cocktail shaker in the library of her parents' summer home far down on Long Island on an exquisite June evening, "is bunk that's never cramped my style, and never will! There's no such thing today as love! It's all hooey!"

"Is that so? Are you so young and beautiful?" mocked Roger Sartoris in his suave voice as he sprawled in a big chair near the speaker and regarded her with lazy interest. "That's what might be called a sweeping statement. And what do you substitute for love?"

"'Kick,'" responded the 19-year-old Laurel tersely, flipping some of the bright liquid into a glass, and sipping it in the manner of a connoisseur. She made a grimace. "Hell's bells! there's certainly no kick to this!" and with a dexterity born of considerable practice, she added a liberal quota of Bacardi to the main body.

"'Drink, puppy, drink!'" She handed her visitor a brimming goblet on which was painted a rampant rooster. "'A hair of the dog' . . . . that's what you need to clear away your hang-over."

He did not raise himself an inch from his recumbent position as he took the glass. Good manners . . . . the small amenities of life were considered rather "bourgeois" in this swift young crowd.

"Here's how!" He drained it at a gulp, while Laurel stood for a moment looking down on him.

"Want another?"

"Continue the bright line, my child. Occasionally an idea trickles out. I'll say you've a brain somewhere dormant in you, Laurel."

"About . . . . love?" asked she, taking no offense at Roger's 'joshing.' Politeness was declasse with 'the gang' . . . . and really to have Roger here at all (because of his reputation, and the fact that at 29 he had already had a couple of divorces, and was supposed to be her girl-friend Imogen's property) was very flattering.

IN HER TEENS

"Yep. Shoot. I want to hear where your biggest kick comes from? If love's definitely 'out,' then I suppose it must be either gin or rum?"

"Aren't you rather confusing the means with the end?" She lingered on the qualifying adverb, at the same time pulling her most sophisticated trick, tilting her chin as high as it would go, a cryptic, Mona-Lisa smile hovering provocatively about her lips, and regarding him through half-closed lashes.

"Most people do confuse the means with the end. In fact, the end fairly leaps at you before you've even had time to decide the procedure," smirked Roger.

"Conceited ass! You think as easy as that the women fall for you?"

"Sure they do! Woman's 'freedom' is God's greatest gift to man, as one of your own sex has just written."

"How you hate yourself! But don't flatter yourself that your victims are in love with you!"

"Then 'tis my fatal sex-appeal. D'you know, you've got a good dash of 'It' yourself, little sister?"

Laurel flushed under her thick layer of paint and powder. She wasn't out of her teens yet, and, though she wouldn't have confessed it for worlds, often felt, amid "the gang," like a helpless, directionless little cork, bobbing about on a metaphorical ocean!

Where was she going? What was it all about? To what end the drinking and petting and general whoopee-rising?

"Eat, drink and be merry as hell," was her friend Imogen's slogan . . . which already had led Laurel into strange byways whose least unpleasant souvenir was a sore head next morning.

But she wasn't going to be fazed by such as Roger. She tossed her head—a pretty little head with a good deal of embryo gray matter in it, however misdirected. "Love's nothing but a biological urge," she said, "and—according to the Psycho-analysts — once you've got a thing's number—I mean, dragged it up into the open—then you needn't be afraid of it."

"Ha!" Suddenly the man got up, moving with a swift, fascinating grace of a panther. He put his two hands on the girl's shoulders, slipping them crosswise down behind her, and drawing her close to him. "You mean you wouldn't be afraid—of me—Laurel?"

And in his eyes she saw the queerest smoldering light. They were dilated at the moment—and quite yellow, like an animal's.

Her impulse was to draw away at once. She felt she hated Roger now . . . yet at the same time as though she were under a sort of hypnosis.

But what did anything matter so long as you got a kick out of it? was the credo of her crowd.

"I'm going to kiss you . . . and my kisses hurt," breathed Roger, his face—quite a handsome face it was, in a dissipated manner—but an inch or two from her own. "Laurel—"

She closed her eyes. It seemed to her a film had come on his. That elemental look

M'COMBS RITES DRAW THRONG

More than 600 persons yesterday attended the funeral of Maj. E. Morgan McCombs, leader of the Swift's Mission Boys' Brigade, North Side, for 37 years. A guard of honor accompanied the body from the home, 1220 Palo Alto street, to the First Presbyterian Church of Allegheny, where military services were held. The body lay in state from noon until 2:30, with a guard of honor, while scores filed past the bier.

Nearly all of the 250 members of the brigade attended the funeral. Burial services were read by Rev. Frank J. Bryson, of the First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. George W. Shelton, of the Second Presbyterian Church. Interment was in Uniondale Cemetery.

Maj. McCombs was born in Moundsville, W. Va. The brigade was organized in 1894. The boys took many prizes locally and nationally. They received a yellow standard at St. Louis in 1904 and an award at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo in 1901. Nearly 150 members of the brigade served during the World War.

Maj. McCombs leaves his widow, Mrs. Lillian Harmon McCombs, and a brother, Joseph McCombs, of Wheeling.

Policemen Should Carry Whistles In Sing Sing Game

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Going up to Sing Sing on Sunday to see the home team play the Port Jervis cops.

But they score many a touchdown for guys who are up against a stonewall defense. In the game with the cops we hope the quarterback doesn't recognize the tackle who put him in there.

If he does, you can look for those famous football signals:

"Three plays through this stumblebum."

We have never yet found out what the third play was, because they always carry you away on the second.

BENEFIT SEAT SALE SPURRED FOR SUNDAY

All County Theaters Join In Drive as Job Fund Workers Fail in Goal

News that the city's campaign for relief funds apparently will fall short of the great needs today spurred efforts to sell every seat for the county-wide benefit motion picture shows to be staged Sunday night for the relief of the jobless.

If the efforts are approximately successful it was estimated that receipts, every cent of which is to go for the relief of the workless, might reach $40,000—enough to provide 10,000 days' work at the rate of $4 a day.

ALL THEATERS AID

Almost every theater in Allegheny County is to open, presenting its regular show—feature picture, short subjects and comedies—at regular prices, beginning at 8 p. m. Sunday. Tickets are on sale daily and the box offices will be open Sunday evening by 7:30. No seats are reserved.

Emphasis was being placed on the fact that although a successful seat sale will mean much for the unemployed, the purchase of a ticket should not interfere with contributions to the relief funds being raised now, inasmuch as every dollar is needed and since the Welfare Fund itself—with its 76 charitable, educational and character-building organizations—has no part at all in the motion picture benefit, either in management or in receipts. The Allegheny Emergency Association, conducting a joint campaign with the Welfare Fund, likewise has no part in arranging the performances.

The shows, sponsored by Pittsburgh's three newspapers, are being staged as the motion picture industry's contribution to the nation-wide campaign inspired by President Hoover and directed by the Gifford committee. All labor, film rent, etc., are donated and every cent taken in at the box offices will be turned over immediately to the single purpose of aiding Allegheny County's idle.

In McKeesport and Wilkinsburg the shows will be held Friday midnight instead of Sunday night.

PROTESTS MADE

Protests against the shows have been made to Public Safety Director James M. Clark by the Rev. Robert M. Blackwood, of the Western Pennsylvania Sabbath Association and by various organizations including the Presbyterian and the United Presbyterian Ministerial Associations and the Allegheny County Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Other organizations protesting against the shows, said Mr. Blackwood, were the ministerial associations of the Methodist Episcopal, Protestant Methodist, Lutheran, Baptist and Reformed Presbyterian denominations, the National Reform Association and the Council of Churches.

The protests took the position that no matter how worthy the cause, the movie fund-raising method is in violation of the Sunday law of 1794; that the time of the shows interferes with the time of church services; that the project is a subterfuge for charity; that permits had been refused for similar benefits for charity, including the one proposed for the Little Sisters of the Poor; that a week-day benefit would prove the theaters' sincerity; that failure to protest would be inconsistent in view of previous protests; that this benefit would set an all-time precedent for future violations.

BOY SEES MAN KILL PARENTS IN STREET

Tells of Gunman's Threat When Scorned by Mother; Slayer Takes Own Life

By DAVE JONES
Staff Correspondent.

DENNISON, O., Nov. 19.—Eye-witness to two of three killings, Russell Scheidigger, Jr., 12, early today told Coroner J. Floyd Lewis that Thomas Wheeler, 37, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, shot and killed his father, Russell Scheidigger, 37, and his mother, Blanche, 34, because his mother had spurned Wheeler's pleas to elope.

Wheeler, who took his own life a few hours later as a posse of police and citizens scoured Tuscarawas County for him, was quoted by the youth as having said:

"If I can't have you, nobody else can."

The boy's story of the love triangle which ended in the triple tragedy early today as the Scheidiggers were returning to their home in Thornwood Park from a Dennison motion picture theater, was substantiated by Charles Copeland, brother of the dead woman, who declared Wheeler was in love with his sister.

Mrs. W. M. Witting, a neighbor, told police they were near the Scheidigger home when a closed automobile drew up. Without warning two shots were fired and Mrs. Scheidigger fell, wounded fatally. One of the bullets glanced from a stone wall and inflicted a slight injury to Mrs. Witting's shoulder.

The boy ran six blocks to the Dennison Police Station.

It was revealed by Dennison police that Wheeler's father, Isaac, had shot and killed his wife and then ended his own life, in September, 1916.

SLUMP DELAYS CONSTRUCTION OF PLANTS

Low Carbonization Coke Process Ready, Scientist Tells Tech Conference

A new industry, to grow out of coal and to be built by the Mellon interests of Pittsburgh, awaits only the end of the depression, the Third International Coal Conference in Carnegie Music Hall learned today.

F. Puening, research specialist of the Koppers Company, here, in his paper, read at a sectional meeting, declared investigations into the manufacture of low carbonization coke have been completed. He added:

"It was decided to make an investigation of the basic principles of low temperature carbonization and to develop domestic and boiler fuel by low temperature carbonization and to develop, if possible, equipment which would be successful both economically and technically.

"This investigation has now been completed.

"Commercial plants embodying new principles have been designed, but due to business conditions, their construction has been postponed."

REPORT CAUSES STIR

While this process has been engrossing scientists in Europe and the Orient, and has met with failure in many places, some success in others, the paper created somewhat of a sensation.

It emphasized a point at issue—whether scientific developments will find new markets for coal and its byproducts, or whether economic agreements and political pacts such as regulating production and indirectly fixing or raising prices would aid in the salvation of the crippled industry.

Dr. Peuning explained the methods and equipment to be used, and said that such plants as are proposed should show earnings sufficient to yield a net profit of 15 per cent. He said:

"It is true that during the present depression there are many regions where the prices desired cannot be obtained, especially where cheap natural gas and petroleum products prevail. But in the case of carbonization of coal, the abundance of natural gas and petroleum has reduced the price of coal, which is a factor in favor of carbonization.

"In times of normal industrial activity and normal prices, excluding such regions, it seems evident that carbonization for power plants will be profitable in many locations, assuming, of course, that our new methods of carbonization will prove successful in permanant operation."

NEW MACHINE DESIGNED

Coke now made by high temperature carbonization is in general use. Koppers Company, a Pittsburgh concern, has been one of the leading exponents of this form of coking. Machines have been designed which have capacities up to 2,000 tons a day by the new process, Puening said, these to substitute for hundreds of small units of 50 to 60 tons each.

While Puening and others were giving their papers on scientific developments in coal and its auxiliary products, the committee of five appointed yesterday by Dr. Thomas S. Baker to receive recommendations for the economic betterment of the industry were meeting. They are receiving recommendations to bring the sleeping coal business out of its intermittent naps of 40 years. A report is expected tonight—before the conference closes.

The venture in coal by the Koppers Company overshadowed a meeting on smoke abatement, where Prof. C. H. Desch, of Shef-

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 19.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Of all the items we had in the papers including "China attacks Japanese troops," "Japanese attack Chinese troops," "Grandi and Hoover confer informally," "American exports hit by Prince of Wales' appeal to use only British goods," "U. S. Congressmen visiting Canada highly indorse sales tax and other Canadian customs," but the one lone item that appealed to everybody was that Will Rogers fellow with the hiccoughs. Everybody is more interested in him than the League of Nations, disarmament and the investigation of Jimmy Walker.

SHANNON TEAM MEETS CELTIC BOOTERS

Three Attractive Contests Carded for Followers Of Central League.

By TOM BIRKS

With a compact league schedule, a few National Cup ties and West Penn Cup games listed, East End soccer fans are watching one of the best seasons soccer has experienced during the past few years.

Saturday afternoon the scheduling of another national cup tie, featuring Castle Shannon Morrow at Leslie Park opposing the Pittsburgh Celtics will appeal to the fans.

The Central loop flashes three games. National Tube will meet the champions at the Westinghouse High School Stadium and despite the fact that Tube scored a big win over Westinghouse last Saturday, there is little question regarding the ability of Clan Douglas to annex more points.

Jack Campbell will have the Union Switch and Signal team back on the Swissvale lot meeting Westinghouse and this should be easy for Angus McNair and his mates.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson, of Rodef Shalom Temple, addressed the Parent-Teacher Association of Wightman Public School Tuesday night. The subject was "Moral and Religious Education of the Home."

Mrs. Bert Handloser presided. A musical program included solos by Catherine Himelblau, accompanied by Alice P. Tower, and selections by the Taylor Allderdice School String Quartet. Mrs. Harold Solomon was in charge of the program.

WESTINGHOUSE TEAM STARS

With the McKeesport Olympics passing out of the picture in the West Penn Gridiron Conference, East End fans naturally will turn their attention to the playing of the East End clubs in the Lightweight Conference.

The Carroll-coached club has made an impressive showing since the opening game of the season. With many former Westinghouse High School stars in the lineup the Homewood team is clicking on all cylinders.

Showboat Ware, former high school star, is leading the attack for Westinghouse, and one of the hardest battles of the schedule will be waged at the Homewood playgrounds on Saturday afternoon when the Highland Grove gridders clash with the league leader.

In the third division of the Conference Broadway Mounts meet the J. J. Veronas. The Twenty-third Ward Republicans cross the Bloomfield Bridge to battle the Soho Oakleafs at Moultrie Park, and the Kreiger-Mars outfit clashes with Braddock Park at Braddock.

SOCCER GAME IN HOMESTEAD TO AID NEEDY

Munhall A. C. and Ice Team Clash in Welfare Fund Benefit Tomorrow Night

Homestead district sport fans will be appealed to tomorrow night through a benefit soccer game at the Homestead Athletic Field as part of the local committee's plan to raise its share for the Allegheny County Welfare Fund.

The benefit game brings two Homestead district teams that are tied for first place as the feature. The teams will be the Munhall A. C. and Homestead Ice.

The local school board, upon request of James E. Lose, fund drive committee chairman, will donate the field and lights for the night game. Players on both teams are donating their services. Dave Holdsworth, director of the local loop, has offered his services as referee.

Joe Crawley will lead the Ice team, and Briggs Brown will be in the same position for Munhall. Both players are well known in Pittsburgh soccer fields.

Swisvale Women Voters to Meet

Adult education will be discussed before the Swissvale League of Women Voters meeting tomorrow in the Wilkins School, Regent Square. Miss Juliette Campbell, librarian of Carnegie Library of Swissvale, will be the principal speaker. The talk will point out advantages of self-education and improvement. Mrs. W. F. CO-EDS AT PITT MARK HEALTH 'PLAY DAY'

Program Includes Hockey, Volleyball, Tap Dancing As Part of Week's Drive

Play and W. A. A. Day was being observed today at the University of Pittsburgh as part of health week under auspices of the Women's Athletic Association.

Special activities marked each day since Monday. The week closes tomorrow with "Good Health Day," when each student will mark a special card designating simple health habits she has followed.

The play-day program included invitations to all co-eds to learn hockey, volleyball, bounce or handball, squash, ping-pong, tap dancing or tumbling.

Posture parades were being conducted during the week during regular gymnasium periods. Monday was designated as poster day, Tuesday as clean-up day and yesterday as apple day.

Movies to Show Actual Growth Of Flowers

Motion pictures showing actual growth processes of spring flowers through a time lapse procedure will feature a lecture on flowers and birds tonight in the Carnegie Institute lecture hall before the Academy of Science and Art.

Prof. Norman McClintock, of the University of Pittsburgh, will be the speaker, sponsored by Walter B. Scaife. A variety of birds will be included in this subject, many of which are announced as never before being shown on the screen.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, From a Photograph Taken Several Years Ago, Before She Became a Widow

Raymond T. Baker and His Present Wife, Neighbors of Mrs. Harriman

WHEN Mrs. J. Borden Harriman returned from a trip to Bermuda, last Spring, she found a heap of 5,000 tons of stones, dirty looking clay and worthless yellow gravel in front of her magnificent home.

The wealthy widow, a leader in Washington society, learned it was excavated dirt from the adjoining estate of her old friend and new neighbor, Raymond T. Baker, who had started building a $350,000 home for his latest bride.

The story of the action taken by Mrs. Harriman, to make somebody remove the horrid pile, is an interesting account of a squabble in high society that has ended an old friendship. Be sure to read it—next Sunday—in The American Weekly.

The SUN-TELEGRAPH
DOLL LADY
today tells about her visit to the
"HONEYBUNCH" DOLL HOUSE

Read Her Interesting Message:—

Dear Little Girls:—

What a wonderful day I had last Sunday. I stole away for the day and went over to the big doll house and had a real talk with hundreds of "Honeybunches." It seems foolish to say that I really talked to them, doesn't it? But I do talk to them and so will you when you get your big "Honeybunch" doll. She is so much like a realy live baby that you just can't help talking to her. And she seems to understand just what you're saying. One "Honeybunch" in particular on Sunday seemed to say to me, "I hope you are going to find a real nice home for me. Please put me in some home where they need sunshine—where the little girl needs happiness. I'll do everything I can to make her happy. I'll smile all the time."

Then as I went over the dolls I noted, with unusual satisfaction, their dainty clothes—some in pink organdy, others in blue and many in pure white and all lace trimmed. I straightened out the darling lace caps and retied some of the ribbon bows on a lot of them, and I pulled up their stockings and fixed their rubber panties so that they didn't show—too much.

This Is "Honeybunch"—Isn't She a Darling?

Yes, I had a wonderful day and I was sorry that I didn't have a crowd of Pittsburgh little girls with me, they would have enjoyed it too.

Now I am back on the job and nearly up to my ears in letters from little girls. In yesterday's and today's mail I found scores of responses where little girls had already done what I asked them to do and before the end of the week they will have their "Honeybunch" dolly.

I am safe in saying that the eyes of these little girls will open in amazement and wonder when they see the gorgeous doll I am giving away this year.

"Honeybunch" is unbreakable, she's about as tall as this newspaper is long, she has rubber arms and hands, eyes that twinkle and roll from side to side. She can go to sleep, has beautiful organdy clothes, a lace cap with ribbon bows and shoes and stockings to match. You can make her walk like a real live baby, she has a charming voice, sucks her pacifier, bends her arms and legs—in fact, "Honeybunch" does lots of really cute things. Oh, by the way, I almost forgot to tell you that she's almost a twin of "Tickletoes"—she's "Tickletoes'" first cousin. And she going to be very easy to get.

If you really want a "Honeybunch" all for yourself before Christmas, and will promise to do the simple things I'll ask you to do, send me the coupon in this announcement, with your name and address, and I'll tell you how you can get this big wonder doll before the holidays.
